G. O. P. Senator From Iowa Opens Campaign for Re-election With Bitter Attack on President—Declares
Coolidge Member of Wall Street Bloc

EMMETTSBURG, Ia., Oct. 3. (By the Associated Press.)—Senator Smith W. Brookhart, storm center in Iowa politics since his election two years ago and who early this week denounced Charles G. Dawes, republican vice presidential candidate, formally opened his campaign for re-election here today with an address in which he attacked President Coolidge and "machine party leaders." Replying to reports that he would support the presidential candidacy of Robert M. La Follette, he said he never had a thought of leaving the republican party.

OPEN DRIVE TO TAKE SHANGHAI

SHANGHAI, Oct. 3. (By the Associated Press.)—An offensive for which the invading Kiangsu forces attempting to take Shanghai have been gathering men and munitions for three days, started last night southwest of Sungkiang, at a point 35 miles south of Shanghai.

The defending Chekiang troops were forced to retreat two miles to new positions after intensive fighting in which both sides suffered heavily.

According to an observer, the Chekiang troops were pushed back to positions five miles southwest of Sungkiang. The railway station at Sungkiang last night was a haven of thousands of refugees who had previously fled to Shanghai.

As the offensive of the Kiangsu troops proceeded it assumed the aspect of a general engagement, the observers said.

On the front west of Shanghai occasional firing was reported, but the Kiangsu offensive expected in that direction.

RENEWS DEMAND FOR DAWES' WITHDRAWAL

EMMETTSBURG, Ia., Oct. 3.—(By the Associated Press.)—Repeating his demand that the republican committee ask the resignation of Charles G. Dawes, the party's nominee for vice-president, Senator Smith W. Brookhart, here for an address, in a statement today denounced Mr. Dawes for being "silent on some phases of his record."

Mr. Dawes was silent during his trip across Iowa on some of the phases of his record in which the people of the west were deeply interested," the statement said.

"Yesterday at 5 p. m. he left Chicago, like a phlegmatic hunting for big game. He asked no question and would give none. Then he came out to Des Moines and shot a peewee. This achievement entitles him to a distinction over all his countrymen and I therefore say that let him henceforth be known as 'Peewee Dawes.'"

"And this great hunter has, all at once, another achievement, the glory of silence."

"For many months he has been the biggest noise in America. Yesterday he was silent on his misadventured bank deal record."

"But if he will come to Iowa once more and shoot into another flock of peewees he may become as silent as 'Cal' himself."

"In the meantime I again demand that the republican national committee ask for his resignation so his name can be removed from the ticket."

BOY MURDERED IN FALL RIVER

FALL RIVER, Oct. 3.—Barney Rosenfeld, 19, was killed by Frederick Benson in the Star Tailoring company when Benson, who was shot shortly before 10 o'clock today, slipped on a floor with a flatiron and then attacked the dying man with an axe, inflicting two deep gashes on the left side of his victim's throat.

Benson is held in the central police station without bail on a charge of murder. He will be arraigned in district court tomorrow morning.

BUILDING WORK SHOWS DECLINE

Work Started in September
Here Represents Lowest
Total Value in Months

New Construction Then Started is Mostly Small
Jobs and Alterations

The monthly tabulation of building activities, compiled in the office of Inspector of Buildings John E. Moynihan and made public today for September discloses that building last month was at the lowest total since February. A total of 133 permits for building and alterations were issued covering work, the estimated total cost of which will be but $74,450. Seventy-nine permits for new buildings were issued, 65 to be of wood and 14 of brick, the total cost to be $131,950, according to the estimates filed. There were 67 alteration permits issued, covering jobs, the total cost of which is estimated at $43,030.

One good construction job, such as the Union National bank alterations, filed this month, would total more than all September's business.

BODY OF VICTIM OF BRUTAL MURDER FOUND IN SHAWSHOEN RIVER

Fishermen Find Corpse in Nine Feet of Water, Weighted With Heavy Metal—Police Baffled, Find No Clues to Establish Crime or Identity of Body Recovered

The weighted corpse of a man about 40 years of age, scantily clad and wrapped in a woolen blanket bound with insulated copper wire, was taken from the Shawshoan river in Bedford yesterday afternoon. With no clues to go on, police of surrounding municipalities and the state constabulary have commenced the man hunt for the murderers.

The body had been in the water about fifteen days and was noticed by Harold Othole and Fred Harding of Littleton who had just cast their lines for pickerel from the turnpike bridge. The body was noticed in about six feet of clear water and the fishermen notified the police of their suspicion. With the arrival of officers the body was brought to the surface and to shore.

Nothing that might be an aid to identification was found. The body was that of a man probably 40 years old, with high forehead. The clothing consisted of a black working shirt, undersuit and black socks. The body had been weighted down with a building jack and cylinder heads from a light automobile engine. It was wrapped with a woolen blanket and patchwork quilt. A superficial examination by the medical examiner disclosed that the man had apparently been slain with an axe or some instrument of that nature.

The head of the man had been split and crushed almost beyond recognition. A blow had crushed the side of the head above the left ear and there was a cut through the center of the head that extended from the back to

DEATHS

MORONA—Mrs. Philomena Morona, a resident of this city for many years, died yesterday at the State Infirmary, after a brief illness, aged 60 years. She leaves one daughter, Mrs. Theresa Capuano, of North Chelmsford, and two sons, Antonio and Alexander Morona, of this city. The body was removed to the funeral home of the undertaker William A. Mack, 70 Gordon street.

FELCH—Howard A. Felch, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Felch of Westford, died yesterday at the home of his parents in that town, aged 15 years. He had been an invalid for a long period, and although suffering considerably he maintained a cheery disposition throughout his long illness. His parents were devoted to their child, and the boy's passing has caused much sympathy among his many friends as well as those of his parents.

MASON—Miss Jennifer Mason died Wednesday at the home of her niece, Mrs. Douglas Newhook, in Cambridge, aged 61 years, 11 months and 13 days. She is survived by one sister, Mrs. J. A. Crossley of Somerville, a brother, Frank Mason of this city, one niece and four nephews. The body was removed to the rooms of Undertaker George W. Healey, 236 Westford street.

WESTCOTT—Mrs. Elizabeth A. Westcott, widow of Robert E. Westcott, a well known resident of Dracut, for the past 20 years, died yesterday afternoon at her home, 12 Spring Park avenue, where for a number of years she has conducted a private hospital. Mrs. Westcott was well known in the community through her hospital work and was a member of the Lowell Knicker club. She is survived by one brother, Charles J. Chenevix, of Greenfield, Mass., and one sister, Mrs. Blanche Maudslow of Melrose. The body was removed to Saunders' funeral home, 217 Appleton street.

WHITNEY—George W. Whitney, a resident of Lowell for 40 years, died last night at his home, 121 D street, aged 65 years. He leaves one daughter, Mrs. Sidney C. Harton of this city, two sisters, Mrs. C. E. Taylor of Westford, and several nieces and nephews. He was a member of Chelmsford lodge, K. of L.

DAVIS—Wilbur W. Davis, a well known resident of this city for the past 40 years, died last evening at the Lowell Corporation hospital after an illness of a few weeks. He leaves his wife, Katherine A. Davis, two sons, Wilbur L. and Louis E. Davis, all of this city; his mother, Mrs. Peter Deuss, of Salem; one daughter, Mrs. Agnes Davis of Lynn. The body was removed to the funeral home of Undertakers M. H. McDonough Sons, 141 Lawrence street, where the body will be taken to his home, 11 Lawrence street.

HUSTON—Norman A. Huston died this morning at the home of his parents, 24 Fairfax street, aged 35 years, 10 months, 11 days. He leaves his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel A. Huston. He was a member of the Central Baptist church.

FUNERALS

DEARTH—The funeral of Mrs. Abbie A. Dearth took place yesterday afternoon from her home, 61 South Loring street, and was largely attended by relatives and friends. Rev. Appleton Grambs, rector of St. Anne's Episcopal church, officiating. Mrs. Charles G. Martin and Mrs. G. Sheldon sang appropriate selections. There were many beautiful floral offerings. The bearers were Fred Klezard, Harry E. Moran, John Bimhardt, Henry Simpson and Lester Dearth. Burial was in the family lot in Westlawn cemetery. The funeral arrangements were in the charge of Undertaker Geo. W. Healey.

MERRILL—The funeral of Fred W. Merrill took place from his home, 156 Tenth street, yesterday afternoon. The services were conducted by Rev. Percy E. Thomas, pastor of the First Congregational church. The floral offerings were numerous. The following delegation was present representing Ancient York lodge, A.F. & A.M., and the Muscove Club at the grave: Albert A. Ladd, W.M., Arthur B. Pyer, S.W.; John H. Preston, J.W.; James A. Grant, S.D., and Donald MacRitchie, marshal; Highland-Veritas lodge, 6, I.O.O.F., was represented by Mervyn Smith, W.G., L. E. Flint, P.G.; Orin Saybell, W., and Clarence Hutchinson, chaplain. Burial was in the family lot in the Lowell cemetery. The funeral arrangements were in the charge of Undertaker George W. Healey.

MEADY—All that was mortal of the late Mrs. Sarah Wilkinson Meady was tenderly consigned to its final resting place in St. Patrick's cemetery this morning. The funeral took place at 9 o'clock from the home, 70 Chapel street and ended its way to St. Peter's church where, at 9 o'clock in funeral high mass was celebrated by the Rev. Peter L. Linahan. The choir rendered the Gregorian mass. At the offertory Mr. James E. Donnelly rendered the "Pie Jesu" and as the remains were leaving the church the "De Profundis" was sung by Miss Mary Ryan, Mrs. Raymond Kelley presided at the organ. There was a profusion of beautiful floral offerings and numerous spiritual bouquets. The bearers were: Messrs. Thomas McAvoy, Walter McAvoy, Wilfred McAvoy, Edward McAvoy, Walter McAvoy, Jr., and William Burns. The funeral cortege proceeded from the church to St. Patrick's cemetery, where the burial took place in the family lot. The committal prayers were read at the grave by the Rev. Peter L. Linahan. The funeral was largely attended and under the direction of Undertakers Higgins Bros.

PERLIN—The funeral of Armande Perlin took place this morning at 8 o'clock from the home of his wife, Mrs. Marie Louise Perlin, 2 Colwell avenue, and was largely attended. At 9 o'clock at Notre Dame de Lourdes church a solemn high funeral mass was celebrated by Rev. Lucien Brassard, O.M.I., assisted by Rev. Joseph Perlin, O.M.I., as deacon and Rev. Charles Paquette, O.M.I., as sub-deacon. The church choir, under the direction of Severin Belanger, rendered the Gregorian chant, the solos being sustained by Louis Masson, Edouard P. Gravelle, Joseph Laroche and Mrs. Charles Cote. Emily Gaudette and "Angels" sang. At the offertory Miss Gaudette sang Leysbach's "Pie Jesu" and at the elevation Miss Tur-Koon rendered Rosswitz's "O Herum Fustibus." At the end of the mass the choir sang "De Profundis." Miss Belle Lavigne was at the organ. The bearers were Raymond L. Lorrain, William Dostler, Raymond Turcotte, Wilfrid Boudreau, Alfred Nadeau and Philip Gauthier. There were many flowers. Burial was in the family lot in St. Joseph's cemetery, where the committal prayers were read by Rev. Charles Paquette, O.M.I. The funeral arrangements were under the direction of Undertakers Amodee Archambault & Sons.

BECKIS—The funeral of Mrs. Anna Beckis took place this morning at 8 o'clock from 145 Warren street and was largely attended by loving friends and relatives. At 9 o'clock a funeral mass was celebrated at St. Joseph's church, officiated by Rev. Stanley Kuczek. The delegation present from Holy Name Apostolic society were: Eva Dudulena, Eva Dudulene, Anna Vieltick and Helen Sarkunas. The bearers were: John Vierbickas, John Bakdenas, John Bogdanowicz, Benedyk Stankevich and Carol Beckis. The church was filled with parishioners and members of the society, as the deceased was well and favorably known. Many floral tributes and spiritual bouquets, served to lighten the burden of our sorrow on the death of a beloved husband and father. The employees of the Southwell Wool Shop are we especially grateful. We will ever cherish in loving remembrance the kindness of all. Signed, MRS. PATRICK KERINS, MR. and MRS. JOHN J. KERINS, MR. and MRS. JOHN E. CONNOIS, MRS. GEORGE SULLIVAN.

MATRIMONIAL
Miss Doris A. Dewar of Augusta, Me., formerly of this city, and Mr. Robert C. Hunt of New York city were married at All Souls' Unitarian church, Augusta, on Sept. 24. They will make their home in New York city.

The arch of the county of London, measuring 115,000 square miles, is divided among 38,200 owners.

PORTLAND ELECTION
OFFICIALS ACQUITTED

PORTLAND, ME., Oct. 3—A directed verdict of not guilty as to all of the eight election officials of Ward four, indicted on charges of conspiracy and fraud in connection with the June primaries, was given in the superior court today.

When the eight ward officials were placed on trial before a jury on Wednesday, Assistant Attorney-General Clement F. Robinson in opening for the state said there was no direct evidence against any of them, but indicated that there was circumstantial evidence of a great amount of wrong doing in the ward room on the day of the primaries.

The accused officials were James H. Walsh, warden; Wilbur C. Corey, clerk; Charles F. McGinty and George T. Mansfield, ballot clerks; George L. Means and Joseph H. Adams, election clerks and Charles Bowen and Patrick Ridge, checkers.

The discovery of the casting of nearly 500 fraudulent votes in that ward was one of the chief causes of the reversal of the official result of the contest for the republican nomination for governor after a recount by the governor and council, and the resulting of a new certificate of nomination to Ralph O. Brewster of this city over Frank G. Farrington of Augusta. Brewster was elected governor at the September election.

FUNERAL NOTICES

DAVIS—Died Oct. 2, Wilbur W. Davis. Funeral will take place on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock from his late home, 141 Lawrence street. Services will be held at St. Peter's church at 3 o'clock. On Monday morning at 8 o'clock a regular high mass will be sung for the repose of his soul. Burial will take place in St. Patrick's cemetery. The funeral arrangements are in charge of Undertakers M. H. McDonough Sons.

DAWSON—Died Oct. 1st, at her home, 40 Chelmsford st., Mary J. (Delgann) Dawson, beloved wife of John Dawson. The funeral will take place Saturday morning at 9 o'clock from her home, and a solemn high funeral mass sung will be sung at St. Patrick's church at 10 o'clock. The burial will be in St. Patrick's cemetery, under the direction of Undertakers James J. O'Donnell & Sons.

WESCOTT—Died in Dracut, Mass., Oct. 2, 1924, at her home, 12 Spring Park ave., Mrs. Elizabeth A. Wescott, widow of Robert E. Wescott, aged 48 years. Statements and Suggestions
The following is the Fire Prevention Day statement and suggestions made public today by the fire chief: President Coolidge has designated Thursday, October 9th, the 34th anniversary of the Chicago fire, as Fire Prevention Day.

His proclamation directed the attention of public officials to the importance of carrying on fire prevention activities in the schools, homes and industrial establishments. The president said that in order to lengthen the lives of our citizens and to conserve our diminished store of natural resources, every one must take an interest in this important work.

The nation's annual loss of life and property, due to fire, continues to average more than 10,000 persons and $100,000,000 worth of property. The problem of combating this tremendous waste is of national importance. If it is to be diminished special effort must be made to educate the public mind and especially the child.

The officials of the fire department have endeavored to place before all the people of our city the great danger from fire, and especially to appeal to you, the teachers and children of the schools, to see to it that fire hazards are removed and premises kept clean.

We take particular pride in pointing out the number of fires we have had on such days as the Fourth of July, since we have put into force the system of fire inspection and fire prevention. With the co-operation of the teachers and children of our schools, we should be able to reduce the waste to a minimum. On July 4, 1924 we had only five alarms of fire in the city of Lowell, which is a very small number in comparison with the number we have had in some previous years, which to our mind is due in a great measure to the co-operation of you, the teachers and children of the schools.

In 1923 the fire department inspected 10,769 buildings. The loss by fire in the United States last year amounted to five hundred and eight million dollars ($508,000,000) and more than fifteen thousand lives were lost.

Burnable values have increased and it may be that we can draw some encouragement from the fact that apparently the proportion of fires caused by burnable values has, in the past ten years shown a decrease. In other words, fire prevention efforts are making some headway, but we have not yet secured the support of the people to such an extent that we can afford to slacken our efforts toward fire prevention.

No country, however rich in creative wealth, can continue to support such an enormous drain on its resources. Our wealth of today will surely be seriously affected, if we do not as a nation stem this annual waste. The task of reducing the annual fire loss is a large one. It is a work for happy people, but they do not realize it. They must, therefore, be taught in the press, in the schools and by public speaking, that the fire waste adds tremendously to the cost of living and secondly, how to stop it. Fire fighting has gone on as it can go. We have come to the place where we

RECEPTION AND DANCE IN LIBERTY HALL

About 200 couples attended the reception and dance held in Liberty Hall of the Memorial Auditorium last evening in honor of Tasiarchis Protopapas, who leaves Monday for the Massachusetts Institute of Technology where he will take up architecture. The affair last evening was most enjoyable, the feature being the grand march in which about 150 couples participated.

The program of entertainment including selections by the orchestra and exhibition dance numbers by the Misses Mary and Helen Zantouhos.

TASIARCHIS PROTOPAPAS

youngful entertainers who gave the Jazz Dance, Parasol Dance and an exhibition for trot, was well received by the large audience. At the conclusion of their numbers the Zantouhos sisters were presented bouquets by Mr. Protopapas.

A gold fountain pen and pencil donated by George Antonios, local jeweler and carried off were won by Andrew Guzikas, 33 Marion street.

The concert program was as follows:
March N. G. ..... Bigelow
Cantabile from Samson and Delila
Forget Me Not Waltz ..... Nicks
Under One Flag ..... Von Bloem
Dancing, Misses Mary and Helen Zantouhos.

Attending the reception were guests from Lawrence, Nashua and Manchester, N. H., Boston and this city. Mr. Protopapas is a graduate of the Lowell high school and a University of Maine honor student.

The committee in charge of last evening's affair are as follows:
Floor directors: James Athanasoulas, Theodore Kouras, Alas: Demosthenes Protopapas, Constantine Ganelias, Soterios Sampanikos, Dahn Tzaris, Louis Coulis, Minna Capellantis, George Fragoulis, James Pasacostas.

Flower committee: Miss Anna Zantouhos, Miss Sophia Zantouhos, Miss Simonides Protopapas, Miss Harleena Sarris, Miss Soteria Sarris, Miss Sparta Stratos, Miss Anna Ganelias, Miss Christina Recoulis, Miss Paraskevi Bacos, Miss Mary Andreoutsopoulos, Miss Sophia Psalidaki, Miss Anastasia Ladas, Miss Jessie Petropoulos, Miss Mary Sullivan, Miss Iocadia E. Blavacki, Miss Georgia Petron.

QUART OF WATER A DAY HELPS KIDNEYS

When Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers, Also Take a Little Salts

Eating too much rich food may produce kidney trouble in some form, says a well-known authority, because the acids created excite the kidneys. Then they become overworked, get sluggish, clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and urinary trouble in the kidney region, rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, cold liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, begin drinking lots of good water and also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the field of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate to activity, also to neutralize the acids in the system so that they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts can not injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to help keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus often avoiding serious kidney disorders. Buy all men have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.—Adv.

Pomona Grangers Hold All Day Rally Here
Continued

Came from the Dickinson farm and home. Mrs. Dickinson assisted her husband in arranging the display tables.

Subordinate grangers from each town in the No. 16 Pomona territory were out in force this morning, prepared to spend the day in Centralville and attend both morning and afternoon meetings.

An excellent dinner, with many fall vegetables added to the menu, was served to members and guests in the banquet hall, at 12.30 p. m. The master, Mrs. Sarah K. Mooney, presided at the head table. Among the officers of Middlesex North Pomona grange, present, were: Lecturer, Grace W. Dawson, West Chelmsford; Norman L. Peavey, Dracont; Ruth West Crosby, Dracont; Esther Putnam, Chelmsford; Comrade George Barnett, Dracont; Fred L. Fletcher, Chelmsford and Past Master E. Clyde Prescott of Westford.

An additional feature of the morning session was the display of home products, with apples and apple products, very attractive and presenting a delicious appearance in their flaky pastry covering. There are apple turnovers like mother used to bake with tender, juicy apples, mince and apple "apple cake" was another offering from the Austin kitchen.

Members took part in a general discussion during the morning, selecting for an article: "Should we plant more orchards?" Many of the speakers were offered, some members believing that "orcharding is being overdone." The values to be derived from proper classification, selection, packing and marketing fruits that are all A No. 1 quality, from top to bottom of the box package, are the apples that are getting the money today, it was explained.

Educated and enterprising fruit-growers, who take pride in their products and work diligently to "hit the right market at the right time with the right package," will not harbor any ambitions to quit apple growing just yet, it was said by one wideawake granger.

"Southern and western and Canadian competitors shipping apples to New England, will find markets closed to them if New England apple-growers play the game right and deliver the goods up to the standards maintained by outside producers and marketing competitors."

This afternoon, County Commissioner Walter C. Wardwell was scheduled to address the grangers at an open meeting, starting at 2.30 o'clock. Mr. Wardwell was expected to describe some of the work that has been accomplished by the commissioners in this section of Middlesex county during the past year. The non-appearance of Deputy Commissioner Leslie R. Smith of the Massachusetts department of agriculture, and prominent for many years in state grange circles, was a great disappointment to the Pomona grangers. He will probably attend the November meeting and speak.

The dinner committee today, consisting of active members of Dracont grange, was as follows: Chairman, Mrs. J. M. Crosby; assistants, Mrs. A. W. Crosby, Mrs. H. K. Crosby, Mrs. Harry Morley, Mrs. Charles Dupee, Mrs. Albert Fox, Mrs. Agn Stickney, Mrs. Harry Peavey and Mrs. Charles Hamblett.

Defendants Discharged

Federal agents on July 29 and were subsequently arraigned here. At the first hearing, both the defense and prosecution asked for a continuance until today with the understanding that no further continuances would be granted.

When the case was called this morning the prosecution, asked for a month's continuance. Atty. M. J. Reardon of Salem, representing the defendants, objected to any further continuance and said he was ready to go on with the hearing. Commissioner Walsh expressed dissatisfaction with the government procedure in prosecuting the case. Atty. Reardon expressed belief that the continuance was requested to allow the government to present the evidence to a grand jury and to away with a local hearing. Officer Bowers would not deny this and a recess was declared while Commissioner Walsh communicated with Assistant United States District Attorney Stone in Boston.

Following the telephone conversation, the commissioner discharged the two defendants for lack of prosecution.

Brookhart Denounces Pres. Coolidge
Continued

Differences with leaders of his party, Senator Brookhart said that although he had been nominated "by 200,000 republicans without a machine and without money" and was "opposed by Wall street's money and by the president's power," his nomination had never been recognized by President Coolidge as the voice of republicanism in Iowa.

Senator Brookhart declared republican leaders refused him favor because he had differed on so many occasions from the national administration, naming a dozen issues.

President in Wall Street Bloc
"I belong to the farm bloc; the president belongs to the Wall street bloc," he declared in designating President Coolidge as "the machine republican candidate."

"I have never had a thought of leaving the republican party," the senator said. "My whole soul is wrapped up in the principles of Lincoln, Roosevelt and Kenyon. I will fight any leaders who seek to divert the party from these great purposes."

"Issue has now arisen in Iowa as to whether the principles of the republican party shall be determined by the voters themselves or by a small group of crooked and treacherous dictators set up by the Non-Partisan league of Wall street. This group has assailed me with renewed and vitriolic venom, and I, therefore, wish to state my position and to reform the lines for a final fight to oust this gang from the control of the republican party."

Facts From the Inside
Senator Brookhart said Lincoln as-

IF YOU WANT HELP IN YOUR HOME OR BUSINESS GET THE SUN CLASSIFIED AD HABIT

called "the autocratic powers of the supreme court" in the case of the Dred Scott decision; that Roosevelt assailed the "malefactors of great wealth," and that Kenyon organized the farm bloc for "economic freedom and equality of the farmers and common people."

"These ideals," he said, "have brought me in sharp disagreement with many different elements which style themselves republicans and by their financial power control the policies of the national administration."

"I have said that I would do as much for Coolidge as he would do for me, that the voters are entitled to know what we have done for each other and also to each other. I shall give you facts from the inside and shall rest content with your judgment."

Reviewing his nomination, the senator said his principal supporters were farmers and laboring people, "denounced as radicals by the president and his supporters."

Insulted by Coolidge Machine

"The republican state convention, dominated by the Coolidge machine, snubbed and insulted me," he continued.

"The Coolidge newspapers over the state, with a few exceptions, have boiled me and continue to denounce me and my platform approved by the voters."

"The Coolidge committees have announced in the press that they would not use me in the campaign."

"The cause of this situation grows out of the following matters in congress:

Coolidge For Newberryism
"I was against Newberryism. The president was for it."

"I was against the ship subsidy. The president supported it."

"I was in favor of repealing the Esch-Cummings railroad law and the president opposed its repeal."

"I was in favor of investigating corruption in the departments. The president opposed the investigation and criticized the senate for its action."

"The president favored the Mellon tax bill which reduced taxes on the big incomes by a big percentage and on the little incomes by a little percentage. I helped amend the bill to reverse these reductions in favor of the common people."

"I favored the old soldiers' bonus bill. The president vetoed it and I voted to pass it over the veto. It succeeded."

"I favored the postal employees' bill. It was vetoed and I will vote to pass it over the veto."

"On all taxation I favor high taxes on excess profits and large incomes and estates. The president favors the Mellon plan which taxes the poor."

"I oppose the giving up of Muskegon to Henry Ford or any other private interest. The president favored selling it without much regard to price."

"I favored Senator La Follette's resolution to adjourn congress until July 7 after the conventions and then return and enact the farm bill. The president opposed it and wants an unauthorized commission instead."

"I belong to the farm bloc."

"The president belongs to the Wall street bloc."

"Upon this record I stand for my election and I promise the farmers, the laborers and the common people that they shall not be double-crossed and sacrificed with my knowledge or consent. I will do in the future as I have done in the past."

SANDERSON FOR SUPREME COURT

Superior Court Justice Nominated Associate Justice of Supreme Court

Nominee is a Former District Attorney of Middlesex County

Judge Sullivan Reappointed By Governor to Boston Finance Commission

BOSTON, Oct. 3.—Judge George A. Sanderson of Littleton, for 17 years a justice of the superior court yesterday was nominated an associate justice of the supreme judicial court by Gov. Michael Cox, who also named Judge Michael H. Sullivan of Dorchester for reappointment to a five-year term as chairman of the Boston finance commission. Judge Sanderson is named to take the place of the late Justice Charles A. DeCourcy, who died suddenly while playing golf in New Hampshire two months ago. An associate justice on the supreme bench carries with it an annual salary of $12,000, or $2000 more than is received by a justice of the superior court.

JUDGE GEORGE A. SANDERSON

Failed to Name Brother

Judge Sullivan's term as chairman of the Boston finance commission expired last June. The position pays $5000 a year.

Both nominations were sent to the executive council at its meeting yesterday and under the rules, went over a week for confirmation.

Much pressure was brought to bear on the governor to appoint his brother, Judge Louis S. Cox of the superior court, to the supreme court vacancy.

Delegations from Essex county waited on Gov. Cox, urging the appointment of Judge Cox and many petitions from individuals and associations were received at the state house urging this step, but the governor refused to follow the suggestions along this line.

George August Sanderson was born in Littleton, July 1, 1882, the son of George W. Sanderson. He attended the Littleton public schools, later going to Groton, from which he was graduated in 1881. He then went to Yale, and received his degree in 1885. Two years later he received his law degree from Boston University.

He was for years prominent in Littleton, serving as moderator at the town meetings and active in the work of the school committee. Later he moved to Ayer, and there became interested in the Ayer library.

In 1908 he was appointed assistant district attorney of Middlesex county by District Attorney Wier, and served in that capacity for nine years. Then he was elected district attorney. He afterward was re-elected, serving in that capacity until 1907.

In April, 1907, he was appointed to the superior court bench by Gov. Currier Guild.

Other nominations sent to the executive council by Governor Cox were Josephine E. Thurlow, Cambridge, reappointment to the board of registration of nurses; Wilfred B. Tyler, reappointment as clerk of the district court of eastern Middlesex; Jas. H. Quinn, Northampton, reappointment to the board of registration in embalmers; Col. George H. Stebbins, Roslindale, clerk of the municipal court of West Roxbury, to succeed Edward F. Lyman, resigned; Charles H. Taylor, Boston, trustee of the city library, to succeed Bishop Edwin H. Hughes, resigned; Edwin G. Preston, Lexington, reappointment as trustee of the Massachusetts Homeopathic hospital.

The council confirmed the nominations of Judge Charles H. Donahue of Dorchester as associate justice of the superior court and Senator Frank H. Putnam of Lowell, named commissioner of personnel, on the commission of administration and finance. Both took oath of office in the governor's office.

LOCAL PYTHIANS WILL PARADE IN BOSTON

Lowell Knights of Pythias are prepared to send large delegations of members to participate in the "Balkan" parade of the Pythians, to be held in Boston on Monday, Oct. 13. Local lodges rallied in Odd Fellows hall last evening, to further plans for the trip to Boston. A delegation was also present from Chevalier temple, Pythian Sisters.

The Boston parade of the Pythians will be one of the largest ever made by members of the order in Massachusetts. More than 10,000 men will be in line. Elmer D. Robinson will be marshal of the Lowell division. Secretary Walter I. Leach has issued postal card notices to all members of the lodge. The local contingent may hire a band for the parade ceremonies.

The Lowell Knights will assemble at Memorial Auditorium at 9 o'clock on the morning of Oct. 13, marching to the Middlesex street railroad station

ARE STILL AT HOSPITAL

Three Normal School Girls in Auto Accident Not Yet Released

Of the seven Lowell normal school girls who received treatment at St. John's hospital following the thrilling accident in North Hill park last Wednesday afternoon, all have been released with the exception of Miss Agnes Finnick of 85 White street, Katherine Smith of 24 Walker street and Mary Eaton of Somerville.

It was announced at the hospital this noon that Miss Finnick is suffering from a broken collar bone, Miss Smith from a concussion of the shoulder, and Miss Eaton from lacerations of the forehead. Miss Evangeline Connor, who sustained a compound fracture of the thumb, was released this morning.

MORE WORK FOR THE MOTH INSPECTOR

It keeps a moth inspector busy nowadays, chasing up and cataloguing all the latest insect pests that afflict humanly, and more especially the shops, plants, flowers and trees in the area labelled Lowell.

There are the vulgarly annoying caterpillars, family to start with, and many pestiferous descendants thereof have kept moth inspectors and farmers eternally awake and nervous the year round for many and many a year since the advent in 1886 in the Harvard-Littletown territory.

This year, two new insect destroyers of flowers and garden crops appeared from nowhere in particular, and the leopard moth was the one that came last but not least with a mysterious appearance in the most unexpected places, and no moth inspector being able to keep tabs on the intercity journeys of the new pests, or definitely establish just what folder they like best when crossing the farm and wood lands.

And now for the latest—the last one to cross the danger line and cause the newest ruction down the rural lanes.

It's a skeletonizer—that's the word!—a bug of the bugliest sort ever born—and dotting on New England, which birch trees, which will be stripped of their leaves this year about a month sooner than usual because of the birch leaf skeletonizer.

The genuine article looks like an underized green caterpillar that has acted like a September frost in attacking the birch leaves and killing them. All the latest pests are descendants of caterpillar forefathers, you see. Some of them look exactly like moths.

The moth explorers and experts, in separating the different brands of caterpillars, sometimes count the number of rings on the worm's back, or the number of hairs. Either way, you win when you compare the colors, number of rings or number of hairs, to the colored catalogue that contains them all in rote or photographs.

Parasites, new from abroad, are being used to wipe out nature's latest enemy, but the skeletonizers have been slightly overlooked (this fall on the parasite's menu). R. Harold Allen, director of pest control of the state department of agriculture, is confident that the birch-eaters will be wiped out eventually.

The green caterpillars usually stick to pasture and brushlands, where birches of tender age flourish. The actual damage to the owners of these

RYAN TO SELL RACING AND BREEDING STOCK

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Thomas Fortune Ryan will sell all his racing and breeding stock at an early date, it has been learned here. It is understood that the Oak Ridge farm in the Virginia Piedmont, between Charlottesville and Lynchburg, also will be sold.

acres is slight compared to the damage done by modern pests that ravage fruit and shade trees and many garden plants and crops in the early stages of their development.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

By Theatres' Own Press Agents
LOWELL OPERA HOUSE
 Three more performances one tonight and one tomorrow, remain to be given of "The Alarm Clock," successful show, offered this week by the Stanley James players. Capacity audiences are assured for the remaining performances, only a limited number of seats being now unsold. The personal popularity of Miss Lillian Desmond, leading woman of the players, and Mr. Gerald Rowan, who handles the male leads, has done much to win more friends for this popular company. "The Alarm Clock" is a great comedy show that keeps one laughing every minute at the troubles of Bobby Brandon, rich young bachelor, who finds the pace of the bright lights too strong for him and in seeking rest finds himself only thrown into a high for until called for. Because of the speed.

For next week the season's supreme novelty is announced. It is "The Last Warning," most novel, most popular, most mystifying, and most successful of New York's latest hits. This play ran a solid year at the Klav theatre in New York.

"The Last Warning" originated in what is acknowledged to be the Saturday Evening Post's best-liked serial, "The House of Fear," by Wadsworth Camp.

While the plot of "The Last Warning" is based upon suspicious death, in which the body of the man never was found, yet the murder took place a great many years before the action of the play starts.

However, "The Last Warning" is going to excite you, but mirthfully. It is going to make you laugh as you never laughed before. And not once, twice or even ten times, but consistently, from the moment the curtain rises and all the way through to its surprising finale.

"The Last Warning" is a clever combination of the various elements which go to make up interesting entertainment. There is suspense, surprise, hearty laughter, romance, variety, novelty, climax after climax and a plot that starts right out with a wallow the minute the curtain goes up, and never loses its grip upon you "till the final surprise."

Miss Desmond and Mr. Rowan will both have excellent roles in "The Last Warning," as will every member of the company. The advance sale is big; every one will want to see this great mystery play.

Those persons who are not already on the season subscription lists should have their names recorded at the box office. Under this subscription plan chosen seats are reserved each week.

OUT OUR WAY

THE SCHOOL MA'AM GETS SOME INSIDE DOPE ON SMOKY.

It is not expected that they be paid for until called for. Because of the great demand for seats at every performance Manager Stanley James has been obliged to enact a strict rule that all unpaid for seats reserved by telephone orders be placed on window sale at 1.30 o'clock every matinee and 7.30 o'clock every evening performance. Seats will be reserved as far as two weeks ahead and may be held by phoning 7840. The box office is open daily from 9.30 o'clock in the morning until 9 o'clock at night. "So This is London," the great Gen. M. Cohen play, will be shown here soon. So also will "Irene," "The First Year," "The Gingham Girl," "Across the Street" and "In Love With Love." With these hits booked it seems advisable for lovers of the spoken drama to get their names on the season subscription lists.

LOWELL'S REALTY
 Only two more days remain in which local theatregoers can see the picture that has the whole town talking, and that picture is "Judgment of the Storm" that is still playing to capacity audiences at Loew's Realty where it has been breaking all house records this week!

"Judgment of the Storm" is the success that it is on account of its humanness and true-to-life characterization. Scidmore has such a realistic picture been given to the picture lovers of Lowell. It tells the story of a man who sentences himself to a life of hard work on a farm to take the place of a dead son, whose death he believes himself responsible for. The big punch in the picture is the highly thrilling and dramatic knowledge, the greatest film since D. W. Griffith made "Way Down East." H. C. Whitner's "The Telephone Girl" with Alberta Vaughan is also on the bill as well as "The Perfect Alibi" with Leo Maloney and a Fox News.

There is the ordinary white and black photography that is used for almost all pictures, but in addition there is the colored photography which shows all the beauty of the tropical waters, and the luxuriant growth of the South seas. Besides, there is a most entertaining romance portrayed by an all-star cast. Other attractions of the current program are "The Gunfighter," starring William Frawley, and an "Our Gang" comedy, "A Pleasant Journey." ## ENTERTAIN MEMBERS OF STATE ASSOCIATION

For the first time in the history of the local organization the Lowell Retail Jewelers' Association will entertain its guests, the officers of the Massachusetts Retail Jewelers' Association, at a dinner to be held on Tuesday evening next, Oct. 7, at 6:30 o'clock at Marie's restaurant.

It is the desire of the state officials to meet the retail jewelers of each city, together with their wives and employees, and State Secretary Louis J. Smith has written to Frank Ricard, secretary of the local organization, stating that Lowell is to be the first city visited. The local association, which is thereby greatly honored, is doing its utmost to make the affair a success. Thirty invitations have been sent to the jewelers of the city and together with their wives and clerks, it is estimated that approximately 100 will be in attendance at the meeting on Tuesday evening.

The state secretary, together with two other officials of the state organization will be the guests of the Lowell jewelers and will be invited to address the gathering. Mr. Smith who is well versed in his field of work will talk interestingly on the work of the retail jeweler and the opportunities offered to make his business as successful and as interesting as any in the field of retail business.

The officers of the state organization are as follows: President, J. C. Stever, Boston; first vice president, G. M. Stevens, Springfield; second vice president, Fred C. Newhall, Lynn; secretary, Louis J. Smith, Newbury; treasurer, E. W. Durbin, Worcester.

The officers of the local association are: President, A. H. Abbott; vice president, Edward Collier; secretary, Frank Ricard; treasurer, David Perrault.

Official Commendation For Officer Conway

number of the machine, he reported it to headquarters and on the check-up, it was learned that the car belonged to Sousa, who was arrested and is now being detained in West Cambridge jail on a charge of assault with intent to murder.

The commendatory order reads as follows:

Lowell, Mass., Oct. 3, 1924.

Office of the Superintendent of Police.

Special Order No. 37.

Patrolman William E. J. Conway is hereby publicly commended for his excellent work on the morning of Thursday, Sept. 19, 1924, in being able to furnish a clue to the identity of the persons who attempted to rob and murder Fred H. Peabody.

In the early hours of the morning, at 735 Stevens street.

I wish to emphasize the fact that officers are abroad for the night not only for the purpose of trying store doors and ringing boxes, but to observe conditions as they exist on the streets, and they should know what is going on about them.

The work of the officer in this case in furnishing evidence of the registration number of the automobile in which the assailants rode is worthy of commendation, and should be emulated by every officer in the department.

Deputy Superintendent of Police.

Mr. Peabody, the victim of the assault, has been released from the Lowell Corporation Hospital and is now recuperating at his home in Stevens street.

The second suspect in connection with the case is still at large.

FIRE ON PLAZZA

A telephone alarm at 1:31 o'clock this morning was for a plaza fire on the third floor of a ten-story block at 322 Gorbam street, occupied by a Mrs. Chase. The fire started in a pile of papers and was caused, in the opinion of District Chief Thomas F. Saunders, by a child playing with matches. Damage was confined to the piazza.

FOREST FIRES IN CALIFORNIA

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 3.—National forests in California were being burned away today at ten points by devastating fires which raged out of control last night.

An eleven-acre burned-over 5000 acres near the Sequoia Country club grounds in Alameda county last night before it was brought under control by students of the University of California and members of the Oakland fire department.

Reports were awaited from the Cleveland national forest, where the United States forest service reported a blaze had burned more than 10,000 acres at Soudan yesterday.

A fire in the San Gabriel water shed of the Los Angeles National forest, started efforts of 250 men to bring it under control.

The most threatening fires were in the Desqueno region where 3500 acres have been burned at Palomar mountain, ten miles north of Campo, where a number of ranch buildings and outbuildings were destroyed, and the Central camp in the Tahoe national forest.

BOSTON AND GLOUCESTER FISHERMEN ORGANIZE

BOSTON, Oct. 3.—A co-operative organization among Boston and Gloucester fishermen has been launched to secure the men who sail to the banks a larger share of the profits from their catches. It was made known here last night. With more than 1100 members already recruited, the leaders of the movement, have set a goal of 1800 members, a number which they assert will give control of 85 per cent of the catch of both fleets.

The co-operative partnership will have a central selling agency under the direction of a corps of merchandisers, the organizers said, forcing wholesale dealers to meet a standardized price. An advertising campaign to extend the market of the fleet through the sections of the country, will be undertaken.

MODEL PLANE SETS NEW WORLD'S RECORD

DAYTON, O., Oct. 3.—A model airplane constructed by Robert V. Jones, of the University of Chicago, remained aloft at Wilbur Wright field today for 10 minutes 11.2 seconds, setting a new world's record.

Model planes competed in a duration race as one of the features of the international air races. Jones, representing the Model Aero club of Illinois, also set a new world's record for distance. His glider traveled a mile and a half, the best previous distance was 5000 feet and the last record for time, 5.5 minutes.

PETITION IN BEHALF OF NEW ENGLAND PORTS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—A petition asking that the request for joint consideration of rail and water rates and the port of New England be denied was filed with the interstate commerce commission today by railroads serving Philadelphia and Baltimore.

JOHN W. DAVIS SPEAKS IN NEW JERSEY TODAY

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—John W. Davis left today for Trenton, N. J., to deliver the first of four addresses scheduled for today in New Jersey.

After speaking in Trenton at noon he planned to motor to Princeton to talk to the students. His next scheduled stop was Elizabeth at 5 p. m. An evening meeting at Newark will conclude Mr. Davis' program for the day.

HUNT FOR THREE AUTO BANDITS

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 3.—An automobile police search for three persons they believe to be automobile bandits as the result of the wrecking early today of a coach on the Pittsburgh road. A banding, an which was inscribed "Thomas W. Brown, 523 Huntington Ave., Boston," was found in the machine, which was demolished when it was driven into a telephone pole and the driver, who was injured, was taken away after the crash at 2 o'clock this morning. The police believe the machine was stolen from Mr. Dolan.

NOTED SURGEON DEAD

$100,000 SUIT FILED

President of Sunset Wine & Spirit Co. of Montreal

Sued by Rosenthal

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Also Adelman, president of the Sunset Wine & Spirit Co. of Montreal, has been sued for $100,000 damages in the supreme court here by Meyer Rosenthal, formerly connected with the company, who charges that Adelman and a brother, Norman, falsely charged him with the piracy of the schooner Lutren off the United States coast several months ago. It was learned today. The Lutren was loaded with several thousand cases of liquor and the crew made prisoners.

Information filed in a French court in Paris, France, where Max Jerome Pfaff, an American, is under arrest as an alleged rum pirate, mentioned a man named Adelman, of New York city, as the man "higher up" who furnished funds in unfulfilled amounts for the smuggling of liquor into the United States from Canada. Federal officials have started an investigation into this phase of the case.

Pfaff, arrested for the piracy of the French steamer Mulhouse, which was loaded with 32,000 cases of whiskey off the Canadian coast last July, has refused to discuss the man named "Adelman" mentioned in the affidavits filed in the French court.

Rosenthal, who is said to be a builder in Brooklyn, recently obtained an attachment of $10,000 against Adelman from a New York bank. Adelman now is on his way to Montreal to attend the trial of Captain Samuel C. Ford, former skipper of the Lutren, who is directly charged with piracy.

LOGAN DECLINES POST

Turns Down Offer to Become Member of Reparation Commission

PARIS, Oct. 3 (By the Associated Press).—James A. Logan, Jr., has definitely declined the post of fifth member of the reparation commission unofficially offered him by members of the commission. This is the post provided for under the Dawes plan, which specifies that it shall be filled by an American citizen.

Mr. Logan wrote to the president of the commission, Mr. Barthou, last Saturday. It was learned, expressing thanks for the honor offered him and the confidence shown in him by his association. He believed, however, that his duty was to retain the office given him by the American government and remain as unofficial observer with the commission, in which position he thought his usefulness to his country would be greater.

"COOLIDGE AND CHAOS"

Sen. Harrison Replies to Harvey Article—Only Safe Policy is to Elect Davis

CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—Senator Harrison, democrat, of Mississippi, in an address prepared for delivery today before the executives' club, said Colonel George Harvey, former ambassador to Great Britain, recently wrote an editorial in a Washington newspaper headed "Coolidge and Chaos," but Harrison avowed if Coolidge should be elected it would mean "Coolidge and Chaos."

MRS. LA FOLLETTE MAY MAKE SPEAKING TOUR

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Plans are being made to have Mrs. Robert M. La Follette make an extended speaking tour in behalf of her husband's candidacy for the presidency. Gilbert Ross, campaign director for eastern states, it was said today, already has arranged a tentative itinerary and is urging Mrs. La Follette to accept a number of speech-making engagements.

At a political rally held last Sunday at Mountaineer Lake Park, Md., Mrs. La Follette spoke for more than an hour on the interest of the independent residential ticket. At the time it was said that she might not make any more speeches but indications today were that she probably would take the stump for at least a few addresses.

WASHINGTON SILENT ON GENEVA REPORT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Completion in Geneva of the League of Nations program for presentation of a protocol under which a world-wide arms limitation conference would be called next June failed to alter the attitude of silence as to the proceedings which administration officials here have observed.

The Washington government has been largely dependent on press reports from Geneva for knowledge of what has transpired there. In the absence of complete official accounts and of the text of the protocol, it was said today that no comment was to be expected and that it was not certain that spokesmen for the United States would have anything to say even after the official reports are in hand.

WARNING OIL CLOTH

For washing oil cloth use a kannel with hot water and wash the cloth until it is as dry as possible.

FEEL CRISIS IS IMMINENT

LONDON, Oct. 3.—(By the Associated Press).—The feeling is that a crisis might come at any moment, but then in politics you never know. The comment of former Premier Stanley Baldwin in referring to the position of the labor government in the face of the recent developments. His note of caution is echoed by many political observers who have watched beside the supposed deathbed of previous governments which ultimately proved to be very much alive.

The great majority of the political writers in the press, however, adopt the view that the present government's days are numbered and that it is bound to fall, if not on the conservative motion of censure in the communist matter, then on the opposition to the Anglo-Russian treaty headed by the Liberals. The Communist case is based on the abandonment by the attorney-general of criminal proceedings which have been brought against the acting editor of the Workers Weekly, a Communist publication.

Even if the government is defeated, as for the moment appears certain, the premier, according to one forecast, will not resign but will advise the king to dissolve parliament in either case an election would follow, and it is figured this will probably be held on Nov. 8 or 15.

The laborites profess to have made great gains in the country's favor during the last nine months and express confidence that an election would result in their return to office with immensely increased strength.

FROM ALL PARTS OF U. S.

Distinguished Men Attend Centennial of Rennsaeler Polytechnic Institute

TROY, N. Y., Oct. 3.—Men distinguished in all realms of education and science and almost from every state in the union and from South America and foreign countries were gathered here today to celebrate the centennial of Rennsaeler Polytechnic Institute.

Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce; Dr. Frank P. Graves, state commissioner of education; Sir Charles Morgan, president of the Institute of Civil Engineers of Great Britain, were included among the scheduled speakers at exercises this morning.

In the afternoon two memorial tablets were to be unveiled, one on the site of the original building and the other in memory of Samuel Wells Williams, class of 1832 and first professor of Chinese and Oriental literature at Yale university. Siao-Ke Alfred Nze, Chinese minister to the United States, was to be a speaker at the unveiling ceremony.

At night dinner was to be served in the state armory. The centennial celebration is to continue through Saturday, ending at night with a pageant depicting the history of the institute.

GIRL ON DANGER LIST

Skull Fractured, Eye Driven From Socket and Hip Injured in Auto Crash

TURNERS FALLS, Mass., Oct. 3.—Miss Theresa Peterson, 18, of 83 L street, this town, is at a local hospital suffering from a fracture at the base of the skull, a fractured hip and an eye driven from its socket in an automobile crash near South Peoria field last night. She is on the danger list and her recovery was said by the attending physicians to be doubtful. Mrs. Gladys Reen, 19, of the same address, sister of Miss Peterson, and Lawrence Laphin of Montague, are also at the hospital, but their injuries are not serious. William Wensley of Montague, owner of the car which figured in the accident, escaped unhurt.

ADMITTED SETTING MORE THAN 100 FIRES

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—George C. Gustow, who admitted to officials that he set more than one hundred fires in this city "because of an uncontrollable impulse," today was sentenced to the state hospital for the criminal insane at Middletown. This action followed the report of a lunacy commission.

Gustow, 27 years old, was arrested Aug. 19 charged with setting fire to an Amsterdam avenue building. He has been a inmate of two insane asylums. When a boy he was a victim of infantile paralysis.

SMALLPOX EPIDEMIC IN AMSTERDAM

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 3.—The state health department announced today that an epidemic of smallpox exists in the city of Amsterdam, where 70 cases have been reported recently. As a result children who do not submit to vaccination or show signs of having been effectively vaccinated within a fixed period, will be excluded from the public schools.

GENEVA CUP COMPETITION

HAMILTON, Oct. 3.—The Pennsylvania golf team won three of the five four-rounds played by the Lehigh Cup competition at the Myopia Hunt club this morning. In spite of their lack of familiarity with the course, the visitors, especially in their top ranks, went to lunch with a lead over the New York team. The Lehigh Cup matches will be played this afternoon.

GRAIN PRICES ADVANCE

CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—With new foreign demand on a high level, grain prices advanced today. The market for wheat was particularly active, with prices for the season's supply figures were said to show 31,000,000 bushels less wheat available than a month ago.

RIC ALCOHOL SEIZURE

EAST BRIDGEWATER, Mass., Oct. 3.—Chief of Police Everett Russell today seized a truck carrying 500 gallons of pure Belgian alcohol and placed under arrest Frank J. Oddo, West Medford.

"FRUIT KING" LEFT $6,000,000

BOSTON, Oct. 3.—The provision that in the event of the death of all heirs the estate shall be used "for advancing the science of chemistry in the United States" is made in the will of Andrew W. Preston, president of the United Fruit company, who died recently at his home in Swampscott. The will was made public today by the trustees, the First National bank of Boston and Bradley W. Palmer. The estate is estimated to exceed $6,000,000.

"The will leaves all tangible personal property to the widow, as well as a bequest of $100,000, and to the daughter, Bessie W. Preston, is left $25,000. After various small legacies to individuals the will directs that each personal employee who has been in Mr. Preston's service for five years or longer shall receive $1000, with $100 additional for each year of service above five.

A sum of $100,000, to be known as the Andrew W. Preston charity fund, is created, the net income to provide assistance, care and hospital service to persons convalescing from sickness, to be distributed at the discretion of the trustees.

The residue of the estate is left to the trustees in trust. The income to be paid three-quarters to the widow and one-quarter to the daughter.

JAPAN RESERVES FINAL DECISION

TOKIO, Oct. 3 (By the Associated Press).—Adoption of the protocol of compulsory arbitration and security of the League of Nations assembly now in session at Geneva does not conclude the question as far as Japan is concerned.

Although Japan is gratified to learn of the acceptance by the League of Nations of the Japanese proposal, it reserves a final decision on ratification until a thorough study has been given the subject, it was stated in highest official quarters today.

There was reason to believe today that Japanese interest in the League of Nations would be increased by the greatest factor in influencing government decision on the protocol in the last analysis.

Australian Premier Talks

MELBOURNE, Oct. 3.—Premier Bruce of Australia, in an address in the house of representatives today, on the compromise modifications of the League of Nations arbitration and security protocol made as a result of the Japanese demand for an amendment to the protocol, declared that unless there was something in the protocol which interfered with Australia's rights, there would be no need for Australia to take special action in the matter.

DETROIT, Oct. 3.—Directors of the Ford Motor Company of Canada have declared a cash dividend of 10 per cent payable Nov. 15 to stock of record Nov. 5. This is the first dividend to be declared by the company this year. No dividend was declared in 1923, but in 1921 and again in 1922, two payments were made.

O'CONNELL SAYS HE OBEYED ORDERS

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Jimmy O'Connell, Giant outfielder, one of the central figures in the scandal that has shocked baseball, today will return with his wife to his home in California, he said today.

"Now I am an outcast and can only drift until this thing is cleared up— if ever it is," he said. "We are going to start back to California next Monday."

"What I will do after that I don't know," he said, mournfully. "I can't think; I am left adrift with the only big thing in my life taken from me. And I got mine simply for carrying out the orders of my boss!"

"I'm the goat," he said, over and over again.

TUBERCULOSIS SPECIALIST DEAD

CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—Dr. O. W. McMichael, noted tuberculosis specialist, died yesterday after an operation in which his left leg was amputated because of blood poisoning. He was 51 years old, a native of Canada and spent years in research and experimentation to combat tuberculosis.

Plan Joint Luncheon

It is expected that more than 300 members, representing the three organizations, will attend the gathering. The program was arranged by Lowell's business organization, which is handling all details.

Hon. Mr. Wallis is an acknowledged leader in civic, governmental and business activities in his city and state. He is said to stand out conspicuously as one who combines the faculty of original thinking and effective doing. When appointed commissioner of immigration at Ellis Island, N. Y., by President Woodrow Wilson, the first thing he accomplished was the cleaning up of the island. Immigrants found him a humanitarian regardless of creed or nationality, it is said.

The speaker who is to address the members of the three local civic organizations in Liberty hall next Tuesday afternoon, is an authority on Americanization, economic arbitration, progressive good government and other social and economic problems of the day. Among the important activities to which Mr. Wallis has brought constructive ability, are works performed for veterans of the World war, for Red Cross, for the Council of Federated Churches of America, for Christian Endeavor societies and for various brotherhoods and welfare societies needing advice and personal assistance in relief campaigns.

Immediate action it is proposed to establish restricted zones as follows in which the future only houses of the single family type will be permitted to be constructed.

All of that section lying between Nesmith street and Hudson road and between Andover street and Rogers street, save some portions in the southern extremity of the section thus defined.

All that section on the left side of Andover street from Nesmith street out to the city line and as far back as the Merrimack river.

All lots fronting on Draper street, Arbor road, Douglas road and Clark road.

All of that section on the right side of Andover street from Nesmith street to Wentworth avenue and thence to Rogers street.

Heavy street, excepting the land recently divided and sold by the Board of Public Works which land will be restricted to single houses only.

Although the board yesterday considered most its thoughts to the Belvidere section of the city, about ten square blocks in the Highlands were also decided upon and defined, to be restricted to houses of the one-family type. This section, starting at Pine and Stevens a row could be run on the north by Pine street and Westford street, on the east by Stevens street as far as Parker street, on the south by Wedge street, and on the west by Staples street, the tract including Staples estate.

As the work of the city planner has reached the stage where it is rapidly reaching tangible finished form, frequent conferences with the planning board will be necessary from this time on. Because of this the members decided to hold themselves in readiness to meet at the convenience of Mr. Conroy from time to time upon the call of the chairman.

CHANCE TO DEVELOP KNOWLEDGE OF RADIO

Two correspondence courses are offered by the university extension section of the state department of education for men and women who wish to increase or develop their knowledge of radio. One course is helpful to those who are about to buy an outfit and wish to know how to make the best purchase and to others who would like to be skilled enough to build their own sets. A course in reception and transmission covers more deeply into the subject treating of the principles of radio communication. In other words, it offers a technical understanding of the subject to one who knows the first principles.

In speaking of these courses, James A. Moyer, state director of university extension, said as follows: "The radio field grows something new every day. Scientific knowledge, experimentation and making new discoveries. Photographs have been communicated from long distances. Recently, a front page story of a big city daily announced that motion pictures had been projected over the radio in a successful experiment and that the broadcasting of feature movies may be an accomplished fact within a year. Think of it! You may see your favorite actor cast on a sheet hung on the parlor wall."

In France, where radio has not made such strides as in this country, radio courses have been established in the public evening schools. Interested French professors are attempting to organize radio centers in the rural districts where they would fill a special need. When lessons in radio are being put in a class with reading, writing and arithmetic, that fact ought to make us sit up and take notice.

In spite of this ever growing importance of radio, how much does even the so-called "fan" know about it? Perhaps enough to understand that eight hours of the knob will give him Station NYZ."

The division of university extension will reply immediately to all inquiries concerning these courses addressed to Director James A. Moyer, Room 212, State House, Boston.

Stops itching—
Reduces irritation

Clears away skin trouble

If you have today a spot of eczema, or irritation on your skin, cleanse the affected part by bathing with Resinol Soap, then smooth in gently with the fingers a coating of Resinol Ointment. One application frequently stops the itching completely because the special soothing healing properties of Resinol help it to sink deep into the pores where the trouble really lies and restore a normal condition.

Use Resinol Soap daily for your toilet and bath. It helps to keep the skin healthy. Ask your druggist.

DEMOCRATIC PARTY FRIEND OF LABOR

The La Follette party is making general charges of neglect of the interests of labor by the two major parties. This is unfair to the democratic party which has been and still is the friend and constant sympathizer with organized labor. Practically all the more important labor reforms were directly enacted by the democratic party or else put through as a result of its initiative and pressure upon republicans in congress and the legislatures of the states.

The administration of the democratic party from 1912 to 1920 showed more legislation beneficial to labor than did any equal period in the country's history. Nevertheless, we now hear La Follette and his lieutenants declaring that both the great parties are alike, that there is no practical difference in them in regard to their attitude toward labor and the people in general. That charge is unjust and those who have followed the course of legislation in recent years must realize that it is very unfair.

La Follette, a republican, decided to bolt his party and run for president on an independent ticket. In that he was probably justified, but he was not justified in charging that the democratic party is equally opposed to labor, or opposed to the farming class for whom he affects great solicitude. The democratic platform may not be sufficiently radical to suit the socialists who are lined up for La Follette, but the party has never failed to show its sympathetic regard for the interests of labor. It cannot, however, go to the extent of menacing the liberties of the people by threatening to tear down the supreme court or by advocating general government ownership of public utilities.

The support given to La Follette may help to defeat the democratic party without electing either Coolidge or La Follette. Such an outcome cannot benefit labor to any great extent, but it will be a source of encouragement and gratification to the socialists and communists who are among the worst enemies of organized labor.

STANDARD OF LIVING

Most people are more concerned with the cost of living than the actual amount they receive in their pay envelope on Saturday night. At the present time the cost of living as computed by the economists is about 62 per cent higher than it was before the war. In other words, you have to pay $1.62 for the same commodities you could buy for $1 before the war of back in 1914.

This may seem strange to some people who find that they cannot live quite as well on their present wages as they did before the war when their wages were about sixty per cent less than at present. The difference arises from the fact that we are now living under new standards that call for a greater variety of the "necessities" and more of the luxuries than we enjoyed in past years. Since 1914 the advancing standard of living has placed among the necessities of life many commodities and services that some ten or twelve years ago were classed as luxuries. The cost of living under present conditions means more than merely supplying the body with necessary food, clothing and shelter. Many of the things that the average family insists upon having today were not thought of in the list of necessities of the long ago. Visit any of the big factories and you will find the vacant spaces surrounding the buildings occupied by automobiles parked there by the employees. How many of them owned motor vehicles in 1912 or even for several years after?

Moreover, the advance in this respect has caused people to be more particular in regard to what they wear. The man who was formerly willing to appear out with a patch on his trousers would not think of doing so today. He is equally particular in regard to his household furniture. In past years many articles of furniture were repaired that would now be thrown on the ash heap or else stored away in the attic as among the useless relics of the past. Much of the trouble today, therefore, is not so much the increased price of what we used to buy, but as the price of things we formerly never dreamed of buying. This explains in a great measure why the average man finds he has less cash on hand after paying the bills, not to mention that his income may have increased with the so-called advance in the cost of living.

Some experts claim that it is possible to live now almost as cheaply as 10 or 25 years ago provided we adjust ourselves to the old standard of living which included only the simplest and most essential of the necessities of life, but nobody wants to do that. We have now to earn more money and sometimes even to work longer hours than before in order to live in comfort because the present age demands more of the commodities and services in daily life than was the custom long ago. When considering the cost of living, therefore, we must also take into account the increased standard of living, and this may explain why what is known as a living wage is not sufficient to meet the demand of the ordinary mechanic, shopworker or laborer of today.

STATE RIGHTS MENACED

Sixteen states have banded together to sue the national government. They seek the return of $300,000,000 of direct taxation paid after the Civil war. These taxes were levied on certain manufactured goods for which the states in question were entitled to a refund which still remains unpaid.

This law suit reminds us of something that is seldom brought to the front nowadays, namely, the matter of state rights. Our national government is merely a league of small countries which we call states. Uncle Sam represents the federal authority which in a measure is supreme; but he is not all-embracing or supreme in everything, even though the police power is about the only major function of local government that has not as yet been centralized in Washington, D. C. And yet the police power has also been largely transferred to Washington, a fact that will appear from the frequency with which federal officers swoop down upon people suspected of violating the prohibition law. There are various bureaucrats at Washington and organizations of newly enfranchised women, working steadily to siphon from the states whatever rights they have remaining; and in order to do this they have only to attach a "moral label" to the measures they submit to congress, and then neither congressmen nor senators will dare to vote against them. The habit of rushing to Washington and investing the federal authorities with power to interfere in the local affairs of the people throughout the country, is already becoming quite alarming. Unless the people guard against the further progress of this bureaucracy at Washington, our government will undergo a system of Prussianizing that will ultimately destroy the last vestiges of local self-government.

DAVIS ASSAILS MELLON

Those republicans who have been criticizing John W. Davis for saying nothing important may have reason to change their minds on reading his attack upon Secretary Mellon.

For two years the republican leaders have held Mr. Mellon to be a sort of wizard of finance and were willing to accept everything he said on the subject as strictly reliable. But his statements relative to taxation and the returns of the new income tax law were found to be grossly inaccurate. His estimates of the supposed revenue which the democratic plan would bring were vastly in error, and it appeared that his tax bill was primarily planned to provide special privilege for himself and other wealthy men of his class. His gains from the high tariff on aluminum indicate in what manner he derives immense profits from the republican tariff. Mr. Davis had already exposed his unreliability and referred to him again only to expose Mellon's flimsy defense against the charges of profiteering in connection with the Aluminum Company of America. If Mr. Mellon thought he would get away with his first reply to Mr. Davis, he was sadly mistaken and the falsity of his claims are now exposed with the crushing logic of facts as presented by Mr. Davis.

TO OUTLAW WAR

The new protocol of arbitration adopted by the League of Nations would make war a crime and would turn the entire influence of these nations against any one that perpetrated such a crime. This method is acceptable to France, which has been one of the nations most difficult to satisfy in regard to compulsory arbitration and the absolute prohibition of war. Under the proposed arrangement any nation refusing to arbitrate or to accept the decision of the international court and declaring war will thereby, become an aggressor nation under the provisions of the protocol. It would then be subject to the penalties provided in the protocol which have not yet been definitely settled, although they will undoubtedly follow very closely the line of procedure provided in the original covenant of the League of Nations.

The political clubs and the various candidates cannot do anything better than assist in inducing all the eligible voters of the city who are not now on the list to get registered. It takes a great deal of persuasion to induce some women to go before the election commission and get their name on the voting list. The should remember that in getting registered they are not required to declare their affiliation with any political party.

It is gratifying to find that the Federal Reserve bank of New York reports evidence of a decided improvement in business. Possibly it has become more apparent in New York than in New England; but even here there is found to be an encouraging upward trend steadily gravitating toward normal conditions.

Nasty picture shows have aroused Mayor Hylan and a large number of people in New York. Steps are taken to eliminate the almost nude, obscene and profane. It is strange that there should be any foundation for such charges.

Naturally the effort to use the auto as much as possible before the cold weather sets in will result in the usual number of accidents for which this month is noted.

Young Roosevelt started to make 150 speeches in 15 days is trying to rival the performance of William J. Bryan in 1876 and doubtless with like results. Senator Brookhart is likely soon to jump the political fence that separates him from the La Follette camp.

SEEN AND HEARD

A puncture in the ego is harder to fix than one in the auto.

There is talk of a balloon trip to the North pole. Well, the pole will be near here before long.

Debited hair is about like all modern improvements. It isn't the initial cost, it's the upkeep.

That baseball is the national game doesn't mean anything to the crooks who engage in it.

A Thought

Riches are well, if gotten well and spent well.—Vespasian.

And They Weren't Fired

The Alva magazine was one of the astute ones in the moving picture business, but his best friend told him to maintain that he was educated. The morning things had gone wrong at the studio and he was being paid in no measured terms against his staff. "Select a lot of kids I never saw," he vociferated. "I'll send the whole lot their notice this minute—I could write."

Timothy's Aftermath

A young author remarked to a friend, "I wish I had some way of developing my imagination." "Once had an accident," the friend replied. "I have over known," answered his friend. With a look of surprise, the young author asked: "What did he do?" "What did he get?" The answer came sadly: "He got the delirium tremens."

Had Time Right

One Saturday night a laborer asked his boss if he might get off for the afternoon, one week from the following Thursday, to go to the funeral of a friend. "I guess you can, Jim, but that seems like a long time ahead. Are you sure you have the day right?" "O yes, sir," "Well, when did your friend die?" "He died," he heard, "that he was to be buried a week from Wednesday."

Worry Transferred

"The trouble with you is the same as with another patient," said the doctor. "He worried and got nervous depression. He was worrying himself to death about his tailor's bill. Now he is cured." "But how did you cure him?" asked the patient. "I told him to stop worrying, and he has," replied the doctor. "I know," was the doleful answer. "I know he has. But I am his tailor."

The Fireplace

Those who are supplied with fireplaces in their homes feel no resentment as the chilly evenings of the early fall arrive, with their promise of colder evenings and the winter not far away. The child who is well content because it provides good reason for a place in the fireplace with the joy and good cheer possible as the fire crackles and develops, the ashes drop and the fire burns free.

So glad are they in the morning sky, The vapors hug the stream— Who says that life and love can die in all this northern glare? At every turn the maples burn, The quail is whistling free, The partridge whirs, and the frosted birds Are dropping for you and me. Ho! Billy! Ho! Hail! O! Billy! Ho! In the clear October morning.

Going A-Nothing

No clouds are in the morning sky, The vapors hug the stream— Who says that life and love can die in all this northern glare? At every turn the maples burn, The quail is whistling free, The partridge whirs, and the frosted birds Are dropping for you and me. Ho! Billy! Ho! Hail! O! Billy! Ho! In the clear October morning.

Along our path the woods are bold, And glow with ripe desire; The yellow chestnut showers its gold, The sunbeams spread their fire; The buzzards feel as crisp as steel, The buckwheat tops are red; Then down the lane, love, scurry again And evoke the stubble tread! Ho! Billy! Ho! Hail! O! Billy! Ho! In the clear October morning.

—EDMUND CLARENCE STEEDMAN.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

The various political organizations should not have much of a job this year in finding suitable rooms for their headquarters. With the new Enterprise and Eske blocks open to the public there is considerable office space available, all well located and admirably adapted for political uses.

Patrick F. Nestor, who nosed out Owen Brennan for the honor of helping Charlie Stowey represent a part of Lowell's water-borne democracy at Beacon Hill for the next pair of years, is busy getting out the vote in his district. It was on Mr. Nestor's petition that the board of elections granted another night registration session for wards five and nine.

The John W. Davis for president club and the O'Sullivan campaign committee have opened their quarters in the Washington bank building and the city are being put to good use. Campaign workers are meeting there daily to exchange experiences and plan future activities. "Comme ça va," said a champion of the democratic city committee, is generalissimo of the O'Sullivan forces.

It is not unlikely that Humphrey O'Sullivan, who shares of the local democracy, will broadcast many his speeches in his campaign to oust John Jacob Rogers from the chair of congressman from the 5th district. The amplifying device used here at the corner, O'Sullivan's winning rally a few days ago made a great hit with Mr. O'Sullivan. He found out that Boston's mayor has two of these devices and is trying to get the use of

ONE FOR A FEW DAYS AND NIGHTS DURING THE CAMPAIGN.

I was talking the other day with Miss Lillian Desnoide, leading woman of the Stanley James Playco at the Opera House and she told me that her stock company playing in Youngstown, Ohio, was the first theatrical company to stage a benefit for the Lorain sufferers during the summer months. Miss Desnoide ran a benefit performance at those park at which the mayor and other city officials of Youngstown all did a turn and over $500 was realized and immediately forwarded.

Lowell motorists may notice that the most conspicuous item of a Sub-bath day ride out Lexington way is the roadside market, which reaches bigger proportion there, it seems, than anywhere else in New England. Par-ticularly on the road, stands, not only in Lexington but along practically every public highway, literally block the roads at times. No matter how careful a driver may be, he can never tell when some individual laden with farm produce will dash recklessly in front of his wheels from the congestion of vehicles parked along the roadside.

Headmaster Henry H. Harris of the high school is one of the most ardent radio fans in the city and he is so well pleased with radio that he believes every high school should number at least one first class radio receiving set as its property. Harris, who he advocated the purchase of a good set for the local high school, without success, and he has again placed himself on record as in favor of the purchase of radio apparatus. He believes in the physics department is the principle of radio telegraphy and telephony is to be taught in a successful manner. It is certain that if the school were equipped with a good radio receiving set, that greater interest would be shown by the students in the study of electricity.

The various clubs being conducted at the Lowell State Normal school afford the students an opportunity to become versed in parliamentary law as well as along educational and recreational lines. The clubs this year are many and each has an extensive and elaborate program. Foremost among the clubs are the Glee club and the Dramatic club under the supervision of Miss Inez Field Damon and Miss Helen Hogan, both of the faculty. The Big Sisters club is doing much in the line of charity work throughout the city, thereby enabling the students to get an idea of the so-called service work being done locally. The Art club, Marching club, and Psychology club are also among the organizations and some students are members of three and sometimes four clubs.

I read by the papers that final arrangements have been made for the marriage of James Cruise, director of that great photography, "The Covered Wagon," and Miss Betty Compton. Don't know Betty, but she looks real sweet on the screen. In the same paper I read that Miss Gladys Hulet, screen star, has asked permission to bring suit for divorce against her husband by advertising through the California newspapers. Two romances shot to the front there, I was told. It was so many years ago when Mr. Cruise and Miss Hulet were both on the payroll of the old Thimbleau studios in New Rochelle, N. Y., makers of the first successful motion picture serial ever produced, "The Million Dollar Mystery."

written by Lloyd Longman and Har-old McGrath. At that time I was interested in the exploitation of the Thimbleau products and came to meet Mr. Cruise and later Miss Hulet. Jimmy Cruise was not so famous then and was married to one of the sweetest girls in the picture world—Marguerite—-or "Peggy"—Shook. They were happy then, but since the picture game went west, their romance seemed to have faded up. Miss Hulet was a pretty girl who joined Thimbleau soon after Florence Leblond. "This accident girl" was killed when her machine overturned. She married Billy Parks, Jr., son of the famous director who was then working for Thimbleau. Young Billy co-starred with her in several films and I thought their love was of the sort that lasts forever. Billy, however, must have got the wanderlust and Gladys, well shackled, is still a star.

Hymns

Hal Cochran's DAILY POEM

The world rolls along on the bill of a song and there's music wherever you go. There's harmony sweet that is really a treat and an aid for we folks here below.

We rise in the morning and start out to hum, as any old song comes to mind. It brings on the cheerful and chases the gloom, and it keeps up the spirit, we find.

The popular airs that we crave for today are picked on whenever we begin it. We'll never run out of these airs, so they say, 'cause a new one comes out every minute.

The bla-bla and jazz of the great modern song, played over and over again, gets tiresome, and then there is really relief, when we try out a hymn now and then.

When flicking the keys, just in popular airs, and keeping your voice right in trim, you'll find that you'll get a new thrill from your wares if you'll now and then warble a hymn. (Copyright, 1924, The Lowell Sun.)

speaking immigrants bound for Lowell arrived in Boston on the Samaria Wednesday and two more arrived in New York on the Lancia early this week.

DISCUSS PLANS FOR VAUDEVILLE SHOW

Plans for a vaudeville show were discussed by members of the Junior Y.W.C.A. at a regular meeting last night and Bernard Knapp and Miss Mary Cohen were named to direct the show. The following were chosen as the committee in charge: Miss Fannie Faldman, chairman; Miss Frances Sokolsky, secretary; Miss Pearl Welner, treasurer; Miss Mildred Frank, publicity; Miss Frances Carr, Miss Evelyn Carr and Miss Sadie Malkiel.

Gym classes were formed and work will begin at the Y.W.C.A. next week. It was also voted to publish a club paper each month and Miss Ann La-bovitch was chosen editor-in-chief.

FRATERNAL NEWS

The installation of officers featured a meeting of Court St. Paul, D.F.C., last evening in the club rooms in Moody street and a large attendance took part in the affair. Deputy Chief Wanger Jordon Parent of Sacred Heart court, Lawrence, was in charge of the installation and was assisted by Joseph Cote of the same court and F. X. Rivet of this city, director of the state court. The officers installed follow: Chief ranger, Mederie Gaudet; vice chief ranger, Ferdinand Rousseau; secretary, Raoul Monnier; financial secretary, J. A. Robillard; treasurer, Arthur Lavoie; orator, Joseph F. Gobin; syndico for three years, John Pinard; first sentinel, Edmond Lambert; second sentinel, Ovide Cyr; outside sentinel, R. J. Pelletier; interior sentinel, Odille Bourassa; chaplain, Rev. Augustin Graton, O.M.I.

Following the installation, interesting talks on the order were given by the new officers and guests from a local court. It was also announced during the evening that Arthur Lavoie, former treasurer of the court, had been named deputy high chief ranger by General High Chief Ranger Thomas Cannon of Chicago.

The Pawtucketville Social club met in regular session in its club rooms last evening with President Alphonse Fortier in the chair. Several committee chairmen reported and were voted the thanks of the organization for their work. An invitation from the Centralville Social club to attend a buffet lunch to be held at the Centralville organization's club rooms was extended by Sec. Arthur Giroux.

A splendid musical program featured a meeting of the British-American club Wednesday evening in the Free church, and opportunity was also taken at this meeting to welcome home Mrs. Nolan, financial secretary, who has recently returned from a trip to England. The entertainment program follows: Piano solo, Miss Jennie Eskey; song, "Absence," Mrs. Riggs; song, Mrs. Buchanan; guessing contest, Mrs. Cowgell; war jokes, Mrs. Riggs; and Mrs. Lanson; song, Miss Eskey; reading, "Jimburger Cheese," Mrs. Greenwood; "Town's Gossip," Mrs. Lanson; Mrs. Bagley, Mrs. Blakely, Mrs. Cowgell, Mrs. Buchanan, Mrs. Riggs, Mrs. Tatoo, Mrs. Greenwood and Mrs. Higgs; songs, Mrs. Bagley; piano duet, Miss Eskey and Miss Bagley.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Kay, assisted by several club members. At the conclusion of the meeting, Mrs. Whitely presented the club a picture representing England and America, and she was extended the thanks of the organization for her gift.

HARVEST SUPPER
AT DRACUT CHURCH

Hillside church members in Dracut entertained last evening with a harvest supper and enjoyable entertainment, arranged by active workers in the religious organization affiliated with the Ladies' Aid society. The electrical lighting system in the church interior acted badly for some mysterious reason, and the supper and entertainment were conducted in rather darkened quarters, the parishioners being compelled to light candles hurriedly secured by Peter Bolton.

The supper was arranged and served by the following Dracut mothers: Mrs. Thomas Hickey, Mrs. Henry Hamer, Mrs. Walter Griffin, Mrs. Roy Laurie, Mrs. William Kearns, Mrs. John Smith, Mrs. John Nichols and Misses Clementine Griffin and Mary Smith. The following were waitresses: Elsie Blizard, Doris Tucker, Evelyn Lyons, Rosamund Steinhorn, Hilda Tucker, Irene Hill, Isabelle Litchfield, Alice Bolton and Ella Wagner. Music was played by Miss Daisy Ryder and Thomas Clark during the supper hour.

A tableau entitled "The Seasons" was presented under the direction of Mrs. Herbert Lyon with the following cast: January, "Winter Girl," Evelyn Lyon; February, "Valentine Girl," Isabelle Litchfield; March, "Irish Colleen," Hazel Inch; April, "Easter Girl," Elsie Blizard; May, "Mayflower," Madeline Lyon; June, "Bride," Doris Tucker; July, "Peaches," Isabelle Litchfield; August, "Drinking Girl," Ruth Pelton; September, "Golf Girl," Hilda Tucker; October, "Harvest Moon," Mr. and Mrs. William Kearns; November, "Puritans," Elsie and Douglas Blizard; December, "Christmas morning," Muriel Hamer and Thomas Hickey.

During the presentation of the tableau, a duet was sung by Mr. and Mrs. Simon Heyworth. The choir joined in the choruses.

The active officers of the Ladies'

Aid society are: President, Mrs. Herbert Lyon; vice-president, Mrs. Walter Griffin; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Harvey Klusland.

LOWELL PLUMBERS' OUTING
Yesterday at Centennial grove, Essex, members of the Lowell Master Plumbers' association held their annual outing and had as their guests 30 members of the sales and jobber forces of the various concerns. A buffet luncheon was served at noon and was followed by a program of sports. A baseball game was the feature of the sports program and a team captained by Dan Carroll defeated the sales' force team. Dinner was served at 1 o'clock and at its conclusion the party returned to this city. John A. Coter was chairman of the committee in charge and was assisted by William F. Farrell and John Quigley.

FAREWELL PARTY
Mrs. Dorothy L. Triles, who is soon to sever her connections with the C. H. Willis market was tendered a farewell party at the home of Mrs. Best in Mammoth road last evening. Mrs. Triles has been connected with the Willis firm for five years and last evening her many friends availed themselves of the opportunity to voice their appreciation of her services. She was presented a beautiful opalescent tea set, the presentation being made by Miss Dorothy Nolan. A buffet luncheon was served by Mrs. Best and an enjoyable entertainment program was given by Miss Alice Best, Miss Dorothy Nolan, Miss Ethel Devno, Mrs. Triles, Miss Dorothy Best, Miss Lois Hamilton, Miss Gertrude Boyle, Miss Leblanc and Miss Kathryn Tuck.

MARRIAGE INTENTIONS
The following marriage intentions have been filed at the office of the city clerk: David Bonvier, 516 Moody, automobile dealer; Marguerite Carrier, 110 Mt. Washington, at home.
Frank C. Johnson, Westford, Mass., tea dealer; Mildred A. Upton, 212 Parker, music teacher.

ANDERSON IS PRESIDENT

Lowell Trades and Labor Council Elects Officers at Regular Meeting

Lowell Trades and Labor council members elected Charles E. Anderson president to serve for the ensuing six months, at a regular meeting of the organization, held last evening in Trades and Labor hall. Other officers were elected as follows:

Vice-president, Michael McGowan; secretary, Parker E. Murphy; assistant secretary, Rachel Campbell; treasurer, Annie Reagan; trustees, Patrick Pol, Thomas Crowe and Frank Horn. Sergeant-at-arms, Daniel Moynihan. The United Textile Workers' International union officials sent a communication to the Lowell council, stating that the striking silk workers in Paterson, N. J., are not a part of the U.T.W.A. organization, and not even affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

The following members comprise a committee appointed to take charge of the council's non-partisan political campaign: Timothy Dwyer, chairman; Rachel Campbell, secretary; George Moussette, Frank Horn, Michael Reagan, Patrick Pol and Annie Odell. This committee will have full charge of a local campaign of support for all friends of labor in the national, state and municipal elections.

PROTESTS TO FRANCE

Chinese Foreign Office Objects to Sale of Airplanes to Manchurian War Leader

PEKING, Oct. 3 (By the Associated Press)—The Chinese foreign office has protested to the French legation concerning the alleged sale of 20 airplanes to Chang Tso-Lin, the Manchurian war lord who is at war with the Peking government. A French steamer is reported to be conveying the machines to China.

The government has requested the Japanese authorities at Dulon, on the Kwangtung peninsula to hold up the planes if they arrive there.

DOG WATCHES OVER BODY OF MASTER

Guarded by his faithful dog, the body of Ralph E. Ford, aged 25, of Hudson, N. H., was found late yesterday afternoon in the woods on the Tyngsboro side of the state line by a searching party which had been formed when Ford failed to return to his home yesterday morning from a coon hunting trip he had started on the evening previous.

When found by the searching party, the body was lying face down in the ground under a tree and it is believed Ford climbed the tree after a coon and was thrown to the ground when a branch broke. Death had evidently been instantaneous.

The dog, a hound which had accompanied the deceased on many coon hunting expeditions, had stayed by the side of his master for nearly 24 hours without either food or water. When the ambulance arrived he had to be forcibly restrained.

Deceased was born in Tyngsboro April 13, 1899, and was the son of James W. and Mary (Collins) Ford. Four brothers and four sisters, who reside at the family farm in Hudson, survive him.

AT GREENHALGE SCHOOL

Haverhill Women Address
Meeting of the Parent-
Teacher Association

Mrs. E. V. French of Haverhill, president of the State Council Parent-Teacher associations and Mrs. James Feehey, also of Haverhill, councillor of the same organization, were the speakers before the first season meeting of the Greenhalge Parent-Teacher Association held yesterday afternoon in the school auditorium. An interesting talk on the work of the associations and the organization matters to come before the convention to be held in Boston, Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week was given and proved most instructive and interesting.

Gertrude Cinqmars, president of the local organization, presided at the busness session of the association, following which an entertaining program was given by pupils of Miss Doris Conley. Refreshments were served by the publicity committee and a social hour was enjoyed.

FOR MISS PERRON

Miss Elsie B. Perron, recording secretary of the committee in charge of entertaining the delegates to the Christian Endeavor convention to be held here October 16-19, has been appointed vice-president and prayer meeting supervisor of the Middlesex County Christian Endeavor union. Miss Perron, who is also serving on the information committee locally, has held numerous responsible positions in the Christian Endeavor field of work and her recent appointment as a member of the county executive board was welcome news to her many friends and acquaintances.

Together with her work locally Miss Perron is in charge of making the badges to be worn by the delegates at

CO-WORKERS HONOR
MISS LENA PICARD

Miss Lena Picard, an employee at the Lowell Trust company, was tendered a farewell dinner at Marie's last evening, by her co-workers. Following the dinner the party repaired to the home of the prospective bride in Lakeview avenue, where a reception was held. Miss Picard was presented a purse of gold by her friends, after which an enjoyable program of entertainment was given. Miss Ruth McLaughlin and Miss Anna Curran were in charge of the affair.

The convention, the insignias which were woven at the Lowell Textile school, are of blue ribbon inscribed with gold letters attached to a bar and medallion. Assisting Miss Perron in the work are Miss Frances Trull, Miss Carrie Stewart, Miss Myrtle Melten, Mrs. Sarah Thyns and Forrest S. Varney.

HIGHER WAGES FOR THE POSTOFFICE CLERKS

Lowell members of Branch 31, National Federation of Postoffice Clerks, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, are today discussing with an earnestness and sincerity that is rare, arrangements now being consummated to start a new country-wide campaign for higher wage adjustments.

Some time in the near future, there will be called a special meeting of representatives of the Massachusetts Postoffice Clerks' organization, when a complete program will be presented and discussed. The purpose of the enrollment of members all in a new and organized effort to win the cause they are stoutly defending.

Just before the incoming session of congress in December, the sturdy campaigners will be prepared to secure at the next legislative session in Washington, the re-admission of the bill No. 1593, for consideration and hoped-for enactment passage. President Calvin Coolidge vetoed this bill on June 7, 1924, though house and senate representatives approved it almost unanimously.

Secretary-Treasurer Thomas F. Flaherty of the National Federation, has just sent a lengthy communication to the Lowell branch of post office clerks, members being much pleased to know that the active leaders of the campaign have been instrumental in distributing a great deal of new information covering in detail the aims and purposes of the postoffice clerks of the United States and the inland possessions in their claims for more adequate postal wage standards.

The postoffice clerks are well aware that they are not seeking salary raises, but salary adjustments on a basis of wages and cost of living in the year 1912. Developments since the veto of the postal pay bill last June, indicate clearly the necessity for vigorous continuing the campaign for more adequate postal wage standards.

Secretary-Treasurer Flaherty declares in his open letter, Mr. Flaherty explains the situation as it is at the present time, as follows:—

"The public should be informed that the vetoed bill (Senate No. 1593), the modified Kelly-Edge bill, by the way—is now before the senate and can be taken up for reconsideration when congress assembles on December 1, 1924. Our wish is that the senate pass the bill, the veto of the president notwithstanding. The house will then have an opportunity to vote on it.

"Every postoffice clerk should be interested enough in this attempt to secure for himself a $300 pay increase, introduced to July 1, 1924, to write a personal letter to senators and congressmen and get his friends to do likewise. Just before the election, a personal expression from a voter, in this way legislators will realize that there is really strong public sentiment behind this present urge for better postal pay rates.

"It is advisable to acquaint members of congress and the public with the highly important fact that the postal service is now financially self-sustaining. The money deficit which was assigned as one reason for refusing a pay adjustment last June, is now non-existent. Here are the facts: From June 30, 1923, to June 30, 1924, the postal employees by their efficient services, have cut the postal deficit from $130,122,465 to $12,533,849. The service right now is self-sustaining financially, and the bogey of a huge deficit cannot with good grace be used against us to defeat our just insistence for pay increases."

A well known leader in the local postoffice clerks' branch organization offers the following statement in behalf of the membership of Branch 31:—

"Fortunately for the postal service clerks, the president's veto did not cause the loss of an earnest cause in compensation. The president's action halting the progress of a modified postal salary increase bill on the day congress adjourned, was a keen disappointment to all who have been convinced and can prove that the postal clerks and clerks are entitled to more than they now receive."

"Postal employment requires a high degree of intelligence, and such slight advancement as is possible follows the development of considerable skill. Unfortunately for the employee, it is not skill which can be put to creative use in another line of employment. Two major considerations are involved in the quest of the postal employee for more pay. The first is that they should not be required to work for less than the scale generally prevailing in industry and commerce. In the second place, remuneration should be attractive enough to stabilize the personnel of the department and improve its morale."

"Efficient service cannot be maintained in the face of a rapid turnover of workers. Where, as efficient service counts more than it does in the postoffice department, where the expeditious handling and dispatch of mails depend on the experience and intelligence of trained men."

"If there is one class of public servants which deserves a ready recognition in wages, that class is the postal service. The present wages are not above those paid to ordinary day laborers. As an editor in a well known Rhode Island city expressed it only a few weeks ago:—

"Postal clerks try to maintain themselves and their families on a decent standard of living, educate their children and put a little by for old age. With the salaries they are now receiving, the task is well-nigh impossible."

"Secretary-Treasurer Flaherty calls attention to the postoffice clerks of Lowell and vicinity affiliated with Branch 31, that if 'the individual' will do his part, a strong ground work will be laid for collective action through the locals. Committees are to be appointed to work in the local districts, preferably in conjunction with similar committees from the other affiliated organizations of postal workers. These committees have been requested by Secretary-Treasurer Flaherty to visit local labor, civic, fraternal and other bodies of citizens and if possible enlist the active support of such agencies for the passage of senate bill No. 1598—the modified Kelly-Edge bill. In other words, the postal clerks through their strong union organization, are prepared to take up the gauge of battle where they left off last June, and insist of them living in Lowell and suburbs as a fairly confident that their cause is just and that they will win the first skirmish in December next."

There is a strict ordinance prohibiting the abuse of cars in St. Ives, the famous Cornish fishing town.

MANSLAUGHTER CASE IN THE JUVENILE COURT

Joseph A. Jodoin, 16, of Woonsocket, R. I., operator of the automobile which struck and killed six-year-old Dorothy Gilman in the Kenwood section of Dracut about a week and a half ago, was arraigned in juvenile court on a manslaughter charge this morning. His case was continued to Oct. 10 with bonds fixed at $1000.

POLICE MAKE LIQUOR SEIZURE AND ARREST

After Captain Palmer and Officers Alfred Kilroy and William Keegan of the liquor squad had raided the premises alleged to belong to Omer Delectur

In the rear of 787 Lakeview avenue and placed about 2000 quarts of liquor on a truck, Rene Chandonnet sought to confiscate some of the goods for himself and was promptly arrested on a charge of larceny.

The raid took place shortly before 11 o'clock today, Delectur being locked up for illegal keeping and Chandonnet for larceny. They will appear in district court tomorrow.

STRUCK BY AUTOMOBILE

Dorothy Taylor, aged nine years, of 14 London street, was slightly injured shortly after 5 o'clock this morning when she was struck by an automobile operated by John J. Mahoney of Cambridge. Firemen returning from a minor blaze in Gorham street rendered first aid to the girl and she was taken by Mr. Mahoney to St. John's hospital, where it is reported she is not seriously injured and is resting comfortably.

YOUNG WOMEN'S HEBREW ASSOCIATION

A meeting of the Lowell Young Women's Hebrew association was held last Tuesday evening, which proved to be both interesting and entertaining. During the first part of the evening, a short business meeting was held, at which Miss Ida Fox was chosen as head of the Hadassah work of the organization. Plans were also completed for a Halloween costume party to be held Wednesday, Oct. 22, at the Highland club house. The latter part of the evening was spent in enjoying a "kiddy party." All of the members were dressed in "kiddy" dresses and they all made a very fine showing indeed. A group picture was taken, after which dancing and refreshments followed. "Kiddy" games were also played under the direction of Miss Rose Brown. Miss Mary Cohen gave a recitation and a dance was given by Misses Gertrude Maklei and Anna Shapira.

NO REGULAR SESSION OF DISTRICT COURT

Owing to an unusually long list of juvenile cases this morning, there was no regular session of the district court. Judge Earlight being occupied with juveniles the entire morning.

FOOTBALL CHAMPIONS

The 1923 football champions of the city—the O.M.C. Cadets—will formally open their season next Sunday afternoon, when they tackle the Ponies on the First street oval at 2:30 o'clock. Last week the Ponies put up a great exhibition against the fast Butler A.C. team and are confident of giving the Cadets their first defeat in two years. All the regulars in the Cadet lineup will be called upon to perform Sunday and a close game is anticipated.

There are many small holes or cells in wood, some of which have very little moisture in them.

CHANGE IN LA FOLLETTE CAMPAIGN PLANS

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—An eleven-hour switch of campaign plans, whereby Senator La Follette would concentrate his personal campaign for the presidency in the New England states, New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania, will be discussed by the independent candidate and leaders of his movement at a conference in Washington this afternoon, according to Gilbert E. Roe, campaign manager for the independent ticket.

CONTESTED DIVORCE CASE

The contested divorce libel of Mary D. Gosselin vs. Pierre Gosselin, both of Westford, charging desertion, was opened shortly before noon today in probate court at the Gorham street courthouse before Judge John C. Leggett. Mrs. Gosselin is represented by Atty. Albert O. Hamel and Atty. Arthur H. Rao represents the respondent.

Games—Best four out of seven to decide championship; first and second game scheduled Saturday and Sunday in Washington; third and fourth and fifth in New York, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday; sixth in Washington Thursday; place for seventh, if necessary to be decided by toss of coin.

Time of games—Daily at 2 p. m., eastern standard time.

Capacity of Parks—37,000 in Washington; 54,000 in New York.

Probable opening day batteries—Johnson and Ruel for Washington; McQuillan and Gowdy for New York.

Umpires—Quigley and Klein, representing National league; Connolly and Dineen, representing the American league.

mistake signs that a test of baseball governing authority is imminent. Although he did not specifically refer to the assertions of Dan Johnson, president of the American league, and Barney Dreyfuss, president of the Pittsburgh Nationals, that the revelations were sufficient to warrant calling off the world series, Commissioner Landis left no doubt that his answer to them was his statement: "It seems to me for those not clothed with responsibility to keep their shirts on."

Johnson for Federal Probe

Johnson, who also declared his intention to demand a sweeping federal investigation to wipe out all alleged crookedness connected with the present scandal in particular and the national game in general, was expected here today.

The American league executive will complete the personnel of the advisory council, the other members of which are Commissioner Landis and John A. Heydler, president of the National league.

Landis, maintaining a somewhat sphinx-like attitude throughout yesterday's turbulent developments, has not indicated whether he will lay the case before the advisory council, the general meeting of club owners, or take further steps of any kind. On the other hand, he also refused to admit the case "closed," although Heydler had previously classified it as such.

The big question that remained unresolved to the satisfaction of close observers and apparently to baseball fandom at large, was the motivating influence in the alleged action of Dolan and O'Connell.

On all sides it is being asked whether the approach of Sand by O'Connell, who says he was prompted by Dolan, a spontaneous scheme of their own individual creation, as Heydler and John McGraw, manager of the Giants, declare it to be, or was it a carefully concocted deal, prearranged and instigated by someone "behind the scenes," and not yet brought into the searching light of investigation?

In the opinion of many closely observed of the situation, it seems inconceivable that O'Connell and Dolan acted alone and without influence behind them. O'Connell, in his confession to Commissioner Landis and in his newspaper statements, has named other Giant stars—Frank Frisch, George Kelly and Ross Young—but the findings of Commissioner Landis exonerated them. O'Connell, in more sweeping fashion, declared his team mates "were all in it."

But, regardless of the merits of these implications, an undercurrent of opinion has persisted that the final analysis may disclose a source unconnected with the playing field. Coming on top of an almost unprecedented wave of enthusiasm with the advent into the diamond championship of Washington's first pennant winner, the sudden injection of scandal has stirred fandom's temperature to fever pitch, and it appeared that only the most sweeping sort of action would satisfy popular opinion.

Teams Ready For Battle

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—(By the Associated Press) Members of the Washington Senators and New York Giants, ignoring to all outward appearance the cloud of scandal that has been turning over the scene, today geared their machines for the opening world series game tomorrow before probably the most notable gathering that has ever witnessed baseball's blue ribbon event. The Senators were slated for their final drill this morning, with the Giants applying the finishing touches to their practice in the afternoon.

Walter Johnson, idol of Washington fandom who shares with his young manager, "Bucky" Harris, the heroic roles in Washington's triumph, will pitch the opening game and attempt to gain the crown of glory he has been seeking for 18 seasons. Opposed to him probably will be Hughie McQuillan, right handed ace of the Giant hurling corps, although Manager McGraw may switch to his southpaw sharp-shooter, Art Nehf.

Washington will start its fight for the championship with the same lineup that carried the club to the American league top. With Johnson opposed to them, the Giants are expected to take the field with Terry, a youngster and left-handed batter, on first, Kelly, regular first sacker, in center field, and Jack Wilson, another new comer, in left field in place of Irish Meusel. Captain Frank Frisch's finger has recovered sufficiently to assure his return to the keystone post, but Helme Groh, regular third baseman, still is holding around on a cane as a result of a twisted knee, and Freddy Lindstrom, 18-year-old schoolboy, will open the series at the hot corner.

Except that Frisch will be back, this make-up of the Giant machine corresponds with that figured in the club's winning dash for the pennant in the closing days of the campaign. Meanwhile, President Coolidge was said to have perfected a wind-up for the throw-out that will set the series in motion, while Washington officials prepared to start in the spectacle. Despite the efforts at rejuvenation, federal and local authorities, ticket speculators overnight continued to do a flourishing business. Three game ticket strips were sold in some cases for $30, as compared with the face value of $18.50, while single game pastboards for the opening went as high as $20 and $25, depending on location.

Scandal Prevented Strike

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—The baseball scandal which eliminated Jimmy O'Connell and Cozy Dolan from organized baseball probably prevented a strike of the New York players in the world series which is about to start in Washington.

The New York players recently declined to confer with Stanley Harris and the other Washington players over calling a strike unless the players received their salary for the games in addition to their world series money.

At the joint meeting of the two big leagues last winter it was voted on that the players this year would only receive their world series share and no pay for the games.

With a scandal at their door, it is not likely that the New York players will go through with their plans to call a strike.

Pays Tribute to Sand

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 3.—Organized baseball should show its appreciation of the act of Helme Sand, Philadelphia shortstop, in exposing the attempt to bribe him, says George A. Putnam, discoverer of Jimmy O'Connell, and secretary of the San Francisco club of the Pacific coast baseball league.

The world series players' share which would have gone to O'Connell and Dolan, should be given to Sand, said Putnam.

BEQUESTS IN WILL OF EX-GOV. DOUGLAS

BROOKTON, Mass., Oct. 3.—Judge Warren A. Reed, the executor of the will of the late ex-Governor William L. Douglas, announced the principal bequests made. No estimate of the real or personal estate of the late shore manufacturer was made, but an inventory will be prepared before the will is offered for probate next week, at the Dedham court.

Mr. Douglas gives his homes in Brookline and Marlon, with furniture and fixtures, to his wife absolutely outright.

The Universalist church of which Mr. Douglas was a member, receives $10,000.

The rest and residue goes to the Home National bank of which Mr. Douglas was a director to be held in trust, the bank to pay the income in part to the wife during life and to two daughters and several grandchildren.

Judge Reed is authorized to dispose of a twisted knee, and Freddy Lindstrom, 18-year-old schoolboy, will open the series at the hot corner.

Except that Frisch will be back, this make-up of the Giant machine corresponds with that figured in the club's winning dash for the pennant in the closing days of the campaign. Meanwhile, President Coolidge was said to have perfected a wind-up for the throw-out that will set the series in motion, while Washington officials prepared to start in the spectacle. Despite the efforts at rejuvenation, federal and local authorities, ticket speculators overnight continued to do a flourishing business. Three game ticket strips were sold in some cases for $30, as compared with the face value of $18.50, while single game pastboards for the opening went as high as $20 and $25, depending on location.

NEW LABOR BOSS

Ramsay MacDonald is losing his hold on Britain's labor party. So, at least, many London politicians think. And John Wheatley (above), radical minister of health in MacDonald's cabinet, looks as his most probable successor, they say.

Series opening was hailed by Washington fans today as an omen for triumph by Walter Johnson, Senators' pitching ace and his speed ball. Stopping in front of a newspaper office, Johnson was encountered by a youth bearing the latest meteorological reports.

"Here's good news for you, Walter," the youth volunteered and Johnson grinned as he was handed the bit of encouragement.

"I don't remember," said Dolan. WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Judge Landis was confronted by the nemesis of lawyers in his cross-questioning of Cozy Dolan, in the baseball scandal investigation. From each query of the commissioner, Dolan took refuge behind the conventional first aid to witnesses:

"I can't remember."

A reporter said to Cozy: "Isn't that a weak position? If you were guilty or innocent, why did you not answer yes or no instead of 'I can't remember'?"

"It's a habit of speech, I guess," Cozy replied.

TO DROP PROCEEDINGS AGAINST FIRPO

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Immigration Commissioner Curran has recommended to the labor department at Washington that the deportation proceedings against Luis Firpo be dropped, and that the warrant of arrest be cancelled. Commissioner Curran said the evidence given at the hearing on Ellis Island did not bear out the charges that Firpo had imported a woman into this country for immoral purposes.

Mr. Sandler, speaking for Canon William S. Chase, who instituted the deportation and perjury proceedings, announced that at the perjury hearing, which will be public, "all of the testimony given in the secret proceedings will be given in the public hearing and the public so that it may know for itself whether deportation should be warranted."

Canon Chase charged that Firpo brought Miss Blanco Lourdes Fleart into this country when he came here last summer to fight Harry Wills.

INTERNATIONAL AIR RACES AT DAYTON

DAYTON, O., Oct. 3.—(By the Associated Press)—Four races and an aerial "gymkhana" constituted the program for the international air races today, which will get under way at 5.30 with the Mulvihill model trophy race.

The world fliers are expected to get in some time this afternoon, and they will be guests tonight at the annual dinner of the American Aeronautic association which will announce its officers for the ensuing year at that time.

The second race on today's program will be for the Aviation Town and Country club of Detroit trophy, and will start at 10.45, at 12.50 the Dayton chamber of commerce trophy race will be flown over a 150-mile course and the Dayton Daily News trophy will be contested for at 2.30 p. m. over a 25-mile course.

The John L. Mitchell trophy race and the Pulitzer race, the supreme event of the meeting, will be flown tomorrow.

STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Stock prices moved within narrow and irregular limits at the opening of today's stock market with no definite trend apparent in the first few minutes of trading. Lackawanna, selling ex-dividend, recovered its dividend on the first sale and then moved up to 140, which represented a net gain of 2 1/2 points. Baldwin and American Can opened slightly higher but United States Steel common showed a slight fractional loss on the first sale.

Uneven price movements marked the morning. Weakness of Lehigh Valley, American Sugar Refining and Cuba Cane Sugar preferred, each of which lost two points, encouraged short selling. American Can, Colorado Fuel, Pullman and American Woolen, buying of the last named being influenced by the announcement that the company's mills at Lawrence had booked sufficient orders to assure steady operations until the early part of 1925. Call money renewed at 2 1/2 per cent.

Little change occurred in prices of railroad shares during the afternoon selling which assumed widespread proportions among industrials and specialties. Losses of a point or so were common, including United States Steel, Baldwin and other favorite stocks. Nash Motor broke violently, losing 3 1/2 points, while Consolidated Gas of Baltimore gave way 1/2. Reversals of two to three points occurred in American Car and Foundry, Railway Steel Spring, General Electric, National Lead, May Department Stores and Worthington Pump preferred.

INTERESTING ADDRESS BY MAN FROM JAPAN

"Thoughtful people of Japan, although understanding that the great body of American citizens have sympathy for them, wonder if this is not really the challenge of the white race to the yellow," said Dr. William Axling, missionary of long experience, in an address delivered last evening before the members of First Baptist church.

The missionary has spent 23 years in the Orient, having been in charge of the Baptist Tabernacle in Tokyo, one of the largest Christian religious edifices in Japan. The missionary leader is in a position to present an intimate story of conditions in Japan today, and his discourse to the First Baptist congregation last evening, was deeply interesting from start to finish. The guest from the Orient was introduced by William Trull Sheppard.

Dr. Axling's address included vivid references to the great earthquake that occurred in Japan last year. More than 300,000 people were killed outright and 1,700,000 men, women and children made homeless by the great disaster, the missionary said. He described in interesting detail the campaign conducted by rescuers from every nation, with Americans leading the way with relief workers, and many millions of dollars.

Dr. Axling referred at length to the effect that the exclusion law has upon the Japanese people. He said the thing that has hurt Japan more than the earthquake, is the barring of her people of whatever class or grade of culture from entrance into the United States. The mission worker praised the Japanese people for loyally supporting mission campaigns and conducting welfare campaigns without foreign assistance.

"One of the greatest needs of Japan today," the missionary continued, "is a spiritual need, and the leaders of the nations know it. For years they have been steeped in fatalism. When their homes were destroyed in the last earthquake, the people were convinced that an evil genius was following them. They are beginning to feel that there is no help for them coming in the future."

For this reason—if for none other—there is today a great field for enlarged and successful work in the Japanese mission territories. Even though many Japanese refuse to accept the Christian religion, they approve of the Christian works performed by American missionaries.

In referring to race prejudice matters and the effect of United States exclusion laws upon the Orientals, Dr. Axling said, in part:

"The Japanese feel the sting of racial discrimination all the more keenly since here in the United States, many of the greatest Japanese statesmen have had their college training. One of them said, recently, that he feared the great spirit of brotherly love that he had found at Harvard university, when he was a student there, has vanished. He was convinced that the American people have grown materialistic. Some Japanese hope that in the years to come, American leaders in public life will rise up and demand that Japan be given the same rights of immigration as her sister nations of equal world standing."

Dr. Axling stated, in conclusion, that the Federal Council of Churches in America, and the nation-wide Japanese-American relations committee, were today carrying on publicity work designed to bring about a review of the Japanese exclusion act in 1927.

Jack Daw's Adventures. Chapter 16

"If you will just turn around and look, you can see for yourself what it was," replied the guide. And when Jack turned he saw a big rhinoceros. The animal's head was partly out of water and, as it looked back, it too, seemed to be laughing at the frightened adventurer.

Flip spied the animal and leaped into the water. Apparently the dog intended to go out and battle with the rhinoceros because it had scared his master. However, Jack whistled loudly and called the dog back to shore. "That animal's much too big for you," said Jack.

The rhinoceros, in the meantime turned about and slowly came up to where the explorers were standing. Jack made Flip lie down and held Flip in his arms. The big rhinoceros walked right up out of the water and opened his mouth again. It was the biggest mouth Jack had ever seen. (Continued.)

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

Olive Roberts Barton

SOAP CAKES AND WATERING POTS

"Heigh ho, heigh ho, heigh ho," he sang. "I am so happy! I am so happy! I am so happy!"

"What are you so happy about?" asked Twelve Toes the Shaver, who was one of his best friends.

"I'm so happy," sang Twelve Toes, "because the Sand Man has just left his sleep sand. You've got part of it, thanks to my awesomeness, and Tricky Tricky has part of it, and the rest is in Squeezlek Land. The Sand Man will never find it now."

"Don't be so sure about that," said share of the sleepy, sand in a flower pot with a rose planted in it. But the Sand Man came with the Twins and said a charm, "Immy Jiminy! Just like that. The first thing I knew the sand jumped right out of my flower pot into the Sand Man's sack."

"Toadstools and fuzzy worms!" cried Twelve Toes, "and without an other word he rushed to the mountain where Tricky Tricky lived."

"Quick!" he cried to that person. "Give me all the magic sand I left for you to keep for me. I'm afraid the Sand Man and the Twins will get it."

"Too late by three hours, forty minutes and six seconds," said Tricky. "The Sand Man was here and said a charm. I had the magic sand in a box and he said 'Immy Jiminy! Just like that and away it went.'"

"Pleasures and mosquitoes!" cried Twelve Toes, "I'm more crossly!"

And without another word he rushed to Squeezlek Land to see what had happened there.

It was just the same. The Squeezlek king told how the Sand Man and the Twins had fooled him completely and the Squeezlek Lord High Chancellor told how they had fooled him completely and run off with a whole sackful of sand.

"All my trouble for nothing!" said Twelve Toes gloomily. "I haven't a friend I can trust. I'll have to go to Crookabone and ask his advice."

Crookabone was the Gnome king who lived under the ground, and to him went Twelve Toes with his troubles.

"The Sand Man and the Twins have the magic sand again," he said, "and the first thing you know all the kids will get to sleep tonight."

Crookabone smiled a sour smile.

"They're not asleep yet," said he. "I have a plan. I can stop the Sand Man and the Twins before they get a hundred steps farther."

So he called a hundred of his workers together.

CHINA, Oct. 2.—(By the Associated Press.)—Since Manchurian troops captured Peking village, near Shanhaikwan, Tuesday after a night attack, the situation at the border town has been quiet. The Chihli casualties in Monday's fighting were under 200.

The Manchurian troops, which Chiang Tso-lin's airplanes have been dropping, contain a long denunciation of President Tsao-Kun, and promise to bring food supplies and other relief to the sufferers from the recent floods.

Without another word he rushed to Squeezlek Land to see what had happened there.

Wales Accepts Invitation

The acquaintance of Mr. and Mrs. Tuckerman with the prince goes back to the winter of 1922-23 when they hunted with him in Leicestershire, England. With them were James W. Appleton, M. F. H., of the Myopia Hunt club and Mrs. Clarence Hays, daughter of Francis R. Appleton of Ipswich. Since that meeting the prince has expressed great interest in the Myopia club and it is understood that it was principally his desire to follow the hounds across the beautiful North Shore country that led to his acceptance of the invitation.

It was stated that Sir Esme Howard, the British ambassador, had not yet been informed of the exact date of the arrival of the prince, nor of the full details of the itinerary of his return trip through the United States. The embassy, it was said, would probably be advised of these details in the near future and also of the date on which the prince would leave his ranch in western Canada. A previous rumor that the prince was to visit Boston was denied.

"On the arrival of the prince on this side, as I had known him pleasantly in the hunting field in England last year, I naturally extended him the courtesy of an invitation to our hunting country," Mr. Tuckerman said today. "At that time it appeared impossible to fit the visit into the prince's schedule and the invitation was politely declined. Later it became known that the prince's plans had been changed so as to make the visit possible. The invitation was renewed and I have the pleasure of the prince's final acceptance."

"With his interest in cross-country riding we had hoped that the prince might be here for the annual Myopia Hunt steeplechase at Willowdale on Saturday, Oct. 18, but this appears impossible, as he is scheduled to visit Chicago Oct. 12 and Detroit Oct. 15. We expect him some time shortly thereafter—say about Oct. 20. His stay will probably not exceed two or three days."

The Tuckerman house, a rambling mansion, stands on an eminence on the big estate which includes Dodge Fields, said to be the best riding grounds in the Myopia country.

The Myopia Hunt club, the home of the Myopia Hunt, which has drawn to the North Shore for years the most enthusiastic supporters of the sport in this country, is in the midst of a selling stretch of country that affords all the thrills required by the hunters, including many stone fences and water jumps.

Amusement Notes

THE STRAND. For his work in making "America," the super-photoplay being shown at the Strand, D. W. Griffith has been made an honorary member of the Minute Men of Lexington, the oldest military organization in the country. When 77 Americans met 300 British Regulars, the Minute Men voted unanimously the honorary membership. You will see the battle of Lexington and Concord fought all over again, and many other interesting phases of the American Revolution, as well as a delightful love romance that intermingles with outstanding historical facts. In making "America," a truly wonderful picture. Don't miss seeing it. Not finished a Lowell boy, is seen in the principal male role. Others of screen note are also engaged in this huge production. A comedy and variety as well as excellent musical numbers, make the offering one of genuine merit.

M. F. KEITH'S THEATRE. It is probable that there is no better baritone singer in vogue than Chetlain Campbell, who holds the top position at the M. F. Keith theatre. This week his program is unusual in every particular, but is enjoyed by all. Dan Coleman & Co. give a hilarious farce with music, and Melville & Deane sing and make fun. Others on the program are Roudini & Bernard, acrobats; "Pat" Thompson in "The Burglar's Union," and Cliff Jordan, manipulator.

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS

DAVIS AND SMITH CHEERED BY 13,000 IN MADISON SQ. GARDEN

Candidates Pledge Mutual Support—Davis Assails "Alibis" of Republicans—Smith Urges All to Register and Vote—Makes Attack on Coolidge

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—John W. Davis, democratic presidential nominee, and Governor Alfred E. Smith, gubernatorial candidate, speaking last night from the same platform in Madison Square Garden, where more than two months ago they were rivals for their party's nomination, pledged mutual support while 13,000 persons cheered their arraignment of the republican party. Mayor John P. Hylan, who spoke just before the two major candidates, gave his approval to their candidacies and pledged his support to the democratic ticket.

"Alibis" was the keynote of the address of Mr. Davis, and Governor Smith stressed the importance of universal exercise of the voting privilege as a panacea for governmental problems.

First of the "alibis" mentioned by Mr. Davis was that of Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior, which the presidential candidate said was the secretary's story of a $100,000 gift Theodore Roosevelt, then assistant secretary of the navy, also had an alibi, according to Mr. Davis who said that Colonel Roosevelt's was that he was only a messenger boy.

Then Mr. Davis continued his list of alibis, among which he included that of Edward L. Doheny and Attorney-General Daugherty.

Governor Smith told of the achievements in the state during his two years at Albany and compared the record his party made in the state to that made by the republican party in four years.

The Teapot Dome affair and the investigation of the veterans' bureau were mentioned by Governor Smith in a plea to the voters to repudiate the republican administration.

He pictured President Coolidge as inept in the hands of an insurgent congress which seized every opportunity to do the opposite of his bidding. Instead of the strong, silent leader the republican press bureau is striving to present to the prospective voter, the president is weak, vacillating and incapable of leading his own party, Governor Smith declared.

The audience gave Mr. Davis an enthusiastic greeting but reserved its most vigorous applause for "Al" Smith.

Next Thursday Fire Prevention Day
Confined
have got to keep fires from starting. I wish to call your attention to a few important rules.
Teachers and the older children of each school should be familiar with the location of the nearest fire alarm box and how to operate it.
Teachers are requested to see that the children in their charge know where the exits are and what to do in case of fire.
Rubbish heaps are fire breeders. Fires start in them and are fed by them.
A lean city will have few fires. Fires should never be put into wooden boxes or barrels or near fences or wooden partitions.
Burning trash or leaves too near buildings is very dangerous.
The careless use of pipes, cigars and cigarettes causes countless fires.
Smoking in factories, mills, shops, garages and garages should be absolutely forbidden.
A wooden box should never be used for a cupboard.
Electric light bulbs should never be covered with cloth or paper shades or decorations.
Movable gas jets are dangerous.

Curtains or draperies may blow against them by a draft from open windows.
Kerosene lamps and stoves should be kept clean.
Candles or lighted matches should not be taken into closets or other places where they may ignite inflammable materials.
Clothes hung too near a stove to dry are dangerous and cause many fires.
Gasoline and kerosene cleaning should be done in daylight and in the open air—never near an open flame.
Electric bathtubs should be provided with devices to show when current is on.
Oily rags or waste used for cleaning or any other purpose should be burned immediately after using.
Heads of families should have no matches in the house except those which light on the box. Such matches if accidentally dropped or secured by young children cannot be ignited on any ordinary surface. Hundreds of children are burned to death each year by the strike-anywhere match.
Do not have steam pipes in contact with wood work or near inflammable materials.
Do not permit rubbish to accumulate behind stoves or radiators.
Never run a stove pipe through a wooden partition without a metal shield and air space and do not paste paper over flue holes.
Do not allow your family to pour kerosene on the kitchen fire to hurry it along.
Never allow open flame lights in a garage. If the floor is wood scrub it occasionally with hot water and lye.
Do not keep quantities of gasoline inside a garage or dwelling. A metal waste can should be placed outside the garage for all oily waste and greasy rags. It is unsafe to use sawdust to absorb oil and grease in garages.
To use gasoline to clean parts of the automobile is dangerous. The garage should not be heated by stoves or open fires of any kind. Gasoline vapor travels.
In general familiarize the family with the operation of the nearest fire alarm box. After operating a fire alarm stay near the box to direct the firemen to the fire.
Do not fail to notify the fire department of anything that is dangerous and liable to cause fire.

YOU SAY WHAT IN THE WORLD IS AN "INVISIBLE"?

Why, something which is, but, which you can't see, of course. Sounds like magic, doesn't it? Well that's just exactly what it is.

Your magic wand is a water-moistened brush. You "wave" it lightly over a black-and-white picture, and—presto! out it comes in the prettiest colors.

Interesting—Well, you can imagine! Some are to cut out and arrange in the most fascinating ways. But not only are "invisibles" interesting, but they offer a great opportunity to win a prize—a real prize.

There will be prizes for the neatest, most careful and original treatment of these "Invisible" Color Cards.

LEAGUE COUNCIL TO HOLD SPECIAL MEETING ON NOVEMBER 15

To Elaborate Plans for International Conference on Reduction of Armaments Provided for in Protocol on Arbitration and Security

GENEVA, Oct. 4 (by the Associated Press).—The council of the League of Nations decided today to hold a special meeting Nov. 15, probably in Geneva, to elaborate plans for the international conference on reduction of armaments provided for in the protocol on arbitration and security, which it is planned to hold next year.

The council, as it is at present constituted, probably will not meet in November but each of the ten states represented in it will designate representatives qualified to discuss the technical matters involved in the program of the conference.

The opinion seems to be growing here that it will not be possible to carry out the original intention to convene the conference June 15 as the questionnaire concerning the agenda will hardly reach the various governments before the end of the year at about which time the various parliaments will be considering the protocol itself. A French spokesman expressed the opinion today that the conference could not be convened before the autumn of 1925. Such a delay, it is pointed out, would afford more time for the necessary ratification.

The internal political situation in Great Britain is causing concern among the delegates as they realize that the fate of the conference depends on whether the British parliament ratifies the protocol. The attitude of former Premier Asquith, the liberal leader, towards the British agreement with soviet Russia is regarded here as likely to force a general election in England. Englishmen here fear that a conservative victory would imperil the protocol.

The delegates are also of the opinion that the English in general will want to consider carefully the effects an Anglo-American relations of ratification of the protocol.

Belgium today signed the protocol, thus bringing the total of nations which have signed to 11.

The council decided to hold its regular December session in Rome instead of Geneva in "contingency" with a request made by Premier Mussolini of Italy.

MISS GABRIELLE PAQUIN

Lowell Girl Speaks on Opportunities in Washington
For Stenographers

Short Talk Enjoyed By Commercial Students of Lowell High School

At a special meeting of the commercial students of the Lowell high school held in the Cyrus W. Irish auditorium this morning, Miss Gabrielle Paquin, recently appointed secretary to the American legation in Vienna, Austria, spoke on the opportunities offered in Washington today for the stenographer. She stated that there was a surplus of young ladies applying for clerical positions and advised the students to seek stenographic positions rather than clerical openings.

Miss Paquin told of her work since her graduation from the Lowell high school in 1917. Immediately after which she accepted a position with Gardner W. Pearson as a stenographer.

Miss Paquin was the second Lowell high school pupil to pass the 150-word shorthand test in 1919 and her ability as a stenographer procured for her many opportunities in the business world. In July, 1923, she took the civil service examinations and was appointed on the civil service commission. She later worked with the state department where she was connected at the time of her appointment to Vienna.

The speaker stated that her work, especially while in Washington, was a continual source of education. "Things which I had never been acquainted with, she said, "I often sought recourse to the dictionary for words which were foreign to me; but generally speaking, my work was both educational and interesting. There are many good positions to be had in Washington today, but the work of the stenographer is much more in demand than any other line of office and clerical work in general."

open house during the greater part of the afternoon at his hotel headquarters, where he will be pleased to meet all who desire a personal conference.

At the meeting last night, remarks were made by Hon. Denis J. Murphy, Bernard F. McCardle, Michael J. Shanley, O'Sullivan, candidate for congress, and other democratic candidates would speak at Monday's rallies.

Present from surrounding towns were Thomas F. McElligott of North Billerica, Dr. James J. Hoban of North Chelmsford and James J. McLannan of Dracut. There was great enthusiasm throughout and another meeting will be held in about a week.

WOMEN'S DEMOCRATIC CITY COMMITTEE

Miss Katherine F. McCarthy, chairman of the women's democratic city committee, has announced that a registration rally will be held in Memorial hall at 2.30 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Speakers for the occasion will be Mrs. Colie W. Macdonald, state committee vice chairman, and Dr. Helen J. Doherty of Boston. The forty-one members of the committee are working hard to insure a capacity attendance.

DONATION WEEK FOR CHILDREN'S HOME

The annual donation week for the Children's Home in Hosford square is being observed, as usual, the first week of October and friends of the home are reminded by the matron, Ellen O'Leary, that gifts of vegetables, groceries, fruit or money will be gratefully received.

MOM'S POP

Apples prove to be very popular among the children, especially those who attend school and carry them for a recess lunch, and the matron says that as many apples as are given can easily be disposed of among the children.

Vegetables and groceries are always a popular gift and those who so desire may donate money and the matron will see that it is spent wisely for the children under her care.

DEATHS

MORENA—Mrs. Philomena Morena, a resident of this city for many years, died yesterday at the State infirmary, after a brief illness, aged 61 years. She leaves one daughter, Mrs. Theresa Capuano of North Chelmsford, and two sons, Antonio and Alexander Morena of this city. The body was removed to the funeral home of Undertaker William A. Mack, 70 Gosham street.

FELCH—Howard A. Felch, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Felch of Westford, died yesterday at the home of his parents in that town, aged 16 years, 9 months and 11 days. Master Felch had been an invalid for a long period and although suffering considerably he maintained a cheery disposition throughout his long illness. His parents were devoted in their ministrations and the boy's passing has caused much sorrow among his many friends as well as those of his parents.

MASON—Miss Henrietta Mason died Wednesday at the home of her place, Mrs. Douglas Newhook, in Cambridge. She is survived by one brother, Mr. J. A. Crossley of Somerville, a brother, Frank Mason of this city, one niece and four nephews. The body was removed to the rooms of Undertaker George W. Healey, 236 Westford street.

WESTCOTT—Mrs. Elizabeth A. Westcott, widow of Robert E. Westcott and a well known resident of Dracut for the past 20 years, died yesterday afternoon at her home, 12 Spring Park avenue, where for a number of years she has conducted a private hospital. Mrs. Westcott was well known in this city through her hospital work and was a prominent member of the Lowell Kennel Club. She is survived by one brother, Charles J. Chemist of Greenfield, Mass., and one sister, Mrs. Fannie M. Anderson of Malden. The body was removed to Saunders' Funeral home, 217 Appleton street.

WHITNEY—George W. Whitney, a resident of Lowell for 46 years, died last night at his home, 121 D street, aged 58 years. He leaves one daughter, Mrs. Sidney C. Barton of this city; two sisters, Mrs. C. Taylor of Lowell and Mrs. Sarah Hicknell of Westford; and several nieces and nephews. He was a member of Chevalier lodge, No. 1 of B. P. O. Elks.

DAVIS—Wilbur W. Davis, a well known resident of this city for the past 45 years, died last evening at the Lowell Corporation hospital after an illness of two weeks. He leaves his wife, Katherine, two daughters, Mrs. E. and Katherine A. Davis; two sons, Wilbur L. and Louis B. Davis, all of this city; his mother, Mrs. Peter Douglas of Salem; one daughter, Mrs. Agnes LaBelle of Salem and one brother, Levi Davis of Lynn. The body was removed to the funeral home of Undertakers M. H. McDonough & Sons, where the body will be taken to his home, 141 Lawrence street.

HOUSTON—Norman A. Houston died this morning at the home of his parents, 24 Fairfax street, aged 15 years, 9 months, 15 days. He leaves his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel A. Houston. He was a member of the Central Baptist church.

FUNERALS

DEARTH—The funeral of Mrs. Abbie A. Dearth took place yesterday afternoon from her home, 64 South Loring street, and was largely attended by relatives and friends. Rev. Appleton Grant, pastor of St. Anne's Episcopal church, officiating. Mrs. Charles G. Martin and Mrs. Harry G. Stedden sang appropriate selections. There were many beautiful floral offerings. The bearers were Fred Klerstad, Harry E. Morse, John Rinehardt, Bert E. Simpson and Lester Dearth. Burial was in the family lot in Westview cemetery. The funeral arrangements were in the charge of Undertaker Geo. W. Healey.

MERRILL—The funeral of Fred W. Merrill took place from his home, 156 Tenth street, yesterday afternoon. The services were conducted by Rev. Percy E. Thomas, pastor of the First Congregational church. The floral offerings were numerous. The following delegation was present representing Ancient York lodge, A.F. & A.M., and also acted as bearers and exemplified the Masonic ritual at the grave: Albert A. Ludwick, W.M.; Arthur E. Dyar, S.W.; John H. Preston, J.W.; James A. Grant, S.D.; and Donald MacKichie, marshal; Highland-Veritas lodge, 6, I.O.O.F., was represented by Melvin Smith, N.G.; L. E. Flint, P.G.; Oral Sayball, W.; and Clarence Hutchinson, chaplain. Burial was in the family lot in the Lowell cemetery. The funeral arrangements were in the charge of Undertaker George W. Healey.

McAVOY—All that was mortal of the late Mrs. Sarah Wilkinson, McAvoy was tenderly consigned to its final resting place in St. Patrick's cemetery this morning. The funeral took place at 8:30 o'clock from the home, 70 Chapel street and wound its way to St. Peter's church where, at 9 o'clock, a solemn high mass was celebrated by the Rev. Peter L. Linehan. The choir rendered the Gregorian mass. At the offertory Mr. James F. Donnelly rendered the "Pie Jesu" and as the remains were leaving the church the "De Profundis" was sung by Miss Mary Lynne. Mr. Raymond Kelley, president of the organ, there was a profusion of beautiful floral offerings and numerous spiritual bouquets. The bearers were: Messrs. Thomas McAvoy, Walter McAvoy, Wilfred McAvoy, Edward McAvoy, Walter McAvoy, Jr., and William Burns. The funeral cortege proceeded from the church to St. Patrick's cemetery, where the burial took place in the family lot. The committal prayers were read at the grave by the Rev. Peter L. Linehan. The funeral was largely attended and under the direction of Undertakers Higgins Bros.

PERRIN—The funeral of Armande Perrin took place this morning at 8 o'clock from the home of her mother, Mrs. Marie Louise Perrin, 2 Colwell avenue, and was largely attended. At 9 o'clock at Notre Dame de Lourdes church a solemn high funeral mass was celebrated by Rev. Lucien Brasard, O.M.I., assisted by Rev. Joseph Denis, O.M.I., as deacon and Rev. Charles Piquette, O.M.I., as sub-deacon. The church choir, under the direction of Severin Belanger, rendered the Gregorian chant, the solos being sustained by Louis Masson, Edouard P. Gregoire, Joseph Laroche and Mrs. Charles Cote. Emily Gaudette and Marguerite Turgeon, of the choir, sang "De Profundis." Miss Belle Lavigne was at the organ. The bearers were Armand Lorange, Victor Destaler, Raymond Turcotte, Wilfrid Burassa, Alfred Nadeau and Philip Gauthier. There were many flowers. Burial was in the family lot in St. Joseph's cemetery, where the committal prayers were read by Rev. Charles Denis, O.M.I. The funeral arrangements were under the direction of Undertakers Amedee Archambault & Sons.

REGONIS—The funeral of Mrs. Anna Regonis took place this morning at 8 o'clock from 125 Warren street and was largely attended by loving friends and relatives. At 9 o'clock a funeral mass was celebrated at St. Joseph's church by Rev. Lucien Brasard, O.M.I. The delegation present from Holy Name Apostolic society were: Rev. Stanislas Kaczor, read oration; Vlasticka and Helen Narkus. The bearers were: John Vlasticka, John Sandogana, John Bogdanowicz, Benedit Stankiewicz and Carol Bason. The church was filled with parishioners and members of the society, as the deceased was well and favorably known. There were many floral tributes. Burial took place in the family lot in St. Patrick's cemetery, where the committal prayers were read by Rev. Charles Denis, O.M.I. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertaker Joseph J. Sadowaki.

MATRIMONIAL
Miss Doris A. Dewar of Augusta, Me., formerly of this city, and Mr. Robert C. Hunt of New York city were married at All Souls' Anglican church, Portland, Oct. 24. They will make their home in New York city.

The area of the county of London, measuring 116,000 square miles, is divided among 38,200 owners.

PORTLAND ELECTION
OFFICIALS ACQUITTED

PORTLAND, Me., Oct. 2—A directed verdict of not guilty as to all of the eight election officials of Ward four, indicted on charges of conspiracy and fraud in connection with the June primaries, was given in the superior court today.

When the eight ward officials were placed on trial before a jury on Wednesday, Assistant Attorney-General Clement F. Robinson in opening for the state said there was no direct evidence against any of them, but indicated that there was circumstantial evidence of a great amount of wrong doing in the ward room on the day of the primaries.

The accused officials were James H. Walsh, warden; Wilbur C. Corey, clerk; Charles F. McGilvray and George T. Mansfield, ballot clerks; George L. Meane and Joseph H. Adams, election clerks and Charles Downen and Patrick Ridge, checkers.

The discovery of the casting of nearly 600 fraudulent votes in that ward was one of the chief causes of the reversal of the official result of the contest for the republican nomination for governor after a recount by the governor and council, and the issuing of a new certificate of nomination to Ralph O. Brewster of Augusta. Brewster was elected governor at the September election.

FUNERAL NOTICES

DAVIS—Died Oct. 2, Wilbur W. Davis. Funeral will take place on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock from his home, 141 Lawrence street. Services will be held at St. Peter's church at 3 o'clock. On Monday morning at 8 o'clock a requiem high mass will be sung for the repose of his soul. Burial will take place in St. Patrick's cemetery. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertakers M. H. McDonough & Sons.

DAWSON—Died Oct. 1st, at her home, 46 Claire st., Mary J. (Belknap) Dawson, beloved wife of John Dawson. The funeral will take place Saturday morning at 9 o'clock from her home, and a solemn high funeral mass mass will be sung at St. Patrick's church at 10 o'clock. The burial will be in St. Patrick's cemetery, under the direction of Undertakers James E. McDonough & Sons.

WESTCOTT—Died in Dracut, Mass., Oct. 2, 1924, at her home, 12 Spring Park ave., Mrs. Elizabeth A. Westcott, widow of Robert E. Westcott, aged 68 years. Funeral services will be held at Saunders' Funeral home, 217 Appleton st., on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Friends are respectfully invited. The funeral arrangements are in charge of Undertaker William H. Saunders.

HOUSTON—Funeral services for Norman A. Houston will be held at the home of his parents, 24 Fairfax street Sunday afternoon at 2:30 p. m. Friends are invited. Funeral arrangements are in charge of Undertaker Hiram C. Brown.

CARD OF THANKS

We, the undersigned, wish to express our sincere thanks to those who by their kind words, expressions of sympathy and offerings of floral tributes and spiritual benedictions, served to lighten our sorrow on the death of a beloved husband and father. To the employees of the Southwell Wool Shop, we wish especially to express our appreciation for their loving remembrance the kindness of all.

Next Thursday Will Be Fire Prevention Day

moth road, John J. McManmon; Bartlett, Wampanoag street, Capt. Joseph L. Crowe; Green, Merrimack street, James H. Hogan; St. Patrick's, Suffolk street, John F. Thomas; French Bros., Merrimack street, Napoleon Grandchamp; Franklin, Branch street, Capt. Joseph M. G. Burns; Moray, Pine street, Washington, Long street, Capt. George H. McDermott; Lincoln, Chelmsford street, Lieut. George H. Chapman.

The following is the Fire Prevention Day statement and suggestions made public today by the fire chief: President Coolidge has designated Thursday, October 3rd, the 33rd anniversary of the Chicago fire, as Fire Prevention Day.

His proclamation directed the attention of public officials to the importance of carrying on fire prevention activities in the schools, homes and industrial establishments. The president said that in order to lengthen the lives of our citizens and to conserve our diminished store of natural resources, every one must take an interest in this important work.

The nation's annual loss of life and property, due to fire, continues to surpass that of any other country. The problem of combating this stupendous waste is of national importance. It is to be diminished special effort must be made to educate the public mind and especially the child. The officials of the fire department have endeavored to place before all the people of our city the great danger from fire, and especially to appeal to you, the teachers and children of the schools, to see to it that fire hazards are removed and premises kept clean.

We take particular pride in pointing out the number of fires we have had on such days as the Fourth of July, since we have put into force the system of fire inspection and fire prevention. With the co-operation of the teachers and children of our schools, we should be able to reduce the fire waste to a minimum. On July 4, 1923, we had only five alarms of fire in the city of Lowell, which is a very small number in comparison with the number we have had in some previous years, which to our mind is due in a great measure to the co-operation of you, the teachers and children of the schools.

In 1923 the fire department inspected 10,789 buildings. The loss by fire in the United States last year amounted to five hundred and eight million dollars ($580,000,000) and more than fifteen thousand lives were lost.

Burnable values have increased and it may be that we can draw some encouragement from the fact that apparently, the proportion of the losses to burnable values has, in the past ten years shown a decrease. In other words, fire prevention efforts are making some headway, but we have not yet secured the support of the people to such an extent that we can afford to slacken our efforts toward fire reduction.

No country, however rich in resources, can continue to support such an enormous drain on its resources. Our wealth of today will surely be seriously affected, if we do not as a nation stem this annual waste. The task of reducing the annual fire loss is a large one. It is a work for experts. The colossal fire waste is imperishable. The people, but they do not realize it. They must, therefore, be taught to speak, first, that the fire waste adds tremendously to the cost of living and second, how to stop it. Fire fighting has gone as far as it can go. We have come to the place where we

RECEPTION AND DANCE IN LIBERTY HALL

About 200 couples attended the reception and dance held in Liberty Hall of the Memorial Auditorium last evening in honor of Taxiarhis Protopapas who leaves Monday to enter Massachusetts Institute of Technology where he will take up architecture. The affair last evening was most enjoyable, the feature being the grand march in which about 150 couples participated.

The program of entertainment including selections by the orchestra and exhibition dance numbers by the Misses Mary and Helen Zantouhos.

TAXIARCHIS PROTOPAPAS

youthful entertainers who gave the Jazz Dance, Parasol Dance and an exhibition fox trot, was well received by the large audience. At the conclusion of their numbers the Zantouhos sisters were presented bouquets by Mr. Protopapas.

A gold fountain pen and pencil donated by George Antonas, local jeweler and raffia of were won by Andrew Gulekas, 33 Marion street.

The concert program was as follows:

March N. C. 4.....Bigelow
Gunsblitz from Samson and Della
Forget Me Not Waltz.....McKee
Under One Flag.....Von Blom
Dancing, Misses Mary and Helen Zantouhos.

Attending the reception were guests from Lawrence, Nashua and Manchester, N. H., Boston and this city, Mr. Protopapas is a graduate of the Lowell high school and a University of Maine honor student.

The committee in charge of last evening's affair are as follows:

Floor directors: James Athanasoulas, Theodore Koutras. Aids: Demosthenes Protopapas, Constantine Gennelas, Soterios Sampanthas, Dean Tsagaris, Louis Coulls, Minas Capetanias, George Fragoulis, James Papanicolas.

Flower committee: Miss Anna Zantouhos, Miss Sophia Zantouhos, Miss Simonne Protopapas, Miss Haricla Harris, Miss Soteria Saris, Miss Sparis Stratos, Miss Anna Gennelas, Miss Christina Kacoutis, Miss Paraskevi Brucos, Miss Mary Androukopoulos, Miss Sophia Psallaki, Miss Anastasia Ladakis, Miss Basilis Petropoulos, Miss Mary Sullivan, Miss Leonadia E. Blavacki, Miss Georgia Petrou.

QUART OF WATER A DAY HELPS KIDNEYS

When Back Hurts or Bladder
Bothers, Also Take a Little Salts

Eating too much rich food may produce kidney trouble in some form, says a well-known authority, because the acids created excite the kidneys. Then they become overworked, get sluggish, clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region, rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, begin drinking lots of good water and also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grape and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate to activity; also to neutralize the acids in the system so that they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts do not injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to help keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus often avoiding serious kidney disorders. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.—Adv.

Pomona Grangers Hold All Day Rally Here

came from the Dickinson farm and Mrs. Dickinson assisted her husband in arranging the display tables.

Subordinate grangers from each town in the No. 1 Pomona territory were out in force this morning, prepared to spend the day in Centralville and attend both morning and afternoon sessions.

An excellent dinner, with many fall vegetables added to the menu, was served to members and guests in the banquet hall, at 12:30 p. m. The master, Mrs. Sarah K. Mooney, presided at the head table. Among the officers of Middlesex North Pomona Grange were: Lecturer, Grant W. Dawson; West Chalmersford; Norman L. Peavy; Dracut; Ruth West Crosby; Dracut; Esther Putnam, Chalmersford; Comrade George Barnett, Dracut; Fred J. Fletcher, Chalmersford and Past Master B. Clyde Prescott of Westford.

An additional feature of the morning session was the display of home products, such as apples, pears, peaches, etc., in class B, of cooked apples and apple products, very attractive and presenting a delicious appearance in their flaky pastry covering. There are apple turnovers like mother used to make, and apple, pear, tender crusts, mince and apple, apple cake, etc., another offering from the Austin kitchen.

Members took part in a general discussion during the morning, selecting for a topic: "Shall we plant more trees?" Many different opinions were offered, some favoring that "orcharding is being overdone." The values to be derived from proper classification, selection, packing and marketing fruits that are all A No. 1 quality, from top to bottom of the box package, are the apples that are getting the money today. It was explained.

Educated and enterprising fruit-growers, who take pride in their products and work diligently to "hit the right market at the right time with the right package," will not harbor any ambitions to quit apple-growing just yet. It was said by one wideawake granger.

Southern and western and Canadian competitors shipping apples to New England, will find markets closed to them if New England apple-growers play the game and deliver the goods up to the standard maintained by outside producers and marketing competitors.

This afternoon, County Commissioner Walter C. Wardwell was scheduled to address the grangers at an open meeting, starting at 2:30 o'clock. Mr. Wardwell was expected to discuss some of the work that has been accomplished by the commissioners in this section of Middlesex county during the past year. The non-appearance of Deputy Commissioner Leslie B. Smith of the Massachusetts department of agriculture, and prominent for many years in state grange circles, was a great disappointment to the Pomona grangers. He will probably attend the November meeting and speak.

The dinner committee today, consisting of active members of Dracut grange, was as follows:

Chairman, Mrs. J. M. Crosby; assistant, Mrs. A. W. Crosby; Mrs. L. R. Crosby; Mrs. Harry Moxley; Mrs. Carle Dupes; Mrs. Albert Fox; Mrs. Asa Stickney; Mrs. Harry Peavey and Mrs. Charles Hamblitt.

called "the autocratic powers of the supreme court" in the case of the Dred Scott decision; that Roosevelt assailed the "manufacturers of great wealth," and that Kenyon organized the farm bloc for "economic freedom and equality of the farmers and common people."

"These ideals," he said, "have brought me in sharp disagreement with many different elements which style themselves republicans and by their financial power control the policies of the national administration."

"I have said that I would do as much for Coolidge as he would do for me, that the voters are entitled to know what we have done for each other and also to each other. I shall give you facts from the inside and shall rest content with your judgment."

Reviewing his nomination, the senator said his principal supporters were farmers and laboring people, "denounced as radicals by the president and his supporters."

Inauguration by Coolidge Machine

"The republican state convention, dominated by the Coolidge machine, snubbed and insulted me," he continued.

"The Coolidge newspapers over the state, with a few exceptions, have booted me and continue to denounce me and my platform approved by the voters."

"The Coolidge committee have announced in the press that they would not use me in the campaign."

"The cause of this situation grows out of the following matters in congress:

Coolidge for Newberryism

"I was against Newberryism. The president was for it."

"I was against the ship subsidy. The president supported it."

"I was in favor of repealing the Beach-Cummings railroad law and the president opposed its repeal."

"I was in favor of investigating corruption in the departments. The president opposed the investigation and criticized the senate for its action."

"The president favored the Mellon tax bill which reduced taxes on the big incomes by a big percentage and on the little incomes by a little percentage. I helped amend the bill to reverse these reductions in favor of the common people."

"I favored the old soldiers' bonus bill. The president vetoed it and I voted to pass it over the veto. It succeeded."

"I favored the postal employees' bill. It was vetoed and I will vote to pass it over the veto."

"On all taxation I favor high taxes on excess profits and large incomes and estates. The president favors the Mellon plan which taxes the poor."

"I oppose the giving up of Muscle Shoals to Henry Ford or any other private interest. The president favored selling it without much regard to price."

"I favored Senator La Follette's resolution to adjourn congress until July 7 after the conventions and then return and enact the farm bill. The president opposed it and wants an unauthorized commission instead."

"I belong to the farm bloc."

"The president belongs to the Wall street bloc."

"Upon this record I stand for my election and I promise the farmers, the laborers and the common people that they shall not be double-crossed and sacrificed with any knowledge or consent. I will do in the future as I have done in the past."

Defendants Discharged

federal agents on July 29 and were subsequently arraigned here. At the first hearing, both the defense and prosecution asked for a continuance until today with the understanding that no further continuances would be granted.

When the case was called this morning the prosecution, asked for a month's continuance. Atty. M. J. Reardon of Salem, representing the defendants, objected to any further continuance and said he was ready to go on with the hearing. Commissioner Walsh expressed dissatisfaction with the government procedure in prosecuting the case. Atty. Reardon expressed belief that the continuance was requested to allow the government to present the evidence to a grand jury and do away with a lost hearing. Officer Rovers would not deny this and a recess was declared while Commissioner Walsh communicated with Assistant United States District Attorney Stone in Boston.

Following the telephone conversation, the commissioner discharged the two defendants for lack of prosecution.

Brookhart Denounces Pres. Coolidge

differences with leaders of his party, Senator Brookhart said that although he had been nominated "by 200,000 republicans, without a machine and without money," and was "opposed by Wall street's money and by the president's power," his nomination had never been recognized by President Coolidge as the voice of republicanism in Iowa.

Senator Brookhart declared republican leaders refused him favor because he had differed on so many occasions from the national administration, naming a dozen issues.

President in Wall Street Bloc

"I belong to the farm bloc; the president belongs to the Wall street bloc," he declared in designating President Coolidge as "the machine republican candidate."

"I have never had a thought of leaving the republican party," the senator said. "My whole soul is wrapped up in the principles of Lincoln, Roosevelt and Kenyon. I will fight any leaders who seek to divert the party from these great purposes."

"Issue has now arisen in Iowa as to whether the principles of the republican party shall be determined by the voters themselves or by a small group of crooked and irresponsible dictators set up by the Non-Partisan league of wall street. This group has assailed me with renewed and vitriolic venom, and I, therefore, wish to state my position and to reform the laws for a dash light to our light from the control of the republican party."

SANDERSON FOR SUPREME COURT

Superior Court Justice Nominated Associate Justice of Supreme Court

Nominee is a Former District Attorney of Middlesex County

Judge Sullivan Reappointed By Governor to Boston Finance Commission

BOSTON, Oct. 3.—Judge George A. Sanderson of Littleton, for 17 years a justice of the superior court yesterday was nominated an associate justice of the supreme judicial court by Gov. Cox, who also named Judge Michael H. Sullivan of Dorchester for reappointment to a five-year term as chairman of the Boston finance commission.

JUDGE GEORGE A. SANDERSON

man of the Boston finance commission.

Judge Sanderson is named to take the place of the late Justice Charles A. DeCourcy, who died suddenly while playing golf in New Hampshire two months ago. An associate justiceship on the supreme bench carries with it an annual salary of $12,000, or $20,000.

more than is received by a justice of the superior court.

Failed to Name Brother

Judge Sullivan's term as chairman of the Boston finance commission expired last June. The position pays $5000 a year.

Both nominations were sent to the executive council at its meeting yesterday and under the rules, went over a week for confirmation.

Much pressure was brought to bear on the governor to appoint his brother, Judge Louis S. Cox of the superior court, to the supreme court vacancy. Delegations from Essex county waited on Gov. Cox, urging the appointment of Judge Cox and many petitions from individuals and associations were received at the state house urging this step, but the governor refused to follow the suggestions along this line.

George August Sanderson was born in Littleton, July 1, 1863, the son of George W. Sanderson. He attended the Littleton public schools, later going to Groton, from which he was graduated in 1881. He then went to Yale, and received his degree in 1885. Two years later he received his law degree from Boston University.

He was for years prominent in Littleton, serving as moderator at the town meetings and active in the work of the school committee. Later he moved to Ayer, and there became interested in the Ayer library.

In 1893 he was appointed assistant district attorney of Middlesex county by District Attorney Wier, and served in that capacity for nine years. Then he was elected district attorney. He afterward was re-elected, serving in that capacity until 1907.

In April, 1907, he was appointed to the superior court bench by Gov. Curtis Guild.

Other nominations sent to the executive council by Governor Cox were Josephine E. Thurlow, Cambridge, reappointment to the board of registration of nurses; Wilfred E. Tyler, reappointment as clerk of the district court of eastern Middlesex; Jan. H. Quinn, Northampton, reappointment board of registration in embalming; Col. George H. Stebbins, Roslindale, clerk of the municipal court of West Roxbury, to succeed Edward F. Brewer, resigned; Charles H. Taylor, Boston, trustee of the state library to succeed Bishop Edwin H. Hughes, resigned; Elwyn G. Preston, Lexington, reappointment as trustee of the Massachusetts Homeopathic hospital.

The council confirmed the nominations of Judge Charles H. Donahue of Dorchester as associate justice of the superior court and Senator Frank H. Putnam of Lowell, named commissioner of personnel, on the commission of administration and finance. Both took oath of office in the governor's office.

MORE WORK FOR THE MOTH INSPECTOR

It keeps a moth inspector busy nowadays, chasing up and cataloging all the latest insect pests that afflict humanity, and more especially perhaps plants, flowers and trees in the area headed Lowell.

There are the vulgarly annoying caterpillar family to start with, and many pestiferous descendants thereof have kept moth inspectors and farmers eternally awake and nervous of year round for many and many a year since the advent in 1885 in the Harvard-Littleton territory.

This year, two new insect destroyers of flowers and garden plants appeared from nowhere in particular, and the leopard moth was the one that came last but not least with a mysterious appearance in the most unexpected places, and no moth inspector being able to keep tabs on the insecticidal journeys of the new pests, or definitely establish just what fodder they like best when crossing the farm and wood lands.

And now for the latest—the last one to cross the stage—the dog the and cause the newest ruction down the rural lanes.

It's a skeletonizer—that's the word!—a bug of the bugliest sort ever born—and dotting on New England white birch trees, which will be stripped of their leaves this year about a month sooner than usual because of the birch leaf skeletonizer.

The genuine article looks like an undersized green caterpillar that has anted up a comb of hairs, attacking the birch leaves and killing them. All the latest pests are descendants of caterpillar forefathers, you see. Some of them look exactly alike.

The moth explorers and experts, in separating the different brands of caterpillars, sometimes count the number of rings on the worm's back, or the number of hairs. Either way, you win when you compare the colors, number of rings or number of hairs, to the colored catalogue (that contains the all in rote or photographs).

Parasites, new from abroad, are being used to wipe out nature's latest enemy, but the skeletonizers have been slightly checked this fall on the parasite's menu. R. Harold Allen, director of pest control of the state department of agriculture, is confident that the birch-eaters will be wiped out eventually.

The green caterpillars usually stick to pasture and brushlands where birches of tender age flourish. The actual damage to the owners of these

Read Every Word — You'll Agree
With Lincoln and Fidler's

"You can fool ALL the people some of the time, and some of the people ALL of the time, but you can't fool ALL the people ALL the time!"

It is a genuine pleasure to note every season that the people who come to Fidler's are the same people who came last season and the season before that, and the ones before THAT. Month after month, year after year, they make Fidler's their store. WHY? Because experience has proven to them that they will find here not only the best and newest, but also the lowest prices. Because they have received satisfaction in ALL their dealings ALL the time. Ask them! THAT'S WHY FIDLER'S IS GROWING EVERY DAY IN EVERY WAY!

LOCAL PYTHIANS WILL PARADE IN BOSTON

Lowell Knights of Pythias are prepared to send large delegations of members to participate in the "Bullfinch Day" parade of the Pythians, to be held in Boston on Monday, Oct. 13. Local lodges rallied in Odd Fellows hall last evening to further plans for the trip to Boston. A delegation was also present from Chevalier temple, Pythian Sisters.

The Boston parade of the Pythians will be one of the largest ever made by members of the order in Massachusetts. More than 10,000 men will be in line. Elmer D. Robinson will be secretary of the parade. The parade will be one of the largest ever made by members of the order in Massachusetts. More than 10,000 men will be in line. Elmer D. Memorial Auditorium at 9 o'clock on the morning of Oct. 19, marching to the Middlesex street railroad station and boarding the 10 a. m. train for Boston.

Non-resident knights, who may desire to march with the Lowell division, have been requested to join the parade line on Commonwealth avenue, near Massachusetts avenue, between 12 and 1 p. m. Local Pythians will hold another mass meeting to make further arrangements, at Wamselt lodge rooms on Friday evening, Oct. 10. The personnel of the local Pythian boosters' committee is as follows:

Lowell lodge—Edgar D. Clark, Dana B. Hart, Lesley Keech, Samuel G. Lyness and George J. Broth. Samuel H. Hines lodge—Walter I. Leach, Edward Wilkins, Harry C. Bowen, Wallace Langell, Norman Keld, Edward Young and Charles S. Pettigrew. Wamselt lodge—Adelbert H. Abbott, Fernald M. Gould, Frank B. Wright, Frank A. Whipple and Alexis S. Fecteau.

RAILROAD OFFICIALS VISIT LOWELL

Boston & Maine railroad officials to the number of 25, paid an official inspection visit to the local yards, shops and freight houses yesterday. They came from northern points, having been touring the main line and branches. The party occupied three special cars—one Pullman and two business cars—owned by the corporation. The latter cars were sidetracked here and the inspection trips made in another car.

The tour in and around Lowell took in the roundhouse at Middlesex Village, the new bleaching freight yard, the Gorham street freight houses and the Hillier carshops. The officials have completed a tour of the entire Boston & Maine system, starting from Boston Monday and traveling to Portland, then moving to Ayer Junction, journeying over the Fitchburg division line to Deerfield and White River Junction, returning yesterday to Lowell on the journey back to Boston.

BACHELOR PARTY
A bachelor party was tendered Royal Winston Rouse, a meter foreman for the Lowell Electric Light corporation, at 251 Summer street. About 50 members of the company were present, and Mr. Rouse was the recipient of a purse of gold presented in behalf of the gathering by George A. O'Connor.

BURLESQUE ART
Frank pictures have no place in the well-ordered house. They belong in the same category with lithographs of sporting celebrities and chorus girls.

DRESSES PLAIN
Dresses this season may be plain, but cuts are most elaborate and trimmed. Fur is used lavishly on them and the linings are more gorgeous and more trimmed than ever before.

See-keeping, farming and market gardening are among the occupations taught to British soldiers.

ENTERTAIN MEMBERS OF STATE ASSOCIATION

For the first time in the history of the local organization the Lowell Retail Jewellers' association will entertain as guests, the officers of the Massachusetts Retail Jewellers' association at a dinner to be held on Tuesday evening next, Oct. 7, at 6:30 o'clock at Marie's restaurant.

It is the desire of the state officials to meet the retail jewellers of each city, together with their wives and employees, and State Secretary Louis J. Smith has written to Frank Ricard, secretary of the local organization, stating that Lowell is to be the first city visited. The local association, which is thereby greatly honored, is doing its utmost to make the affair a success. Thirty invitations have been sent to the jewellers of the city and together with their wives and clerks, it is estimated that approximately 100 will be in attendance at the meeting on Tuesday evening.

The state secretary, together with two other officials of the state organization will be the guests of the Lowell jewellers and will be invited to address the gathering. Mr. Smith who is well versed in his field of work will talk interestingly on the work of the retail jeweller and the opportunities offered to make his business as successful and as interesting as any in the field of retail business.

The officers of the state organization are as follows: President, J. C. Stever, Boston; first vice president, G. M. Stevens, Springfield; second vice president, Fred C. Newhall, Lynn; secretary, Louis J. Smith, Beverly; treasurer, E. W. Durgin, Worcester. The officers of the local association are: President, A. H. Abbott; vice president, Edward Cotter; secretary, Frank Ricard; treasurer, David Perrault.

Official Commendation For Officer Conway

number of the machine, he reported it to headquarters and on the check-up, it was learned that the car belonged to Souza, who was arrested and is now being detained in East Cambridge jail on a charge of assault with intent to murder.

The commendatory order reads as follows:

Lowell, Mass., Oct. 3, 1924.

Office of the Superintendent of Police.

Special Order No. 37.
Patrolman William E. J. Conway is hereby publicly commended for his excellent work on the morning of Thursday, Sept. 18, 1924, in being able to furnish a clue to the identity of the persons who attempted to rob and to murder Fred H. Peabody, a milkman, in the early hours of the morning, at 195 Stevens street.

I wish to emphasize the fact that officers are abroad for the night not only for the purpose of trying store doors, and ringing bells, but to observe conditions as they exist on the streets, and they should know what is going on about them.

The work of the officer in this case in furnishing evidence of the registration number of the automobile in which the occupants rode is worthy of commendation, and should be emulated by every officer in the department.

Deputy Superintendent of Police.
Mr. Peabody, the victim of the assault, has been released from the Lowell Corporation hospital and is now recuperating at his home in Stevens street.

The second suspect in connection with the case is still at large.

FIRE ON PIAZZA

A telephone alarm at 1:34 o'clock this morning was for a piazza fire on the third floor of a ten-story block at 522 Cornhill street, occupied by a Mrs. Chase. The fire started in a pile of papers and was caused, in the opinion of District Chief Thomas F. Saunders, by a child playing with matches. Damage was confined to the piazza.

SUFFERED FIVE YEARS FROM STOMACH TROUBLE

Rochester Man Says Tanlac Brought Relief

"What it takes to give a man muscle and strength to stand hard work, Tanlac certainly has it," recently affirmed Samuel Cooper, a well-known blacksmith, 1520 Lake avenue, Rochester, N. Y.

"Stomach trouble had caused me misery for five years. After meals, especially I would almost double up with pain. I was also subject to bad dizzy spells and headaches that would hang on for days at a time. Nervousness and loss of sleep helped to drag me down and I felt tired out all the time.

"I have taken three bottles of Tanlac now and am feeling like a brand new man. In fact, my health is fine and I can say that Tanlac certainly does the work."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 million bottles sold.

TO CONTEST WILL OF LOTTA CRABTREE

TULSA, Okla., Oct. 2.—The will of the late Lotta Crabtree, retired actress of Boston, who bequeathed virtually all of her $4,000,000 estate to charity, will be contested by Woodson Norvell, Tulsa attorney, on behalf of a Tulsa woman, who claims to be a half sister of the actress. Norvell has announced.

Norvell declined to reveal the name of his client but stated that before her marriage she was known as Ida Crabtree. He said he planned to attack the will on the grounds that when the actress made the will she was not capable of disposing of her estate. He and his client will leave for Boston Monday, he said.

DIFFERENCES PATCHED UP
PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 2.—Mayor W. Prentiss Kendrick and General Snedley Butler, director of public safety, conferred today for the first time in more than three months, and patched up their differences. They were together nearly an hour. General Butler came from his home, where he has been ill for ten days, especially to meet the city's chief executive.

Are Women 100 Per Cent Efficient

How many women do you know who are one hundred per cent efficient? That means every nerve and sinew of the body pulsating with life and health as nature intended. Do you not know more who are half dead and half alive, with aches, pains, nervous, irritable and despondent, making themselves miserable and every one around them? Women in this condition should let Lydia E. # CHANCE TO DEVELOP KNOWLEDGE OF RADIO

Two correspondence courses are offered by the university extension section of the state department of education, for men and women who wish to increase or develop their knowledge of radio. One course is helpful to those who are about to buy an outfit and wish to know how to make the best purchase and to others who would like to be skilled enough to build their own sets. A course in reception and transmission goes more deeply into the subtle treating of the principles of radio communication. In the second, it offers a technical understanding of the subject to one who knows the first principles.

In speaking of these courses, James A. Meyer, state director of university extension, said as follows: "The new radio light grows something new every day. Scientists are forever experimenting and making new discoveries. Photographs have been communicated from long distances. Recently, a front page story of a big city daily announced that motion pictures had been projected over the radio in a successful experiment and that the broadcasting of feature movies may be an accomplished fact within a year. Think of it! You may see your favorite actor rust on a sheet hung on the parlor wall."

"In France, where radio has not made such strides as in this country, radio courses have been established in the public evening schools. Interested Parisian professors are attempting to organize 10 centres in the rural districts where they would fill a special need. When lessons in radio are being put in a class with reading, writing and arithmetic, that fact ought to make us sit up and take notice."

"In spite of this ever growing importance of radio, how much does even the so-called 'fan' know about it? Perhaps enough to understand that eight turns of the knob will give him Station XYZ."

"The division of university extension will reply immediately to all inquiries concerning these courses addressed to Director James A. Meyer, Room 217, State House, Boston."

Stops itching—
Reduces irritation
Clears away skin trouble

If you have today a spot of eczema, or irritation on your skin, cleanse the affected part by bathing with Resinol Soap, then smooth in gently with the fingers a coating of Resinol Ointment. One application frequently stops the itching completely because the special soothing healing properties of Resinol help it to sink deep into the pores where the trouble really lies and restore a normal condition.

Use Resinol Soap daily for your toilet and bath. It helps to keep the skin healthy. Ask your druggist.

DEMOCRATIC PARTY FRIEND OF LABOR

The La Follette party is making general charges of neglect of the interests of labor by the two major parties. This is unfair to the democratic party which has been and still is the friend and constant sympathizer with organized labor. Practically all the more important labor reforms were directly enacted by the democratic party or else put through as a result of its initiative and pressure upon republicans in congress and the legislatures of the states.

The administration of the democratic party from 1912 to 1920, showed more legislation beneficial to labor than did any equal period in the country's history. Nevertheless, we now hear La Follette and his lieutenants declaring that both the great parties are alike, that there is no practical difference in them in regard to their attitude toward labor and the people in general. That charge is unjust and those who have followed the course of legislation in recent years must realize that it is very unfair.

La Follette, a republican, decided to bolt his party and run for president on an independent ticket. In that he was probably justified, but he was not justified in charging that the democratic party is equally opposed to labor, or opposed to the farming class for whom he affects great solicitude. The democratic platform may not be sufficiently radical to suit the socialists who are lined up for La Follette, but the party has never failed to show its sympathetic regard for the interests of labor. It cannot, however, go to the extent of menacing the liberties of the people by threatening to tear down the supreme court or by advocating general government ownership of public utilities.

The support given to La Follette may help to defeat the democratic party without electing either Coolidge or La Follette. Such an outcome cannot benefit labor to any great extent, but it will be a source of encouragement and gratification to the socialists and communists who are among the worst enemies of organized labor.

STANDARD OF LIVING

Most people are more concerned with the cost of living than the actual amount they receive in their pay envelope on Saturday night. At the present time the cost of living as computed by the economists is about 62 per cent higher than it was before the war. In other words, you have to pay $1.62 for the same commodities you could buy for $1 before the war or back in 1914.

This may seem strange to some people who find that they cannot live quite as well on their present wages as they did before the war when their wages were about sixty per cent less than at present. The difference arises from the fact that we are now living under new standards that call for a greater variety of the "necessities" and more of the luxuries than we enjoyed in past years. Since 1914 the advancing standard of living has placed among the necessities of life many commodities and services that some ten or twelve years ago were classed as luxuries.

The cost of living under present conditions means more than merely supplying the body with necessary food, clothing and shelter. Many of the things that the average family insists upon having today were not thought of in the list of necessities of the long ago. Visit any of the big factories and you will find the vacant spaces surrounding the buildings occupied by automobiles parked there by the employees. How many of them owned motor vehicles in 1912 or even for several years after?

Moreover, the advance in this respect has caused people to be more particular in regard to what they wear. The man who was formerly willing to appear out with a patch on his trousers would not think of doing so today. He is equally particular in regard to his household furniture. In past years many articles of furniture were repaired that would now be thrown on the ash heap or else stored away in the attic as among the useless relics of the past. Much of the trouble today, therefore, is not so much the increased price of what we used to buy, but as the price of things we formerly never dreamed of buying.

That explains in a great measure why the average man finds he has less cash on hand after paying the bills, not to mention that his income may have increased with the so-called advance in the cost of living.

Some experts claim that it is possible to live now almost as cheaply as 20 or 25 years ago provided we adjust ourselves to the old standard of living which included only the simplest and most essential of the necessities of life, but nobody wants to do that. We have now to earn more money and sometimes even to work longer hours than before in order to live in comfort because the present age demands more of the commodities and services in daily life than was the custom long ago. When considering the cost of living, therefore, we must also take into account the increased standard of living, and this may explain why what is known as a living wage is not sufficient to meet the demand of the ordinary mechanic, shopworker or laborer of today.

STATE RIGHTS MENACED

Sixteen states have banded together to sue the national government. They seek the return of $399,000,000 of direct taxation paid after the Civil war. These taxes were levied on certain manufactured goods for which the states in question were entitled to a refund which still remains unpaid.

This law suit reminds us of something that is seldom brought to the front nowadays, namely, the matter of state rights. Our national government is merely a league of small countries which we call states. Uncle Sam represents the federal authority which in a measure is supreme; but he is not all-embracing or supreme in everything, even though the police power is about the only major function of local government that has not as yet been centralized in Washington, D. C. And yet the police power has also been largely transferred to Washington, a fact that will appear from the frequency with which federal officers swoop down upon people suspected of violating the prohibition law. There are various bureaucrats at Washington and organizations of newly enfranchised women, working steadily to jump the political fence that separates him from the La Follette camp.

SEEN AND HEARD

A puncture in the ego is harder to fix than one in the auto.

There is talk of a balloon trip to the North pole. Well, the pole will be near here before long.

Robbed hair is about like all modern improvements. It isn't the initial cost, it's the upkeep.

That baseball is the national game doesn't mean anything to the crooks who engage in it.

A thought: Itches are well, if gotten well and spent well.—Vespasian.

And They Were Not One
The film magazine was one of the busiest in the moving picture business, but its best friend could not maintain that he was educated. One morning things had gone wrong at the studio and he was in a bad mood. He measured terms against his staff. "Such a lot of 'ifs' I never saw," he vociferated. "I'll send the whole lot their notice this minute. If I could write?"

Imagination's Aftermath
A young author remarked to a friend, "I wish I had some way of developing my imagination." "I once had an acquaintance that developed the most wonderful imagination I have ever known," answered his friend. With eager expectation the young author asked: "What did he do?" "He got the delirium tremens."

Had Date Right
One Saturday night a laborer asked his boss if he might sleep off for the afternoon, one week from the following Thursday, to go to the funeral of a friend. "I guess you can, Jim, but that seems like a long time ahead. Are you sure you have the day right?" "O, yes, sir. Well, when did your friend die?" "O, sir, he can't die yet. He's to be hanged a week from Wednesday."

Worry Transferred
The trouble with you is the same as with another. He worried and got nervous dyspepsia. He was worrying himself to death about his tailor's bill. Now a friend of mine has a long time ahead. "I told him to stop worrying, and he has," replied the doctor. "I know he has. But I am his doctor."

The Fireplace
These who are supplied with fireplaces in their homes feel no resentment as the chilly evenings of the early fall arrive, with their promise of colder evenings and the winter not far away. The chill of fall can be welcomed because it provides a good reason for a blaze in the fireplace with the joy and good cheer possible as the fire crackles and develops, the ashed and the fire burns itself out. The family rather than the fire, as the fire is strong and there is promise of a happy hour. It is a proper place to sit, or read, or smoke, to relax and dream. The glow of the fireplace is cheerful, companionable and inviting. One may watch the crackling smoke, the jets of flame, the ruddy glow and find ever a new picture, always interesting. Fireplaces are domestic, belong in the home where a family is found. The selfish man and the miser might refuse them, but they would not know to see their charm, glimpse the picture or feel the spell. The hour of peace, kindly contemplation and retrospection comes as the evening wears away and the fire burns low, the hour with its soft glow and its promise of life. Those hours come only in the home. They are for the generous, the kindly, the helpful to know and enjoy.—Montreal Star.

Going A-Swimming
No clouds are in the morning sky. The vapors hug the stream. Who says that life and love can die in all this northern gleam? At every turn the maple hints. The quail is whistling free. The partridge whirs, and the frosted furs. Are drooping for you and me. Hot! hot! hot! Huh! O! Hilly ho! In the clear October morning.

Along our path the woods are hold. And glow with ripe desire. The yellow chestnut showers its gold. The sumachs spread their fire. The birches feel a crisp and cool. The buckwheat cups are red; Then down the lane, love, hurry again. And over the stubble tread! Hot! hot! hot! Huh! O! Hilly ho! In the clear October morning.

—EDMUND CLARENCE STEEDMAN.

MAN ABOUT TOWN
The various political organizations should not have much of a job this year in finding suitable rooms for their headquarters. With the new enterprise and skyscrapers open, the public there is considerable office space available, all well located and admirably adapted for political uses.

Patrick P. Nestor, who posed out Owen Brennan for the honor of helping Charlie Slowey represent a part of Lowell's untimely democracy at Beacon Hill for the next pair of years, is busy getting out the vote in his district. It was on Mr. Nestor's petition that the board of elections granted another night registration session for wards five and nine.

The John W. Davis, for president club and the O'Sullivan campaign committee have opened their quarters in the Washington bank building and they are being out to the good. Campaign workers are meeting there daily to exchange experiences and plan future activities. "Countie" Cronin, general chairman of the democratic city committee, is generalissimo of the O'Sullivan forces.

It is not unlikely that Humphrey O'Sullivan, wheelhorse of the local democracy, will broadcast many of his speeches in his campaign to assist John Jacob Rogers from the chair of congressman from the 5th district. The amplifying device used here at the Curley, O'Sullivan, Walsh rally of the day ago, made a great hit with Mr. O'Sullivan. He found out that Boston's mayor has two of these devices and is trying to get the use of one for a few days and nights during the campaign.

I was telling the other day with Miss Lillian Desmoulin, leading woman of the Stanley James Players at the Opera House and she told me that her stock company playing in Youngstown, Ohio, was the first theatrical company to stage a benefit for the Lowell sufferers when that town was calamity-stricken during the summer months. Miss Desmoulin ran a benefit performance at Eden park at which the mayor and other city officials of Youngstown all did a turn and over $500 was realized and immediately forwarded.

Lowell motorists may notice that the most conspicuous item of a Sabbath day ride out Lexington way is the roadside market, which reaches a bigger proportion there, it seems, than anywhere else in New England. Portions of these roadside stands, not only in Lexington but along practically every route, are being literally block the roads at times. No matter how careful a driver may be, he can never tell when some individual laden with farm produce will dash recklessly in front of his wheels from the congestion of vehicles parked along the roadside.

Hondmaster Henry H. Harbo of the high school is one of the most ardent radio fans in the city and he is so well pleased with radio that he believes every high school should number at least one first class radio receiving set as its property. A year ago he advocated the purchase of a good set for the local high school without success, and he has again placed himself on record as in favor of the purchase of radio apparatus.

The various clubs being conducted at the Lowell State Normal school afford the students an opportunity to become versed in parliamentary law as well as along educational and recreational lines. The clubs this year are many and each has an extensive and elaborate program. Foremost among the clubs are the Glen club and the Dramatic club under the supervision of Miss Helen Hogan, both of the city. The Glen club is doing much in the line of charity work throughout the city, thereby enabling the students to get an idea of the social service work being done locally. The Art club, Magicians club, and Dayton club are also numbered among the organizations and some students are members of three and sometimes four clubs.

I read by the papers that final arrangements have been made for the marriage of James Chase, director of that great industry, "The Covered Wagon," and Miss Betty Compson. Don't know Betty, but she looks real sweet on the screen. In the same paper I read that Miss Gladys Huette, seven stars, has asked permission to bring suit for divorce against her husband by advertising through the California newspapers. Two romances shot to pieces there, I must say. It was not many years ago when Mr. Cruise and Miss Huette were both on the payroll of the old Thannhauser studios in New Rochelle, N. Y., makers of the first successful motion picture serial ever produced, "The Million Dollar Mystery."

speaking immigrants bound for Lowell arrived in Boston on the Samaria Wednesday and two more arrived in New York on the Laconia early this week.

Plans for a vaudeville show were discussed by members of the Junior Y.W.C.A. at a regular meeting last night and Bernard Knept and Miss Mary Cohen were named to direct the show. The following were chosen as the committee in charge: Miss Fannie Felt, man, chairman; Miss Frances Sokolsky, secretary; Miss Pearl Weiner, treasurer; Miss Mildred Frank, publicity; Miss Frances Carb, Miss Evelyn Carp and Miss Sadie Markiel.

Gym classes were formed and work will begin at the Y.W.C.A. next week. It was also voted to publish a club paper each month and Miss Ann Lebovitch was chosen editor-in-chief.

A set of house scales is indispensable for the kitchen. If you find that you are receiving short weight packages from your grocer you should remedy the matter.

SEEN AND HEARD

A puncture in the ego is harder to fix than one in the auto.

There is talk of a balloon trip to the North pole. Well, the pole will be near here before long.

Robbed hair is about like all modern improvements. It isn't the initial cost, it's the upkeep.

That baseball is the national game doesn't mean anything to the crooks who engage in it.

A thought: Itches are well, if gotten well and spent well.—Vespasian.

And They Were Not One
The film magazine was one of the busiest in the moving picture business, but its best friend could not maintain that he was educated. One morning things had gone wrong at the studio and he was in a bad mood. He measured terms against his staff. "Such a lot of 'ifs' I never saw," he vociferated. "I'll send the whole lot their notice this minute. If I could write?"

Imagination's Aftermath
A young author remarked to a friend, "I wish I had some way of developing my imagination." "I once had an acquaintance that developed the most wonderful imagination I have ever known," answered his friend. With eager expectation the young author asked: "What did he do?" "He got the delirium tremens."

Had Date Right
One Saturday night a laborer asked his boss if he might sleep off for the afternoon, one week from the following Thursday, to go to the funeral of a friend. "I guess you can, Jim, but that seems like a long time ahead. Are you sure you have the day right?" "O, yes, sir. Well, when did your friend die?" "O, sir, he can't die yet. He's to be hanged a week from Wednesday."

Worry Transferred
The trouble with you is the same as with another. He worried and got nervous dyspepsia. He was worrying himself to death about his tailor's bill. Now a friend of mine has a long time ahead. "I told him to stop worrying, and he has," replied the doctor. "I know he has. But I am his doctor."

The Fireplace
These who are supplied with fireplaces in their homes feel no resentment as the chilly evenings of the early fall arrive, with their promise of colder evenings and the winter not far away. The chill of fall can be welcomed because it provides a good reason for a blaze in the fireplace with the joy and good cheer possible as the fire crackles and develops, the ashed and the fire burns itself out. The family rather than the fire, as the fire is strong and there is promise of a happy hour. It is a proper place to sit, or read, or smoke, to relax and dream. The glow of the fireplace is cheerful, companionable and inviting. One may watch the crackling smoke, the jets of flame, the ruddy glow and find ever a new picture, always interesting. Fireplaces are domestic, belong in the home where a family is found. The selfish man and the miser might refuse them, but they would not know to see their charm, glimpse the picture or feel the spell. The hour of peace, kindly contemplation and retrospection comes as the evening wears away and the fire burns low, the hour with its soft glow and its promise of life. Those hours come only in the home. They are for the generous, the kindly, the helpful to know and enjoy.—Montreal Star.

Going A-Swimming
No clouds are in the morning sky. The vapors hug the stream. Who says that life and love can die in all this northern gleam? At every turn the maple hints. The quail is whistling free. The partridge whirs, and the frosted furs. Are drooping for you and me. Hot! hot! hot! Huh! O! Hilly ho! In the clear October morning.

Along our path the woods are hold. And glow with ripe desire. The yellow chestnut showers its gold. The sumachs spread their fire. The birches feel a crisp and cool. The buckwheat cups are red; Then down the lane, love, hurry again. And over the stubble tread! Hot! hot! hot! Huh! O! Hilly ho! In the clear October morning.

—EDMUND CLARENCE STEEDMAN.

MAN ABOUT TOWN
The various political organizations should not have much of a job this year in finding suitable rooms for their headquarters. With the new enterprise and skyscrapers open, the public there is considerable office space available, all well located and admirably adapted for political uses.

Patrick P. Nestor, who posed out Owen Brennan for the honor of helping Charlie Slowey represent a part of Lowell's untimely democracy at Beacon Hill for the next pair of years, is busy getting out the vote in his district. It was on Mr. Nestor's petition that the board of elections granted another night registration session for wards five and nine.

The John W. Davis, for president club and the O'Sullivan campaign committee have opened their quarters in the Washington bank building and they are being out to the good. Campaign workers are meeting there daily to exchange experiences and plan future activities. "Countie" Cronin, general chairman of the democratic city committee, is generalissimo of the O'Sullivan forces.

It is not unlikely that Humphrey O'Sullivan, wheelhorse of the local democracy, will broadcast many of his speeches in his campaign to assist John Jacob Rogers from the chair of congressman from the 5th district. The amplifying device used here at the Curley, O'Sullivan, Walsh rally of the day ago, made a great hit with Mr. O'Sullivan. He found out that Boston's mayor has two of these devices and is trying to get the use of one for a few days and nights during the campaign.

I was telling the other day with Miss Lillian Desmoulin, leading woman of the Stanley James Players at the Opera House and she told me that her stock company playing in Youngstown, Ohio, was the first theatrical company to stage a benefit for the Lowell sufferers when that town was calamity-stricken during the summer months. Miss Desmoulin ran a benefit performance at Eden park at which the mayor and other city officials of Youngstown all did a turn and over $500 was realized and immediately forwarded.

Lowell motorists may notice that the most conspicuous item of a Sabbath day ride out Lexington way is the roadside market, which reaches a bigger proportion there, it seems, than anywhere else in New England. Portions of these roadside stands, not only in Lexington but along practically every route, are being literally block the roads at times. No matter how careful a driver may be, he can never tell when some individual laden with farm produce will dash recklessly in front of his wheels from the congestion of vehicles parked along the roadside.

Hondmaster Henry H. Harbo of the high school is one of the most ardent radio fans in the city and he is so well pleased with radio that he believes every high school should number at least one first class radio receiving set as its property. A year ago he advocated the purchase of a good set for the local high school without success, and he has again placed himself on record as in favor of the purchase of radio apparatus.

The various clubs being conducted at the Lowell State Normal school afford the students an opportunity to become versed in parliamentary law as well as along educational and recreational lines. The clubs this year are many and each has an extensive and elaborate program. Foremost among the clubs are the Glen club and the Dramatic club under the supervision of Miss Helen Hogan, both of the city. The Glen club is doing much in the line of charity work throughout the city, thereby enabling the students to get an idea of the social service work being done locally. The Art club, Magicians club, and Dayton club are also numbered among the organizations and some students are members of three and sometimes four clubs.

I read by the papers that final arrangements have been made for the marriage of James Chase, director of that great industry, "The Covered Wagon," and Miss Betty Compson. Don't know Betty, but she looks real sweet on the screen. In the same paper I read that Miss Gladys Huette, seven stars, has asked permission to bring suit for divorce against her husband by advertising through the California newspapers. Two romances shot to pieces there, I must say. It was not many years ago when Mr. Cruise and Miss Huette were both on the payroll of the old Thannhauser studios in New Rochelle, N. Y., makers of the first successful motion picture serial ever produced, "The Million Dollar Mystery."

speaking immigrants bound for Lowell arrived in Boston on the Samaria Wednesday and two more arrived in New York on the Laconia early this week.

Plans for a vaudeville show were discussed by members of the Junior Y.W.C.A. at a regular meeting last night and Bernard Knept and Miss Mary Cohen were named to direct the show. The following were chosen as the committee in charge: Miss Fannie Felt, men, chairman; Miss Frances Sokolsky, secretary; Miss Pearl Weiner, treasurer; Miss Mildred Frank, publicity; Miss Frances Carb, Miss Evelyn Carp and Miss Sadie Markiel.

Gym classes were formed and work will begin at the Y.W.C.A. next week. It was also voted to publish a club paper each month and Miss Ann Lebovitch was chosen editor-in-chief.

FRATERNAL NEWS

The installation of officers featured a meeting of Court St. Paul, O.F.C., last evening in the club rooms in Moody street and a large attendance took part in the affair. Deputy Chief Ranger Jordon Parent of Sacred Heart court, Lawrence, was in charge of the installation and was assisted by Joseph Cote of the same court and P. X. Rivet of this city, director of the state court. The officers installed follow: Chief ranger, Mederie Gaudet; vice chief ranger, Ferdinand Rousseau; secretary, Raoul Moniere; financial secretary, J. A. Robillard; treasurer, Arthur Lavole; orator, Joseph F. Gobin; syndic for three years, John Pinaud; first sentinel, Edmond Lombert; second sentinel, Odile Cyr; outside sentinel, Roc. I. Pelletier; interior sentinel, Odile Rousseau; chaplain, Rev. Augustin Gratton, O.M.I.

Following the installation, interesting talks on the order were given by the new officers and guests from local courts. It was also announced during the evening that Arthur Lavole, former treasurer of the court, had been named deputy high chief ranger by General High Chief Ranger Thomas Cannon of Chicago.

The Pawtucketville Social club met in regular session in its club rooms last evening with President Alphonse Fortier in the chair. Several committees chairmen reported and were voted the thanks of the organization for their work. An invitation from the Centralville Social club to attend a buffet lunch to be held at the Centralville organization's club rooms was extended by Sec. Arthur Giroux.

A splendid musical program featured a meeting of the British-American club Wednesday evening in the Free church, and opportunity was also taken at this meeting to welcome home Mrs. Nolan, financial secretary, who has recently returned from a trip to England. The entertainment program follows: Piano solo, Miss Jennie Eskey; song, "Absence," Mrs. Riggs; song, Mrs. Buchanan; guessing contest, Mrs. Cowgell; war jokes, Mrs. Riggs; and Mrs. Fanson; song, Miss Eskey; reading, "Limburger Cheese," Mrs. Greenwood; "Grown's Gossip," Mrs. Fanson; Mrs. Bagley, Mrs. Blakely, Mrs. Cowgell, Mrs. Buchanan, Mrs. Riggs, Mrs. Tatroe, Mrs. Greenwood and Mrs. Higgs; songs, Mrs. Bagley; piano duet, Miss Eskey and Miss Dagley.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Kay, assisted by several club members. At the conclusion of the meeting, Mrs. Whiteley presented the club a picture representing England and America, and she was extended the thanks of the organization for her gift.

HARVEST SUPPER
AT DRACUT CHURCH

Hillside church members in Dracut entertained last evening with a harvest supper and enjoyable entertainment, arranged by active workers in the religious organization affiliated with the Ladies' Aid society. The electrical lighting system in the church interior acted badly for some mysterious reason, and the supper and entertainment were conducted in rather darkened quarters, the parishioners being compelled to light candles hurriedly secured by Peter Bolton.

The supper was arranged and served by the following Dracut matrons: Mrs. Thomas Hickey, Mrs. Henry Hamer, Mrs. Walter Giffin, Mrs. Roy Laurie, Mrs. William Kearns, Mrs. John Smith, Mrs. John Nichols and Misses Clementina Giffin and Mary Smith. The following were waitresses: Elsie Blizard, Doris Tucker, Evelyn Lyons, Rosemary Steinhilf, Hilda Tucker, Irene Hill, Isabelle Litchfield, Alice Bolton and Ella Wagner. Music was played by Miss Daisy Ryder and Thomas Clark during the supper hour.

A tableau entitled "The Seasons" was presented under the direction of Mrs. Herbert Lyon with the following cast: January, "Winter Girl," Evelyn Lyon; February, "Valentine Girl," Isabelle Litchfield; March, "Irish Colleen," Hazel Inch; April, "Easter Girl," Elsie Blizard; May, "Mayflower," Madeline Lyon; June, "Bride," Doris Tucker; July, "Pastor," Isabelle Litchfield; August, "Bathing Girl," Ruth Pelletier; September, "Golf Girl," Hilda Tucker; October, "Harvest Moon," Mr. and Mrs. William Kearns; November, "Puritans," Elsie and Douglas Blizard; December, "Christmas morning," Muriel Hamer and Thomas Hickey.

During the presentation of the tableau, a duet was sung by Mr. and Mrs. Simeon Hayworth. The choir joined in the choruses. The active officers of the Ladies' Aid society are: President, Mrs. Herbert Lyon; vice-president, Mrs. Walter Giffin; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Harvey Kingstead.

LOWELL PLUMBERS' OUTING
Yesterday at Centennial grove, Essex, members of the Lowell Master Plumbers' association held their annual outing and had as their guests 30 members of the sales and jobber forces of the various concerns. A buffet luncheon was served at noon and was followed by a program of sports. A baseball game was the feature of the sports program and a team captained by Dan Carroll defeated the sales' force team. Dinner was served at 4 o'clock and at its conclusion the party returned to this city. John A. Cotter was chairman of the committee in charge and was assisted by William F. Farrell and John Quigley.

FAREWELL PARTY
Mrs. Dorothy L. Trites, who is soon to sever her connections with the C. H. Willis market was tendered a farewell party at the home of Mrs. Best in Manchester, last evening. Mrs. Trites has been connected with the Willis firm for five years and last evening her many friends availed themselves of the opportunity to voice their appreciation of her services. She was presented a beautiful opalescent tea set, the presentation being made by Miss Dorothy Nolan. A buffet luncheon was served by Mrs. Best and an enjoyable entertainment program was given by Miss Alice Best, Miss Dorothy Nolan, Miss Ethel Devno, Mrs. Trites, Miss Dorothy Best, Miss Lois Hamilton, Miss Gertrude Boyle, Miss Leblanc and Miss Kathryn Tuck.

MARRIAGE INTENTIONS
The following marriage intentions have been filed at the office of the city clerk: David Bouvier, 545 Moody, automobile dealer; Marguerite Carrier, 119 Mt. Washington, at home. Frank C. Johnson, Westford, Mass., ice dealer; Mildred A. Upton, 212 Parker, music teacher.

ANDERSON IS PRESIDENT

Lowell Trades and Labor Council Elects Officers at Regular Meeting

Lowell Trades and Labor council members elected Charles E. Anderson president to serve for the ensuing six months, at a regular meeting of the organization, held last evening in Trades and Labor hall. Other officers were elected as follows:

Vice-president, Michael McGrohan, secretary, Parker D. Murphy; assistant secretary, Rachel Campbell; treasurer, Annie Reagan; trustees, Patrick Pei, Thomas Cronk and Frank Horn, sergeant-at-arms, Daniel Moylan.

The United Textile Workers' International union officials sent a communication to the Lowell council, stating that the striking silk workers in Paterson, N. J., are not a part of the U. T. W. A. organization, and not even affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

The following members comprise a committee appointed to take charge of the council's non-partisan political campaign: Timothy Dwyer, chairman, Rachel Campbell, secretary; George Mousette, Frank Horn, Michael Reagan, Patrick Pei and Annie O'Neill. This committee will have full charge of a local campaign of support for all friends of labor in the national, state and municipal elections.

CHARLES E. ANDERSON

this fall. It will also campaign industriously in behalf of the child labor amendment.

Chairman William M. Butler of Republican National committee charges, and managers of La Follette campaign promptly deny that coalition exists between independents and democrats to throw election of president into Congress.

PROTESTS TO FRANCE

Chinese Foreign Office Objects to Sale of Airplanes to Manchurian War Leader

PEKING, Oct. 3 (By the Associated Press)—The Chinese foreign office has protested to the French legation concerning the alleged sale of 20 airplanes to Chang Tso-Lin, the Manchurian war lord who is at war with the Peking government. A French steamer is reported to be conveying the machines to China.

The government has requested the Japanese authorities to halt on the Kwangtung peninsula to hold up the planes if they arrive there.

DOG WATCHES OVER BODY OF MASTER

Guarded by his faithful dog, the body of Ralph E. Ford, aged 26, of Hudson, N. H., was found late yesterday afternoon in the woods on the Tyngsboro side of the state line by a searching party which had been formed when Ford failed to return to his home yesterday morning from a coon hunting trip he had started on the evening previous.

When found by the searching party, the body was lying face down in the ground under a tree and it is believed Ford climbed the tree after a coon and was thrown to the ground when a branch broke. Death had evidently been instantaneous.

The dog, a hound which had accompanied the deceased on many coon hunting expeditions, had stayed by the side of his master for nearly 24 hours without either food or water. When the ambulance arrived he had to be forcibly restrained.

Deceased was born in Tyngsboro April 15, 1898, and was the son of James W. and Mary (Quinn) Ford. Four brothers and four sisters, who reside at the family farm in Hudson, survive him.

EX-WIFE OF FAIRBANKS FILES DIVORCE SUIT

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 3.—Mrs. Beth Sully Evans, former wife of Douglas Fairbanks, motion picture actor, has filed suit for divorce in superior court here against James Evans, Jr., Pittsburgh broker, whom she married soon after her divorce from the screen actor in 1919. She charges desertion and non-support.

ENTERTAINED SENIOR NURSES

AT GREENHALGE SCHOOL

Haverhill Women Address
Meeting of the Parent-
Teacher Association

Mrs. E. V. French of Haverhill, president of the State Council Parent-Teacher Association and Mrs. James Peasey, also of Haverhill, councillor of the same organization, were the speakers before the first season meeting of the Greenhalge Parent-Teacher Association held yesterday afternoon in the school auditorium. An interesting talk on the work of the Associations and the organization matters to come before the convention to be held in Boston, Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week was given and proved most instructive and interesting.

Gertrude Cinqmars, president of the local organization, presided at the busness session of the association, following which an entertaining program was given by pupils of Miss Marie Conley. Refreshments were served by the hospitality committee and a social hour was enjoyed.

NEW APPOINTMENT
FOR MISS PERRON

Miss Elsie E. Perron, recording secretary of the committee in charge of entertaining the delegates to the Christian Endeavor convention to be held here October 16-19, has been appointed vice-president and prayer meeting supervisor of the Middlesex County Christian Endeavor union. Miss Perron, who is also serving on the information committee locally, has held numerous responsible positions in the Christian Endeavor field of work and her recent appointment as a member of the county executive board was welcome news to her many friends and acquaintances.

Together with her work locally Miss Perron is in charge of making the badges to be worn by the delegates at

CO-WORKERS HONOR
MISS LENA PICARD

Miss Lena Picard, an employee at the Lowell Trust company, was tendered a farewell dinner at Maria's last evening, by her co-workers. Following the dinner the party repaired to the home of the prospective bride in Lakeview avenue, where a reception was held. Miss Picard was presented a purse of gold by her friends, after which an enjoyable program of entertainment was given. Miss Ruth McLaughlin and Miss Anna Curran were in charge of the affair.

The insignias which were worn at the Lowell Textile school, are of blue ribbon inscribed with gold letters attached to a bar and medallion. Assisting Miss Perron in the work are Miss Frances Trull, Miss Carrie Stewart, Miss Myrtle Malen, Mrs. Sarah Thayer and Forrest S. Varney.

HIGHER WAGES FOR THE POSTOFFICE CLERKS

Lowell members of Branch No. 31, National Federation of Postoffice Clerks, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, are today discussing with an earnestness and sincerity that is rare, arrangements now being consummated to start a new country-wide campaign for higher wage adjustments.

Some time in the near future, there will be called a special meeting of representatives of the Massachusetts Postoffice Clerks' organization, when a comprehensive program will be presented and discussed, leading to the enlistment of members all in a new and organized effort to win the cause they are stoutly defending.

Just before the incoming session of congress in December, the sturdy campaigners will be prepared to appear at the next legislative session in Washington, the re-admission of senate bill No. 1398, for consideration and hoped-for enactment passage. President Calvin Coolidge vetoed this bill on June 7, 1924, though house and senate representatives approved it almost unanimously.

Secretary-Treasurer Thomas F. Flaherty of the National Federation, has just sent a lengthy communication to the Lowell branch of post office clerks, members being much pleased to know that the active leaders of the organization have been instrumental in distributing a great deal of new information covering the aims and purposes of the postoffice clerks of the United States and the island possessions in their claims for more adequate postal wage standards.

The postal office clerks assert still, that they are not seeking salary raises, but salary adjustments on a basis of wages and cost of living in the year 1913. Developments since the veto of the postal pay bill last June, indicate clearly the necessity for vigorously continuing the campaign for more adequate postal wage standards.

Secretary-Treasurer Flaherty declares, in his open letter, Mr. Flaherty explains the situation as it is at the present time, as follows:—

"The public should be informed that the vetoed bill (Senate 1535)—the modified Kelly-Edge bill, by the way—is now before the senate and can be taken up for reconsideration when congress assembles on December 1, 1924. Our wish is that the senate pass the bill, the veto of the president notwithstanding. The house will then have an opportunity to act.

"Every postoffice clerk should be interested enough in this attempt to secure for himself a $300 pay increase, scheduled to July 1, 1924, to write a personal letter to senators and congressmen and get his friends to do likewise. Each letter should be a personal expression from a voter. In this way legislators will realize that there is really strong public sentiment behind this present urge for better postal pay rates.

"It is advisable to acquaint members of congress and the public with the highly important fact that the postal service is now financially self-sustaining. The money deficit which was assigned as one reason for refusing a pay adjustment last June, is now non-existent. Here are the facts:—

"From June 30, 1921, to June 30, 1924, the postal employees by their efficient services, have cut the postal deficit from $130,125,458 to $15,538,846. The service right now is self-sustaining financially, and the bogey of a huge deficit cannot with good grace be used against us to defeat our just insistence for pay increases."

A well known leader in the local postoffice clerks' branch organization offers the following statement in behalf of the membership of Branch 31:—

"Fortunately for the postal service clerks, the president's veto did not close the door to an early advance in compensation. The president's action halting the progress of a modified postal salary increase bill on the day congress adjourned, was a keen disappointment to all who have been convinced and can prove that the postal carriers and clerks are entitled to more pay than they now receive.

"Postal employment requires a high degree of intelligence, and such slight advancement as is possible follows the development of considerable skill.

"Unfortunately for the employee, it is not skill which can be put to lucrative use in another line of employment. Two major considerations are involved in the quest of the postal employee for more pay. The first is that they should not be required to work for less than the scale generally prevailing in industry and commerce. In the second place their remuneration should be attractive enough to stabilize the personnel of the department and improve its morale.

"Efficient service cannot be maintained in the face of a rapid turnover of workers. Nowhere does efficient service count more than it does in the postoffice department, where the expeditious handling and dispatch of mail depend on the experience and intelligence of trained men.

"If there is one class of public servants which deserves a necessary raise in wages, that class is the postal service. The present wages are not above those paid to ordinary day laborers. As an editor in a well known Rhode Island city expressed it only a few weeks ago:—

"Postal clerks try to maintain themselves and their families on a decent standard of living, educate their children and put a little by for old age. With the salaries they are now receiving, the task is well-nigh impossible."

Secretary-Treasurer Flaherty calls attention to the postoffice clerks of Lowell and vicinity affiliated with Branch 31, that if "the individual" will do his part, a "strong ground" work will be laid for collective action through the local committees are to be appointed to work in the local districts, preferably in conjunction with similar committees from other affiliated organizations of postal workers. These committees have been requested by Secretary-Treasurer Flaherty to visit local labor, civic, fraternal and other bodies of citizens and if possible enlist the active support of such agencies for the passage of senate bill No. 1535—the modified Kelly-Edge bill. In other words, the postal clerks through their strong union organization, are prepared to take up the gauge of battle where they left off last June, and most of them living in Lowell and suburbs, are entirely confident that their cause is just and that they will win the first skirmish in December next.

YOUNG WOMEN'S HEBREW ASSOCIATION

A meeting of the Lowell Young Women's Hebrew Ass'n was held last Tuesday evening, which proved to be both interesting and entertaining. During the first part of the evening, a short business meeting was held, at which Miss Ida Fox was chosen as head of the Hadassah work of the organization. Plans were also completed for a Halloween costume party to be held Wednesday, Oct. 22, at the Highland club house. The latter part of the evening was spent in enjoying a "kiddy party." All of the members were dressed in "kiddy" dresses and they all made a very fine showing indeed. A group picture was taken, after which dancing and refreshments followed. "Kiddy" games were also played under the direction of Miss Rose Brown. Miss Mary Cohen gave a recitation and a dance was given by Misses Gertrude Malkiel and Anna Shapiro.

ADDS LOTS OF FLAVOR
A bit of Worcestershire sauce added to the French dressing gives it a very distinct and pleasing flavor.

PICK SUITABLE PHOTO FRAME
Frames of photographs should be simple and neat, rather than prominent, because otherwise the photograph itself being of small dimensions would be overshadowed by the frame. Even if the picture is an enlargement, the frame should be only proportionately wider.

Bribery Charges Involving Giants May Rock Baseball's Whole Structure

SALIENT FACTS CONCERNING SERIES, WHICH OPEN TOMORROW

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Salient facts concerning the world series:

Contending teams—New York Giants, National league champions; and Washington Senators, American league champions.

Games—Best four out of seven to decide championship; first and second game scheduled Saturday and Sunday in Washington; third and fourth and fifth in New York, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday; sixth in Washington Thursday; place for seventh, if necessary to be decided by toss of coin.

Time of games—Daily at 2 p. m., eastern standard time.

Capacity of Parks—37,000 in Washington; 64,000 in New York.

Probable opening day batteries—Johnson and Ruel for Washington; McQuillan and Gowdy for New York.

Umpires—Quigley and Klein, representing National league; Connolly and Dineen, representing the American league.

mistakable signs that a test of baseball governing authority is imminent.

Although he did not specifically refer to the assertions of Ban Johnson, president of the American league, and Barney Dreyfuss, president of the Pittsburgh Nationals, that the revelations were sufficient to warrant calling off the world series, Commissioner Landis left no doubt that his answer to them was his statement:

"It seems to me for those not clothed with responsibility to keep their shirts on."

Johnson for Federal Probe

Johnson, who also declared his intention to demand a sweeping federal investigation to wipe out all alleged crookedness connected with the present scandal in particular and the national game in general, was expected here today.

The American league executive will complete the personnel of the advisory council, the other members of which are Commissioner Landis and John A. Heydler, president of the National league. Landis, maintaining a somewhat sphinx-like attitude throughout yesterday's turbulent developments, has not indicated whether he will lay the case before the advisory council, the general meeting of club owners, or take further steps of any kind. On the other hand, he also refused to admit the case "closed," although Heydler had previously classified as such.

The big question that remained unsolved to the confusion of club owners, servers, and apparently to baseball fandom at large, was the motivating influence in the alleged action of Dolan and O'Connell.

On all sides it is being asked whether the approach of O'Connell, who says he was prompted by Dolan, a spontaneous scheme of their own individual creation, as Heydler and John McGraw, manager of the Giants, declare it to be, or was it a carefully concerted deal, prearranged and instigated by someone "behind the scenes" and not yet brought into the searching light of investigation?

In the opinion of many closely observed of the situation, it seems inconceivable that O'Connell and Dolan acted alone and without influence behind them. O'Connell, in his confession to Commissioner Landis and in his newspaper statements, has named other "Giant" stars—Frank Frisch, George Kelly and Ross Young—but the findings of Commissioner Landis exonerated them. O'Connell, in more sweeping fashion, declared his team mates "were all in it."

But, regardless of the merits of these implications, an undercurrent of opinion has persisted that the final analysis may disclose a source unconnected with the playing field.

Coming on top of an almost unprecedented wave of orthodoxy with the advent into the diamond championship of Washington's first pennant winner, the sudden injection of scandal has stirred fandom's temperament to fever pitch, and it appeared that only the most sweeping sort of action would satisfy popular opinion.

Teams Ready For Battle

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—(By the Associated Press) Members of the Washington Senators and New York Giants, ignoring to all outward appearance the cloud of scandal that has been thrust over the scene, today geared their machines for the opening world's series game tomorrow before a probably the most notable gathering that has ever witnessed baseball's blue ribbon event. The Senators were slated for their dual drill this morning, with the Giants applying the finishing touches to their practice in the afternoon.

Walter Johnson, idol of Washington fandom who shares with his young manager, "Bucky" Harris, the heroic roles in Washington's triumph, will pitch the opening game and attempt to gain the crown of glory he has been seeking for 18 seasons. Opposed to him probably will be Hughie Quillan, right handed ace of the Giant hurling corps, although Manager McGraw may switch to his southpaw sharp-shooter, Art Nehf.

Washington will start its fight for the championship with the same lineup that carried the club to the American League top. With Johnson opposed to them, the Giants are expected to take the field with Terry, a youngster and left-handed batter, on first, Kelly, regular first sacker, in center field, and Jack Wilson, another new comer, in left field in place of Irish Meusel. Captain Frank Frisch's finger has recovered sufficiently to assure his return to the keystone post, but Heinie Groh, regular third baseman, still is hobbling around on a cane as a result of a twisted knee, and Freddy Lindstrom, 18-year-old schoolboy, will open the series at the hot corner.

Except that Frisch will be back, this make-up of the Giant machine corresponds with that figured in the club's winning dash for the pennant in the closing days of the campaign.

Meanwhile, President Coolidge was said to have perfected a wind-up for the throw-out that will set the series in motion, while Washington officials prepared to start in the spectacle. Despite the efforts at revenue, federal and local authorities, ticket speculators overnight continued to do flourishing business. Three game ticket strips were sold in some cases for $50, as compared with the face value of $15.50, while single game pastebards for the opening went as high as $20 and $25, depending on location.

Scandal Prevented Strike

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—The baseball season which eliminated Jimmy O'Connell and Cozy Dolan from organized baseball probably prevented a strike of the New York players in the world series which is about to start in Washington.

The New York players recently decided to confer with Stanley Harris and the other Washington players over calling a strike unless the players received their salary for the games in addition to their world series money.

At the joint meeting of the two big leagues last winter it was voted on that the players this year would only accept their world series share and no pay for the games.

With a scandal at their door, it is not likely that the New York players will go through with their plans to call a strike.

Pays Tribute to Sand

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 3.—Organized baseball should show its appreciation of the act of Heinie Sand, Philadelphia shortstop, in exposing the attempt to bribe him, says George A. Putnam, discoverer of Jimmy O'Connell, and secretary of the San Francisco club of the Pacific coast baseball league.

The world series players, share which would have gone to O'Connell and Dolan, should be given to Sand, said Putnam.

Putnam related how he had discovered O'Connell in Sacramento, Calif., in 1919. O'Connell was 17 years old at the time and was playing shortstop.

REQUESTS IN WILL OF EX-GOV. DOUGLAS

BROCKTON, Mass., Oct. 3.—Judge Warren A. Reed, the executor of the will of the late ex-Governor William L. Douglas, announced the principal bequests made. No estimate of the real or personal estate of the late shoe manufacturer was made, but an inventory will be prepared before the will is offered for probate next week at the Dedham court.

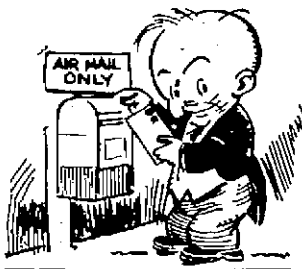

Mr. Douglas gives his homes in Brookline and Marion, with furniture and fixtures, to his wife absolutely outright.

The Universalist church of which Mr. Douglas was a member, receives $10,000.

The rest and residue goes to the Home National bank of which Mr. Douglas was a director to be held in trust, the bank to pay the income in part to the wife during life and to two daughters and several grandchildren. Judge Reed is authorized to dispose by sale, the common stock in the W. L. Douglas Shoe Co., of which he is a heavy holder.

While no figures are available, it is believed that the estate is valued at several millions.

LITTLE JOE THERE'S AIR MAIL AND HOT-AIR MAIL—

NEW LABOR BOSS

Ramsay MacDonald is losing his sound on Britain's labor party. So, at least, many London politicians think. And John Wheatley (above), radical minister of health in MacDonald's cabinet, looks as his most probable successor, they say.

series opening was hailed by Washington fans today as an omen for triumph by Walter Johnson, Senators' pitching ace, and his speed ball. Stopping in front of a newspaper office, Johnson was encountered by a youth bearing the latest meteorological report.

"Here's good news for you, Walter," the youth volunteered and Johnson grinned as he was handed the bit of encouragement.

"I Don't Remember," said Dolan

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Judge Landis was confronted by the nemesis of lawyers in his cross-questioning of Cozy Dolan, in the baseball scandal investigation. From each query of the commissioner, Dolan took refuge behind the conventional first aid to witnesses:

"I can't remember."

A reporter said to Cozy:

"Isn't that a weak position? If you were guilty or innocent, why did you not answer yes or no instead of 'I can't remember'?"

"It's a habit of speech, I guess," Cozy replied.

TO DROP PROCEEDINGS AGAINST FIRPO

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Immigration Commissioner Curran has recommended to the labor department at Washington that the deportation proceedings against Luis Firpo be dropped and that the warrant of arrest be cancelled. Commissioner Curran said the evidence given at the hearing on Ellis island did not bear out the charges that Firpo had imported a woman into this country for immoral purposes.

Mr. Sandler, speaking for Canon William S. Chase, who instituted the deportation and perjury proceedings, announced that at the perjury hearing, which will be public, "all of the testimony given in the secret proceedings at Ellis island shall be made known to the public so that it may know for itself whether deportation should be warranted."

Canon Chase charged that Firpo brought Miss Blanco Lourdes Picart into this country when he came here last summer to fight Harry Wills.

RACES AT DAYTON

DAYTON, O., Oct. 2.—(By the Associated Press)—Four races and an aerial "gymkhana" constituted the program for the international air races today, which will get under way at 9.30 with the Mulvihill model trophy race.

The world fliers are expected to get in some time this afternoon, and they will be guests tonight at the annual dinner of the American Aeronautic association which will announce its officers for the ensuing year at that time.

The second race on today's program will be for the Aviation Town and Country club of Detroit trophy, and will start at 10.45, at 12.50 the Dayton chamber of commerce trophy race will be flown over a 150-mile course and the Dayton Daily News trophy will be contested for at 2.30 p. m. over a 25-mile course.

The John F. Mitchell trophy race and the Pulitzer race, the supreme event of the meeting, will be flown tomorrow.

Pile Sufferers

Can You Answer These Questions?
Do you know why ointments do not give you quick and lasting relief? Why cutting and operations fail? Do you know the cause of piles is internal? That there is a stagnation of blood in the lower bowel? Do you know that there is a harmless internal tablet remedy discovered by Dr. Leonard and known as HEM-ROID, now sold by Greek's drug store and druggists generally, that is guaranteed?

HEM-ROID banishes piles by removing the internal cause, by freeing blood circulation in the lower bowel. This simple home treatment has an almost unbelievable record for safe, safe and lasting relief to thousands of pile sick sufferers, and saves the needless pain and expense of an operation. There is no reason why it should not do the same for you.—Adv.

INTERESTING ADDRESS BY MAN FROM JAPAN

Thoughtful people of Japan, although understanding that the great body of American citizens have sympathy for them, wonder if this is not really the challenge of the white race to the yellow," said Dr. William Axling, missionary of long experience, in an address delivered last evening before the members of First Baptist church.

The missionary has spent 21 years in the Orient, having been in charge of the Baptist Tabernacle in Tokyo, one of the largest Christian religious edifices in Japan. The missionary leader is in a position to present an intimate story of conditions in Japan today, and his discourse to the First Baptist congregation last evening, was deeply interesting from start to finish. The guest from the Orient was introduced by William Trull Sheppard.

Dr. Axling's address included vivid references to the great earthquake that occurred in Japan last year. More than 300,000 people were killed outright and 1,700,000 men, women and children made homeless by the great disaster, the missionary said. He described in interesting detail the campaign conducted by rescuers from every nation, with Americans leading the way with relief workers, and many millions of dollars.

Dr. Axling referred at length to the effect that the exclusion law has upon the Japanese people. He said the thing that has hurt Japan more than the earthquake, is the barring of her people of whatever class or grade of culture from entrance into the United States. The mission worker praised the Japanese people for loyally supporting mission campaigns and conducting welfare campaigns without foreign assistance.

"One of the greatest needs of Japan today," the missionary continued, "is a spiritual need, and the leaders of the nations know it. For years they have been steeped in fatalism. When their homes were destroyed in the last earthquake, the people were convinced that an evil genius was following them. They are beginning to feel that there is no help for them coming in the future.

For this reason—if for none other—there is today a great field for enlarged and successful work in the Japanese mission territories. Even though many Japanese refuse to accept the Christian religion, they approve of the Christian works performed by American missionaries.

In referring to race prejudice matters and the effect of United States exclusion laws upon the Orientals, Dr. Axling said, in part:

"The Japanese feel the sting of racial discrimination all the more keenly since here in the United States, many of the greatest Japanese statesmen have had their college training. One of them said recently that he feared the great spirit of brotherly love that he had found at Harvard university, when he was a student there, has vanished. He was convinced that the American people have grown materialistic. Some Japanese hope that in the years to come, American leaders in public life will rise up and demand that Japan be given the same rights of immigration as her sister nations of equal world standing."

Dr. Axling stated, in conclusion, that the Federal Council of Churches in America, and the nation-wide Japanese-American relations committee, were today carrying on publicity work designed to bring about a review of the Japanese exclusion act in 1927.

Jack Daw's Adventures. Chapter 16

THE OLD HOME TOWN

"If you will just turn around and look, you can see for yourself what it was," replied the guide. And when Jack turned he saw a big rhinoceros. The animal's head was partly out of water and, as it looked back, it too, seemed to be laughing at the frightened adventurer.

Flip spied the animal and leaped into the water. Apparently the dog intended to go out and battle with the rhinoceros because it had scared his master. However, Jack whistled loudly and called the dog back to shore. "That animal's much too big for you," said Jack.

The rhinoceros, in the meantime turned about and slowly came up to where the explorers were standing. Jack made Flip lie down and held Flip in his arms. The big rhinoceros walked right up out of the water and opened his mouth again. It was the biggest mouth Jack had ever seen. (Continued.)

"HEIGH HO, HI HUM LO!" HE SANG

Along came Tweekanose, the Gnome who liked to keep the babies awake. "Heigh ho, hi hum lo!" he sang. "I am so happy! Tum do tum le hi hum ho!"

"What are you so happy about?" asked Twelve Tons the Sorcerer, who was one of his best friends.

"I'm so happy," sang Tweekanose, "because the Sand Man has lost his sleep and you've got part of it, thanks to my smartness and tricky tricks; and, part of it, and the rest is in Squeelick Land. The Sand Man will never get it now."

"Don't be so sure about that," said Twelve Tons. "The Sand Man is a flower pot with a rose planted in it. But the Sand Man came with the Twins and said a charm. 'Tummy Tummy!' just like that. The first thing I knew the sand jumped right out of my flower pot into the Sand Man's sack."

"Toadstools and fuzzy worms!" cried Tweekanose crossly. "And without another word he rushed to the mountain where Tricky Tricks lived."

"Quick!" he cried to that person. "Give me all the magic sand I left for you to keep for me. I'm afraid the Sand Man and the Twins will get it."

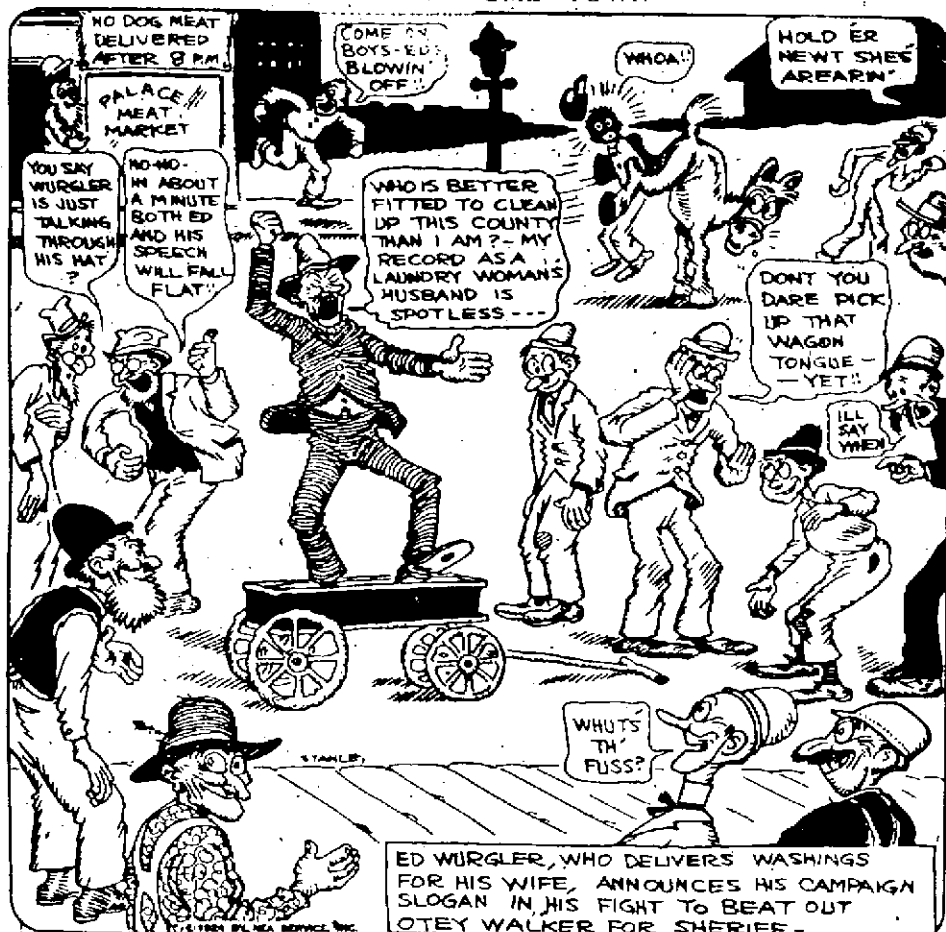

"Too late by three hours, forty minutes and six seconds," said Tricky. "The Sand Man was here and said a charm. I had the magic sand in a box and he said 'Tummy Tummy' just like that and away it went."

"Fleabites and mosquitoes!" cried Tweekanose still more crossly. "And without another word he rushed to Squeelick Land to see what had happened there."

It was just the same. The Squeelick King told how the Sand Man and the Twins had fooled him completely and run off with a whole sackful of sand.

"All my trouble for nothing," said

THE STRAND

For his work in making "America," the super-photograph being shown at The Strand, D. W. Griffith has been made an honorary member of the Minute Men of America, the oldest military organization in the country. When convinced of the faithfulness and approval of the series at the common, when 77 Americans met 500 British regulars, the Minute Men voted unanimously the honorary membership. You will see the battles of Lexington and Concord and the stirring scenes of the American Revolution, as well as a delightful and interesting intermingling with outstanding historical facts in making "America" a truly wonderful picture. Don't miss seeing it. Neil Hamilton, a young boy, is seen in the principal male role. Others of screen note are also engaged in this huge production. ## DAVIS AND SMITH CHEERED BY 13,000 IN MADISON SQ. GARDEN

Candidates Pledge Mutual Support—Davis Assails "Albion" of Republicans—Smith Urges All to Register and Vote—Makes Attack on Coolidge

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—John W. Davis, democratic presidential nominee, and Governor Alfred E. Smith, gubernatorial candidate, speaking last night from the same platform in Madison Square Garden, where more than two months ago they were rivals for their party's nomination, pledged mutual support while 13,000 persons cheered their arrangement of the republican party. Mayor John F. Hylan, who spoke just before the two major candidates, gave his approval to their candidacies and pledged his support to the democratic ticket.

"Albion" was the keynote of the address of Mr. Davis and Governor Smith stressed the importance of universal franchise as a panacea for governmental problems.

First of the "Albion" mentioned by Mr. Davis was that of Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior, when the president's story of a $100,000 gift, Theodore Roosevelt, then assistant secretary of the navy, also had an albion, according to Mr. Davis who said that Colonel Roosevelt's was that he was only a messenger boy.

Then Mr. Davis continued his list of albion, among which he included that of Edward L. Doheny and Attorney-General Daugherty.

Governor Smith told of the achievements in the state during his two years at Albany and compared the record his party made in the state to that made by the republican party in four years.

The Tennot Dame affair and the investigation of the veterans' bureau were mentioned by Governor Smith in a plea to the voters to repudiate the republican administration.

He pictured President Coolidge as impotent in the hands of an insubstantial congress which seized every opportunity to do the opposite of his bidding. Instead of the strong, silent leader the republican press bureau is striving to present to the prospective voter, the president is weak, vacillating and incapable of leading his own party, Governor Smith declared. The audience gave Mr. Davis an enthusiastic greeting but reserved its most vigorous applause for "Al" Smith.

have got to keep fire from starting. I wish to call your attention to a few important rules.
Teachers and the older children of each school should be familiar with the location of the nearest fire alarm box and how to operate it.
Teachers are requested to see that the children in their charge know where the exits are and what to do in case of fire.
Rubbish heaps are fire breeders. Fires start in them and are fed by them.
A lean city will have few fires. Ashes should never be put into wooden boxes or barrels or near fences or wooden partitions.
Burning trash or leaves too near buildings is very dangerous.
The careless use of pipes, cigars and cigarettes causes countless fires.
Smoking in factories, mills, shops, garages and garages should be absolutely forbidden.
A wooden box should never be used for a cupboard.
Electric light bulbs should never be covered with cloth or paper shades or decorations.
Wearable gas jets are dangerous.

YOU SAY WHAT IN THE WORLD IS AN "INVISIBLE"?

Why, something which is, but, which you can't see, of course. Sounds like magic, doesn't it? Well that's just exactly what it is. Your magic wand is a water-moistened brush. You "wave" it lightly over a black-and-white picture, and—presto! out it comes in the prettiest colors.

Interesting—Well, you can imagine! Some are to cut out and arrange in the most fascinating ways. But not only are "invisibles" interesting, but they offer a great opportunity to win a prize—a real prize. There will be prizes for the neatest, most careful and original treatment of these "Invisible" Color Cards.

LEAGUE COUNCIL TO HOLD SPECIAL MEETING ON NOVEMBER 15

To Elaborate Plans for International Conference on Reduction of Armaments Provided for in Protocol on Arbitration and Security

GENEVA, Oct. 2 (by the Associated Press).—The council of the League of Nations decided today to hold a special meeting Nov. 15, probably in Geneva, to elaborate plans for the international conference on reduction of armaments provided for in the protocol on arbitration and security, which it is planned to hold next year.

The council, as it is at present constituted, probably will not meet in November but each of the ten states represented in it will designate representatives qualified to discuss the technical matters involved in the program of the conference.

The opinion seems to be growing here that it will not be possible to carry out the original intention to convene the conference June 15 as the questionnaire concerning the agenda will hardly reach the various governments before the end of the year at about which time the various plenipotentiaries will be considering the protocol itself. A French spokesman expressed the opinion today that the conference could not be convened before the autumn of 1925. Such a delay, it is pointed out, would afford more time for the necessary ratification.

The internal political situation in Great Britain is causing concern among the delegates as they realize that the conference will depend on whether the British parliament ratifies the protocol. The attitude of former Premier Asquith, the liberal leader, towards the British agreement with Soviet Russia is regarded here as likely to force a general election in England and Englishmen here fear that a conservative victory would impair the protocol.

The delegates are also of the opinion that the English in general will want to consider carefully the effects an Anglo-American relations of ratification of the protocol.

Belgium today signed the protocol, thus bringing the total of nations which have signed to 11.

The council decided to hold its regular December session in Rome instead of Geneva in compliance with a request made by Premier Mussolini of Italy.

MISS GABRIELLE PAQUIN

Lowell Girl Speaks on Opportunities in Washington For Stenographers

Short Talk Enjoyed By Commercial Students of Lowell High School

At a special meeting of the commercial students of the Lowell high school held in the Cyrus W. Irish auditorium this morning, Miss Gabrielle Paquin, recently appointed secretary to the American legation in Vienna, Austria, spoke on the opportunities offered in Washington today for the stenographer. She stated that there was a surplus of young ladies applying for clerical positions and advised the students to seek stenographic positions rather than clerical openings.

Miss Paquin told of her work since her graduation from the Lowell high school in 1912, immediately after which she accepted a position with Gardner W. Pearson as a stenographer. Miss Paquin was the second Lowell high school pupil to pass the 150-word shorthand test in 1919 and her ability as a stenographer procured for her many opportunities in the business world. In July, 1923, she took the civil service examination and was appointed to the civil service commission. She later worked with the state department where she was connected at the time of her appointment to Vienna.

The speaker stated that her work, especially while in Washington, was a continual source of education. "Things with which I had never been acquainted presented themselves," she said. "I often sought recourse to the dictionary for words which were foreign to me; but generally speaking, my work was both educational and interesting. There are many good positions to be had in Washington today, but the work of the stenographer is much more in demand than any other line of office and clerical work in general."

ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING

David I. Walsh Club Plans Reception to Senator in Lowell Monday

The David I. Walsh club of Lowell, held an enthusiastic meeting in the New American house last night, and plans were made for the reception of the junior senator in this city next Monday, when he will come here to address several outdoor rallies in the interest of his candidacy for re-election and two indoor meetings, one at C.M.A.C. hall and the other at Liberty hall.

Chairman James E. Markham presided at last night's meeting and reported for the committee which conferred with Senator Walsh relative to his trip here. It was announced that in addition to his local rallies, he will address gatherings at the North Billerica postoffice at 5 p. m., North Chelmsford at 6:30 p. m., and C.M.A.C. hall at 7:30 p. m. The general reception will be held at the hotel in the afternoon between the hours of 2 and 4 and the general public is invited to meet the senator.

Three big Lowell rallies will be held, one at city hall about noon, the hour to be announced later; at the C.M.A.C. club house at 7:30, and at 8:30 p. m. at Liberty hall, and Mr. Walsh will hold

WOMEN'S DEMOCRATIC CITY COMMITTEE

Miss Katherine F. McCarthy, chairman of the women's democratic city committee, has announced that a registration rally will be held in Memorial hall at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Speakers for the occasion will be Mrs. Colin W. MacDonald, state committee vice chairman, and Dr. Helen I. Doherty of Boston. The forty-one members of the committee are working hard to insure a capacity attendance.
